BATTLE FOR JERUSALEM RAGING

American Plan To Save City Is Studied By U.N.

Provides Temporary Trusteeship Setup

LAKE SUCCESS, April 30 (AP) — An urgent United States plan for a temporary trusteeship to save Jerusalem drew some tentative support in the United Nations tonight.

The proposal, now before the Trusteeship Council, provides for a United Nations representative in Jerusalem to call upon members of the United Nations to supply forces if needed to maintain law and order.

The plan was drafted for the Trusteeship Council at a meeting which authoritative sources said was attended by delegates of the United States, Belgium and New Zealand.

United Nations truce attempts for Palestine appeared to have collapsed, meanwhile.

The council decided on a night session to study temporary trusteeship further after Iraq's delegate, Awni Khalidy, reminded the delegates that people were being killed.

Russia Objects To Plan

At the night session, Russia objected to the American proposal. Britain said she would abstain on the grounds that the Arabs would not accept the plan.

The Jewish Agency reserved its position; the Arab Higher Committee said it would oppose the carrying out of the new scheme.

China, France and New Zealand expressed general agreement with the idea in the council; Benjamin O. Gerig, United States deputy, said he did not yet have instructions; and Khalidy flatly opposed it.

Gerig told the delegates earlier today that immediate and positive action must be taken.

He proposed a temporary trusteeship arrangement. From that start, it was said, Gerig and the other delegates drew up the rough plan now before the council.

It calls for a United Nations trusteeship for the whole city of Jerusalem and for appointment of the United Nations representative, who would go to Jerusalem immediately. He would back a cease-fire order, take over from Britain on May 15 the necessary administrative jobs to maintain peace and order and organize a police force. Under certain conditions to be determined by the Assembly, the plan provides, he could call on United Nations members to supply forces.

Report By Monday Expected

The United States has told the United Nations it would contribute its share of armed forces to any United Nations army backing trusteeship in Palestine.

The Trusteeship Council hopes to have a report ready for the full Assembly by Monday.

The Security Council truce commission reported in a telegram from Jerusalem that the general situation in Palestine is deteriorating rapidly.

It said fighting is intensifying steadily and that normal activities are coming to a standstill.

Another telegram, not yet made public, was reported to have said the American-Belgian-French truce commission was unable thus far to bring Jews and Arabs together to talk terms.

The Arab Higher Committee for Palestine blasted hopes here for a truce inside the walled city of Jerusalem.

Its delegate, Jamal Husseini, said the new Jewish offensive in modern Jerusalem had wiped out all hopes for a truce in the walled area.

Engineer Dies In GE Laboratory Explosion

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 30.—(INS)—A chemical explosion killed one man and injured another late today in a General Electric Company laboratory engaged in secret research work for the government.

Lawrence W. Eggers, 24, Des Moines, Ia., a student engineer who had been with GE since January, 1947, died in the blast.

Walter Ruminski, 36, Schenectady, a laboratory assistant, suffered second and third degree burns. His condition is not regarded as serious, however.

The explosion occurred on the sixth and top floor of what is known as building 37 in the GE plant. A spokesman said the laboratory was being used for "classified and restricted governmental work."

Inter-American Pacts Formally Approved, Signed

21 Republics Bound Into Regional Bloc

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 30 (AP)—Delegates of the 21 American republics formally approved and signed today a series of pacts binding them into a solid regional bloc under the United Nations.

The signing ceremony was held in the home of Simon Bolivar, famed South American liberator.

The charter of the Organization of American States giving concrete form to American co-operation that has existed since the Pan American Union was organized in Washington in 1890, was approved unanimously by standing vote.

Soldiers Guard Chamber

The action came at a plenary session in the large Salon Eliptico of the Colombian national capital while a large crowd vigorously applauded. Several hundred steel-helmeted soldiers with fixed bayonets guarded the chamber.

Also approved after a month of work in this ninth Inter-American Conference, once interrupted by the abortive Colombian revolt of April 9, were the pact of Bogota, which pledges the American republics to settle disputes among themselves peacefully; the resolution condemning international Communism and other forms of totalitarianism; a resolution urging the peaceful abolition of foreign colonies in the hemisphere; a declaration on the rights and duties of many, and the resolution that recognition of de facto governments (governments in actual control of their countries though they may be revolutionary) is desirable but not obligatory.

Charter Is Applauded

The charter was hailed by the conference President, Eduardo Zuleta Angel, of Colombia, as marking an "epoc for Pan-Americanism" and as a "truly monumental document."

Under it the American nations create a consultative defense committee to advise on problems of military collaboration. They declare an aggression against one of them is an aggression against all, and that international controversies among American nations should be settled peacefully among themselves. They recognize that international law and international agreements are the basis of reciprocal relations.

Methodist Editor Calls For U. S.-Russian Parley

BOSTON, April 30. (AP)—A leading Methodist editor tonight urged the United States government to "make one more effort" to negotiate with Russia.

Rev. Dr. Roy L. Smith, Chicago, editor of the official Methodist publication, "The Christian Advocate," spoke at the third night session of his church's big general conference here.

Also chairman of the Methodist World Peace Commission, Dr. Smith said "it is not necessary to sacrifice principles in making every possible effort to avoid conflict."

Nation Faces Worst Labor Crisis Since War's-End Strikes

Authority Of FHA Lapses As Senate Debates Housing

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—The Federal Housing Administration's authority to insure home loans lapsed tonight after the Senate bogged down in a bitter struggle over housing legislation, but the power is expected to be revived next week.

The scrap started over how long to continue the FHA's authority. But before the Senate session was over the issue became: The fate of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill designed to spur the construction of 15,000,000 homes in th next 10 years.

This bill already has been passed by the Senate, and now is pending before the House Banking Committee.

One provision of the T-E-W bill would extend the FHA loan insurance through next March. The House has not yet acted on the T-E-W will as a whole, but has passed a separate bill to extend the FHA loan insurance through next march.

Stopgap Bill Taken Up

Today the Senate took up still another bill—a stopgap one to extend the FHA power through May, 1948.

In order to get it on the floor the Senate had to do a little fancy pretending that today was two days instead of one. Senate rules prevented the bill from being debated on this particular day, so the chamber adjourned for half a minute. Then it reconvened, the chaplain offered prayer again, and thus started another "day."

Then up popped Sen. Cain (R-Wash). He offered an amendment to extend the FHA power through next March, instead of just through May of this year.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill) accused Cain of trying to sabotage the T-E-W bill, a measure on which there is much more controversy than the FHA bill.

Lucas' Reasoning

Lucas' reasoning was this: If the proposal to extend FHA power until next March were passed separately, then some legislators might feel it was less urgent to pass the T-E-W measure, which thereupon might be killed in the House Banking Committee or drastically whittled down.

Now Cain is a foe of a section of the T-E-W bill which would authorize 500 government-owned and government-operated public housing units. But he denied he was trying to sabotage the bill. He said there was no point in voting to continue the insurance program only one month when Congress obviously was in favor of a longer extension.

Mediators Say Rail Settlement Possible

[By The Associated Press]

Labor-management differences erupted Friday in the worst crisis since the wave of strikes that swept the country following the war's end.

Strikes or threats of strikes hung over five of the nation's vital industries.

The showdown—expected largely during the month of May—has resulted from a collision of labor's demands for another round of wage boosts against a stiffening wall of management resistance to higher operating costs.

These were the major developments Friday:

1—The CIO United Auto Workers set May 12 for a strike of 75,000 Chrysler Corporation employes.

2—John L. Lewis called on soft coal operators to start negotiations on a new contract May 18. The present contract expires June 30. Lewis and his 400,000 United Mine Workers are under an injunction not to strike for pension payments, but most lawyers say he could call a new strike over a contract.

Rail Picture Seen Improving

3—Federal mediators, seeking to avert a nationwide rail strike set for May 11, reported that it might be staved off. Chairman Frank P. Douglass, of the National (railway) Mediation Board, said after a day-long session with unions and rail leaders that "there is a possibility that we might be able to make some recommendations that are not already included in the emergency board's report which might stave off the strike." More than 190,000 workers are involved in the strike call.

4—The CIO United Electrical Workers Union announced it has completed all legal requirements for a strike of 200,000 of its members against the General Electric and Westinghouse Companies and the electrical division of General Motors.

5—Federal conciliators in Washington who have made no progress toward settling the 47-day-old strike of nearly 100,000 CIO meat handlers, recessed conferences over the weekend. Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said he planned to ask for a congressional inquiry into the strike.

No Steel Strike Imminent

Although United States Steel and several other major steel producers have rejected CIO wage boost demands and announced price cuts, no strike is imminent in the steel industry at this time. Philip Murray, CIO president, said the steel workers will respect a two-year no strike pledge that runs until spring.

Nearly one million workers are involved in the current or forthcoming negotiations in the five industries. However strikes in either the railroad or coal industries could cause mounting unemployment in industries dependent on them.

The number of strike idle reached a modern times peak of 1,600,000 the last week of January, 1946. That figure included 700,000 steel workers, 248,000 meat handlers and 200,000 electrical appliance workers.

States Win House Vote On Tidelands

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—The House stamped approval by 257 to 29 today on a bill to give the individual states sovereignty over their tidelands.

The legislation, by renouncing all federal claims, would give states clear title to certain oil-rich lands. These chiefly lie between the three-mile limit and the low tide mark along the nation's coast.

The states claim these lands; the administration contends the federal government should control those oil reserves in the interest of national defense. The Supreme Court has held that the federal government has "paramount rights" to submerged lands off the coast lines.

Today's House vote, which sent the bill to the Senate was in effect to override the Supreme Court.

Those voting with the majority contended that the big issue was states' rights as opposed to those of the central government.

An old argument of those opposed to the bill was that, with state control of precious oil reserves, it would be easier for private interests to exploit them.

Rifle Blast Plotters Guilty Of Delinquency

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Seven Brooklyn boys, who plotted a rifle blast at a school teacher's home because one was afraid he would flunk a mathematics test, were found guilty of juvenile delinquency today.

An eighth boy, 16-year-old Richard Marchetti, was held in $10,000 bail for a hearing in adolescent court next Wednesday on a charge of malicious mischief.

In Children's Court, Justice James V. Mulholland sent six of the youngsters to the Youth House for detention and paroled one in his parents' custody The justice ordered probation investigations of all and set may 28 for sentencing them.

Lewis' Son Appointed

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—President Truman today nominated John L. Lewis, Jr., for appointment in the regular corps of the Public Health Service as a senior surgeon. He is the son of the United Mine Workers' president.

EX-GI AND BRIDE--William H. F. Miller, 30, former GI, and his half German, half Japanese wife, sit in the United States Army screening center, Ludwigsburg, Germany, after their arrival from Tokyo. Miller, a Stanford University graduate who formerly lived in San Francisco, has renounced his United States citizenship to live in Germany with his wife.

House Group To Vote Monday On Draft Bill

Legion "Fashion Experts" Prove Cautious To Last

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30 (AP) — Seven harassed men who make up the American Legion's Emblem Committee completed today their task of selecting new uniforms for the Legion's 250,000 women members.

Cautious to the last, the unfortunate males charged with the task of choosing feminine uniforms left themselves an out by picking not one, but two, versions of the Legion women's "new look."

The fashion issue will go to the 50-odd men of the National Executive Committee — who dodged the job last year—during a three-day session opening at national headquarters here Monday.

The two choices are a shirtwaist type of dress, advocated by the Greater Cincinnati Women's Post 664, and an "Eisenhower" jacket with a six-gored skirt. Both would be of blue serge.

May Day Rallies, Parades Slated

[By The Associated Press]

May Day demonstrations and parades by left-wing and anti-Communist groups are scheduled today in a number of American cities and in Western Europe.

While rival groups are parading elsewhere, only Communist celebrations will be carried on in countries inside the Soviet sphere. The biggest international workers day demonstration will be in Moscow's Red Square.

In the United States, left-wing groups will sponsor parades in a number of communities, among them New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Los Angeles.

In some localities, parades sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars will compete with left-wing demonstrations. The VFW has designated May 1 as "Loyalty Day" and hopes to marshall large anti-Communist marching contingents.

In some communities, prayers will be offered for Russians and those "behind the iron curtain." The Christophers, an organization composed mostly of lay Catholics, is sponsoring many of the "Pray for Russia" meetings.

Plane Search Continues

ELKINS, W. Va., April 30. (AP)—An intensive search for an Army training plane missing since Tuesday centered tonight in the rugged mountains around this Northeastern West Virginia city

The craft, carrying Col. Richard A. Wagner, Alexandria, Va., and Lt. Edward Jay, Orchard Field, Ill., was en route to Washington, D. C., from Dayton, O.

70-Group Air Force Strikes Minor Snag

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has finished work on a draft bill and will vote Monday, Chairman Andrews (R-NY) said today.

Under the bill all men 18 through 30 would register, and those 19 through 25 would be liable for two years service. Most veterans would be exempt.

The measure contains no mention of universal military training.

It differs in several respects from one being studied by the Senate Armed Services Committee. The Senate measure combines both draft and UMT, and would register men 18 through 25, and draft those 19½ through 25.

Teen-age trainees, under the Senate measure, would be trained in the regular armed forces along with draftees. Under an original administration proposal, an elaborate system of UMT camps would have been set up to train younger men apart from the armed services.

Air Bill Hits Minor Snag

The 70-group Air Force, already approved by the House and by the Senate Appropriations Committee, ran into a minor snag today.

Full Senate action on the $3,233,000,000 bill to start a 70-group Air Force and otherwise strengthen the armed forces didn't get under way as promptly as the Appropriations Committee had hoped.

The committee yesterday by a sweeping 16 to 1 vote approved the funds and rushed the measure to the Senate. They wanted the Senate to take action on it today.

But the Senate's full time today was taken up with the housing bill, and the appropriations measure had to wait.

The delay will set the bill back several days, Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Appropriations Committee, said. He said it will now be impossible to get the 70-group Air Force bill to the Senate before next Wednesday, and maybe not then.

Strong Support For 70 Groups

The administration first favored 55 groups, later revised this to 66 in the face of strong congressional support for the 70 group. Secretary of Air Symington first supported 70, then said he would string along with 66 to keep peace in the armed services.

But under questioning he admitted he still favored 70.

The Senate Appropriations Committee was strong in its support of the larger force. It said in a report: "It is our belief that the initial phase of any future war would be determined by air action, and for the first time the United States can be attacked, without warning, from the air.

"Immediate retaliatory attack through the air is essential to any successful conduct of such a war on our part."

The landslide vote in the House for such a force—343 to 3—and the Senate committee vote yesterday—16 to 1—indicates funds for the larger force will be approved by Congress.

Six-Year-Old Bike Rider Gets Ticket After Hitting Car

DUBUQUE, Ia., April 30 (AP)—Six-year-old Robert Thompkins was given a traffic ticket calling for his appearance in court tomorrow because the bicycle he was riding and an automobile collided at a "stop" intersection.

Police Chief Joseph H. Strub said the boy failed to stop and hit the car. The bicycle was damaged badly but the car was unhurt.

Truman Doesn't Plan To Ask Arms For West Europe

White House Denies Request Considered

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The White House today ruled out any immediate request by President Truman for congressional action authorizing military lend-lease aid to Europe's 16 Marshall Plan countries.

Press Secretary Charles Ross replied "categorically no" when reporters asked whether President Truman would send such a proposal to Congress next week. There had been published reports that Mr. Truman would have a special message on the subject Monday or Tuesday.

Ross declared that Mr. Truman knew nothing about the reports and added: "All he has heard about the message is what he has read in the newspapers. No such action is in contemplation. There will be no message to Congress next week. The President doesn't know anything about it."

Two Lines Of Action Studied

The White House denial served to overshadow for the moment what is going on inside the government on the problem of strengthening Western Europe militarily. Two related lines of action are under consideration, according to well-informed administration officials. Neither of these, however, has yet come up for formal White House consideration or for final decision by the President.

One line of action under study would call for stopgap, preliminary measures by the United States including:

(1) Temporary authorization for Mr. Truman to lend-lease guns, planes and other military equipment to any of the 16 nations in the European recovery program which might require emergency help when Congress is not in session.

(2) A resolution which would put Congress on record as favoring both a strengthened United Nations, free of some present veto restrictions, and the formation of a regional defense system by the nations of Western Europe.

Long-Range Measures Planned

In addition to these short-term measures, administration planners, including State and Defense Department officials and armed forces leaders are working on the long-range problem of more or less permanent military backing for whatever Western European union is finally formed to block the westward expansion of Soviet power.

This long-term undertaking may eventually produce concrete proposals for American membership in a regional defense system, or an American alliance with such a system. It may be proposed at some time in the future that this country furnish at least arms for the defense of Western Europe in accordance with a grand strategic plan.

More Recovery Goods For Europe Approved

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—A new $15,969,000 allotment of recovery goods to Europe was approved today by the Economic Co-operation Administration.

This is the first sizeable shipment of United States-financed goods from outside the United States. It brings to $74,270,000 the total value of foreign aid authorized by the three-week-old agency. Ocean freight will add $5,366,000 to the costs

Western Germany, ECA Chief Paul G. Hoffman announced, will supply $6,455,000 worth of coal and grain seeds to France, Italy, Austria and the Netherlands. This is in addition to American shipments to the same countries.

Jewish Shock Troops Seize Strong Points

Invasion By Arabs Reported Started

JERUSALEM, April 30. (AP)—Jewish shock troops threw a headlock tonight around a string of Arab strong points in a 22-hour battle for Jerusalem.

Fighting in the southern section of the Holy City halted for a time when Arab fighters asked for a truce. Then the struggle was resumed as two heavy explosions rocked the battered Katamon area.

Fifteen Jews and 30 Arabs are known to have been killed thus far.

Just before the brief halt in the struggle, a Jewish Agency spokesman said the British District Commissioner had sent word to the Jews that if the battle was continued "Britain would use all its arms, including air power," against Jewish sections of Jerusalem.

On the Palestine coast other Jewish units moved into Salama, a little more than a mile from Jaffa. The Jews were reported unofficially to have seized also the neighboring town of Yazur on the Jaffa-Jerusalem highway. An iron ring thus has been closed around the Arab port city of Jaffa if Yazur as well as Aalama now is in Jewish hands.

Report Arab Invasion Started

There were reports that the threatened invasion of Palestine by regular army troops of neighboring Arab states was underway. An Arab news agency dispatch received in Damascus said troops of Iraq and Trans-Jordan entered Palestine this afternoon. There was no immediate confirmation. The Syrian army moved southward to springboard positions from which it might launch a drive into Northern Palestine.

Arab commanders rushed reinforcements of irregular volunteers from Jericho, Bethlehem and Hebron to bolster their sagging lines in Jerusalem. Word spread through the streets of the Holy City that this was the showdown.

The Jews seized Shahin Hill and occupied a monastery which formerly was the summer residence of the Greek Orthodox Church patriarch. Police reports said the Arabs had surrounded the 200 Jewish fighters inside the monastery.

One Jewish source said the Jews brought up a "secret weapon," believed to be a heavy rocket gun, when Arabs began encircling the structure. The Arabs had used the building as a headquarters.

The Jews claimed a large number of Arabs have begun evacuating the Katamon quarter.

Truce Talks Break Down

The Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, has struck into the Manshieh quarter of Jaffa itself. Fourteen Irgun warriors were killed battling with the British yesterday before a cease fire was agreed upon. They were buried with military honors today on the last Jewish Passover day.

Talks between the British and Jews for a truce in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area broke down suddenly tonight when the British presented a five-point ultimatum from the Palestine high commissioner, Gen Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, it was learned authoritatively.

The ultimatum, timed to expire at noon tomorrow, demands that Irgun fighters withdraw from the ground they have seized in Jaffa and that all firing cease on a front from Jaffa south to Beit Dejan. Irgun has said it was determined to keep the positions it has gained.

British troops will deploy tomorrow along the border between Arab Jaffa and Tel Aviv, an all-Jewish city.

Jewish troops moved into Salama, key Arab position in the Jaffa perimeter, without firing a shot after maneuvering the Arabs into a position where they had no choice but to withdraw.

RAF Plane Carrying 11 Crashes, Burns In France

LONDON, April 30—(AP)—A Royal Air Force bomber with 11 airmen aboard crashed and burned today near Avignon in Southern France.

The Air Ministry said the plane was returning from a training flight to the Middle East.

Film Stars Escape Injury As Wind Topples Scaffold

NEWARK, N. J., April 30 (AP)—Movie Actor Jimmy Stewart stepped into a real-life role today helping remove 10 persons injured at Newark Airport after a freak wind toppled a scaffold during the filming of a movie.

Stewart, who just had arrived on the set, escaped injury as did Eddie Albert, playing with Stewart in the new movie, "You Got To Stay Happy." Joan Fontaine, feminine star of the picture, was not on the set.

The 15-foot steel tubing scaffolding, with two electricians atop, fell into a group of actors, production workers and spectators.

The injured included stand-ins for Stewart and Albert.

Three of the injured were detained at St. James Hospital. The others were treated and released.

A jeep in which Stewart had been riding was damaged by the toppling scaffolding. Lester Laurence, 28, driver of the jeep, said, "Jimmy's the luckiest guy in the world. A few seconds earlier and he certainly would have got it."

Jimmy said, "Yeah, I'm awfully lucky. It was all in the day's work. I'm darn glad no one was killed."

Bulganin Says Russian Army Must Be Prepared

LONDON, April 30. (AP)—Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, minister of the Russian armed forces, tonight said the Soviet army must be "constantly in military preparedness" because of the "intrigues of international reaction" against the cause of peace.

Bulganin made the declaration in an order of the day to the Russian armed forces on the eve of the giant May Day celebration in Moscow. His message was broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Bulganin said the Soviet people have gained "outstanding successes in the struggle to eliminate the consequences of war, in fulfillment of the postwar five-year plan and considerable improvement has been achieved in the material well-being of the Soviet people.

Crosby Plays Lead Role As Apple Festival Ends

WINCHESTER, Va., April 30 (AP)—With a perfect break from the weather and a big boost from Bing Crosby, Winchester wound up its 21st and biggest Apple Blossom Festival today.

The radio and screen star, in a typical Crosby sports costume that could hardly be called reserved, served as grand marshal in the feature parade finale.

Munching and then waving a giant-sized lollipop he begged from a sidewalk vendor, Bing rode in an open car at the head of a parade that was somewhat colossal. It took two and a half hours to pass in review.

The casual, informal Crosby made a good contrasting buildup for the flowered float that followed directly behind his car. On this float, her blonde beauty framed by a giant pink apple blossom, rode Queen Shenandoah XXI, Gretchen Van Zandt Merrill, the 22-year-old national woman's figure skating champion from Boston.

The parade, however, was much more than Bing and the Queen.

In the procession were 30 ornate floats, 40 bands, 20 drum and bugle corps, and drill and marching units from American Legion posts and other patriotic organizations from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The Navy gave the parade a sendoff with ruffles and flourishes from the roaring engines of 20 or more planes from the Anacostia Naval Air Station.

BATTLE FOR JERUSALEM RAGING

American Plan To Save City Is Studied By U.N.

Provides Temporary Trusteeship Setup

LAKE SUCCESS, April 30 (AP) — An urgent United States plan for a temporary trusteeship to save Jerusalem drew some tentative support in the United Nations tonight.

The proposal, now before the Trusteeship Council, provides for a United Nations representative in Jerusalem to call upon members of the United Nations to supply forces if needed to maintain law and order.

The plan was drafted for the Trusteeship Council at a meeting which authoritative sources said was attended by delegates of the United States, Belgium and New Zealand.

United Nations truce attempts for Palestine appeared to have collapsed, meanwhile.

The council decided on a night session to study temporary trusteeship further after Iraq's delegate, Awni Khalidy, reminded the delegates that people were being killed.

Russia Objects To Plan

At the night session, Russia objected to the American proposal. Britain said she would abstain on the grounds that the Arabs would not accept the plan.

The Jewish Agency reserved its position; the Arab Higher Committee said it would oppose the carrying out of the new scheme.

China, France and New Zealand expressed general agreement with the idea in the council; Benjamin O. Gerig, United States deputy, said he did not yet have instructions; and Khalidy flatly opposed it.

Gerig told the delegates earlier today that immediate and positive action must be taken.

He proposed a temporary trusteeship arrangement. From that start, it was said, Gerig and the other delegates drew up the rough plan now before the council.

It calls for a United Nations trusteeship for the whole city of Jerusalem and for appointment of the United Nations representative, who would go to Jerusalem immediately. He would back a cease-fire order, take over from Britain on May 15 the necessary administrative jobs to maintain peace and order and organize a police force. Under certain conditions to be determined by the Assembly, the plan provides, he could call on United Nations members to supply forces.

Report By Monday Expected

The United States has told the United Nations it would contribute its share of armed forces to any United Nations army backing trusteeship in Palestine.

The Trusteeship Council hopes to have a report ready for the full Assembly by Monday.

The Security Council truce commission reported in a telegram from Jerusalem that the general situation in Palestine is deteriorating rapidly.

It said fighting is intensifying steadily and that normal activities are coming to a standstill.

Another telegram, not yet made public, was reported to have said the American-Belgian-French truce commission was unable thus far to bring Jews and Arabs together to talk terms.

The Arab Higher Committee for Palestine blasted hopes here for a truce inside the walled city of Jerusalem.

Its delegate, Jamal Husseini, said the new Jewish offensive in modern Jerusalem had wiped out all hopes for a truce in the walled area.

Inter-American Pacts Formally Approved, Signed

21 Republics Bound Into Regional Bloc

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 30 (AP) —Delegates of the 21 American republics formally approved and signed today a series of pacts binding them into a solid regional bloc under the United Nations.

The signing ceremony was held in the home of Simon Bolivar, famed South American liberator.

The charter of the Organization of American States giving concrete form to American co-operation that has existed since the Pan American Union was organized in Washington in 1890, was approved unanimously by standing vote.

Soldiers Guard Chamber

The action came at a plenary session in the large Salon Eliptico of the Colombian national capital while a large crowd vigorously applauded. Several hundred steel-helmeted soldiers with fixed bayonets guarded the chamber.

Also approved after a month of work in this ninth Inter-American Conference, once interrupted by the abortive Colombian revolt of April 9, were the pact of Bogota, which pledges the American republics to settle disputes among themselves peacefully; the resolution condemning international Communism and other forms of totalitarianism; a resolution urging the peaceful abolition of foreign colonies in the hemisphere; a declaration on the rights and duties of many, and the resolution that recognition of de facto governments (governments in actual control of their countries though they may be revolutionary) is desirable but not obligatory.

Charter Is Applauded

The charter was hailed by the conference President, Eduardo Zuleta Angel, of Colombia, as marking an "epoc for Pan-Americanism" and as a "truly monumental document."

Under it the American nations create a consultative defense committee to advise on problems of military collaboration. They declare an aggression against one of them is an aggression against all, and that international controversies among American nations should be settled peacefully among themselves. They recognize that international law and international agreements are the basis of reciprocal relations.

Engineer Dies In GE Laboratory Explosion

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 30. —(INS)—A chemical explosion killed one man and injured another late today in a General Electric Company laboratory engaged in secret research work for the government.

Lawrence W. Eggers, 24, Des Moines, Ia., a student engineer who had been with GE since January, 1947, died in the blast.

Walter Ruminski, 36, Schenectady, a laboratory assistant, suffered second and third degree burns. His condition is not regarded as serious, however.

The explosion occurred on the sixth and top floor of what is known as building 37 in the GE plant. A spokesman said the laboratory was being used for "classified and restricted governmental work."

Methodist Editor Calls For U. S.-Russian Parley

BOSTON, April 30. (AP)—A leading Methodist editor tonight urged the United States government to "make one more effort" to negotiate with Russia.

Rev. Dr. Roy L. Smith, Chicago, editor of the official Methodist publication, "The Christian Advocate," spoke at the third night session of his church's big general conference here.

Also chairman of the Methodist World Peace Commission, Dr. Smith said "it is not necessary to sacrifice principles in making every possible effort to avoid conflict."

Film Stars Escape Injury As Wind Topples Scaffold

NEWARK, N. J., April 30 (AP)—Movie Actor Jimmy Stewart stepped into a real-life role today helping remove 10 persons injured at Newark Airport after a freak wind toppled a scaffold during the filming of a movie.

Stewart, who just had arrived on the set, escaped injury as did Eddie Albert, playing with Stewart in the new movie, "You Got To Stay Happy." Joan Fontaine, feminine star of the picture, was not on the set.

The 15-foot steel tubing scaffolding, with two electricians atop, fell into a group of actors, production workers and spectators.

The injured included stand-ins for Stewart and Albert.

Three of the injured were detained at St. James Hospital. The others were treated and released.

A jeep in which Stewart had been riding was damaged by the toppling scaffolding. Lester Laurence, 28, driver of the jeep, said, "Jimmy's the luckiest guy in the world. A few seconds earlier and he certainly would have got it."

Jimmy said, "Yeah, I'm awfully lucky. It was all in the day's work. I'm darn glad no one was killed."

Nation Faces Worst Labor Crisis Since War's-End Strikes

Authority Of FHA Lapses As Senate Debates Housing

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—The Federal Housing Administration's authority to insure home loans lapsed tonight after the Senate bogged down in a bitter struggle over housing legislation, but the power is expected to be revived next week.

The scrap started over how long to continue the FHA's authority. But before the Senate session was over the issue became: The fate of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill designed to spur the construction of 15,000,000 homes in th next 10 years.

This bill already has been passed by the Senate, and now is pending before the House Banking Committee.

One provision of the T-E-W bill would extend the FHA loan insurance through next March. The House has not yet acted on the T-E-W will as a whole, but has passed a separate bill to extend the FHA loan insurance through next march.

Stopgap Bill Taken Up

Today the Senate took up still another bill—a stopgap one to extend the FHA power through May, 1948.

In order to get it on the floor the Senate had to do a little fancy pretending that today was two days instead of one. Senate rules prevented the bill from being debated on this particular day, so the chamber adjourned for half a minute. Then it reconvened, the chaplain offered prayer again, and thus started another "day."

Then up popped Sen. Cain (R-Wash). He offered an amendment to extend the FHA power through next March, instead of just through May of this year.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill) accused Cain of trying to sabotage the T-E-W bill, a measure on which there is much more controversy than the FHA bill.

Lucas' Reasoning

Lucas' reasoning was this: If the proposal to extend FHA power until next March were passed separately, then some legislators might feel it was less urgent to pass the T-E-W measure, which thereupon might be killed in the House Banking Committee or drastically whittled down.

Now Cain is a foe of a section of the T-E-W bill which would authorize 500 government-owned and government-operated public housing units. But he denied he was trying to sabotage the bill. He said there was no point in voting to continue the insurance program only one month when Congress obviously was in favor of a longer extension.

Mediators Say Rail Settlement Possible

[By The Associated Press]

Labor-management differences erupted Friday in the worst crisis since the wave of strikes that swept the country following the war's end.

Strikes or threats of strikes hung over five of the nation's vital industries.

The showdown—expected largely during the month of May—has resulted from a collision of labor's demands for another round of wage boosts against a stiffening wall of management resistance to higher operating costs.

These were the major developments Friday:

1—The CIO United Auto Workers set May 12 for a strike of 75,000 Chrysler Corporation employes.

2—John L. Lewis called on soft coal operators to start negotiations on a new contract May 18. The present contract expires June 30. Lewis and his 400,000 United Mine Workers are under an injunction not to strike for pension payments, but most lawyers say he could call a new strike over a contract.

Rail Picture Seen Improving

3—Federal mediators, seeking to avert a nationwide rail strike set for May 11, reported that it might be staved off. Chairman Frank P. Douglass, of the National (railway) Mediation Board, said after a day-long session with unions and rail leaders that "there is a possibility that we might be able to make some recommendations that are not already included in the emergency board's report which might stave off the strike." More than 190,000 workers are involved in the strike call.

4—The CIO United Electrical Workers Union announced it has completed all legal requirements for a strike of 200,000 of its members against the General Electric and Westinghouse Companies and the electrical division of General Motors.

5—Federal conciliators in Washington who have made no progress toward settling the 47-day-old strike of nearly 100,000 CIO meat handlers, recessed conferences over the weekend. Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said he planned to ask for a congressional inquiry into the strike.

No Steel Strike Imminent

Although United States Steel and several other major steel producers have rejected CIO wage boost demands and announced price cuts, no strike is imminent in the steel industry at this time. Philip Murray, CIO president, said the steel workers will respect a two-year no strike pledge that runs until spring.

Nearly one million workers are involved in the current or forthcoming negotiations in the five industries. However strikes in either the railroad or coal industries could cause mounting unemployment in industries dependent on them.

The number of strike idle reached a modern times peak of 1,600,000 the last week of January, 1946. That figure included 700,000 steel workers, 248,000 meat handlers and 200,000 electrical appliance workers.

States Win House Vote On Tidelands

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—The House stamped approval by 257 to 29 today on a bill to give the individual states sovereignty over their tidelands.

The legislation, by renouncing all federal claims, would give states clear title to certain oil-rich lands. These chiefly lie between the three-mile limit and the low tide mark along the nation's coast.

The states claim these lands; the administration contends the federal government should control those oil reserves in the interest of national defense. The Supreme Court has held that the federal government has "paramount rights" to submerged lands off the coast lines.

Today's House vote, which sent the bill to the Senate was in effect to override the Supreme Court.

Those voting with the majority contended that the big issue was states' rights as opposed to those of the central government.

An old argument of those opposed to the bill was that, with state control of precious oil reserves, it would be easier for private interests to exploit them.

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Seven Brooklyn boys, who plotted a rifle blast at a school teacher's home because one was afraid he would flunk a mathematics test, were found guilty of juvenile delinquency today.

An eighth boy, 16-year-old Richard Marchetti, was held in $10,000 bail for a hearing in adolescent court next Wednesday on a charge of malicious mischief.

In Children's Court, Justice James V. Mulholland sent six of the youngsters to the Youth House for detention and paroled one in his parents' custody The justice ordered probation investigations of all and set may 28 for sentencing them.

Lewis' Son Appointed

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—President Truman today nominated John L. Lewis, Jr., for appointment in the regular corps of the Public Health Service as a senior surgeon. He is the son of the United Mine Workers' president.

House Group To Vote Monday On Draft Bill

Legion "Fashion Experts" Prove Cautious To Last

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30 (AP) — Seven harassed men who make up the American Legion's Emblem Committee completed today their task of selecting new uniforms for the Legion's 250,000 women members.

Cautious to the last, the unfortunate males charged with the task of choosing feminine uniforms left themselves an out by picking not one, but two, versions of the Legion women's "new look."

The fashion issue will go to the 50-odd men of the National Executive Committee — who dodged the job last year—during a three-day session opening at national headquarters here Monday.

The two choices are a shirt-waist type of dress, advocated by the Greater Cincinnati Women's Post 664, and an "Eisenhower" jacket with a six-gored skirt. Both would be of blue serge.

May Day Rallies, Parades Slated

[By The Associated Press]

May Day demonstrations and parades by left-wing and anti-Communist groups are scheduled today in a number of American cities and in Western Europe.

While rival groups are parading elsewhere, only Communist celebrations will be carried on in countries inside the Soviet sphere. The biggest international workers day demonstration will be in Moscow's Red Square.

In the United States, left-wing groups will sponsor parades in a number of communities, among them New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Los Angeles.

In some localities, parades sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars will compete with left-wing demonstrations. The VFW has designated May 1 as "Loyalty Day" and hopes to marshall large anti-Communist marching contingents.

In some communities, prayers will be offered for Russians and those "behind the iron curtain." The Christophers, an organization composed mostly of lay Catholics, is sponsoring many of the "Pray for Russia" meetings.

Plane Search Continues

ELKINS, W. Va., April 30. (AP)—An intensive search for an Army training plane missing since Tuesday centered tonight in the rugged mountains around this Northeastern West Virginia city

The craft, carrying Col. Richard A. Wagner, Alexandria, Va., and Lt. Edward Jay, Orchard Field, Ill., was en route to Washington, D. C., from Dayton, O.

70-Group Air Force Strikes Minor Snag

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has finished work on a draft bill and will vote Monday, Chairman Andrews (R-NY) said today.

Under the bill all men 18 through 30 would register, and those 19 through 25 would be liable for two years service. Most veterans would be exempt.

The measure contains no mention of universal military training.

It differs in several respects from one being studied by the Senate Armed Services Committee. The Senate measure combines both draft and UMT, and would register men 18 through 25, and draft those 19½ through 25.

Teen-age trainees, under the Senate measure, would be trained in the regular armed forces along with draftees. Under an original administration proposal, an elaborate system of UMT camps would have been set up to train younger men apart from the armed services.

Air Bill Hits Minor Snag

The 70-group Air Force, already approved by the House and by the Senate Appropriations Committee, ran into a minor snag today.

Full Senate action on the $3,233,000,000 bill to start a 70-group Air Force and otherwise strengthen the armed forces didn't get under way as promptly as the Appropriations Committee had hoped.

The committee yesterday by a sweeping 16 to 1 vote approved the funds and rushed the measure to the Senate. They wanted the Senate to take action on it today.

But the Senate's full time today was taken up with the housing bill, and the appropriations measure had to wait.

The delay will set the bill back several days, Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Appropriations Committee, said. He said it will now be impossible to get the 70-group Air Force bill to the Senate before next Wednesday, and maybe not then.

Strong Support For 70 Groups

The administration first favored 55 groups, later revised this to 66 in the face of strong congressional support for the 70 group. Secretary of Air Symington first supported 70, then said he would string along with 66 to keep peace in the armed services.

But under questioning he admitted he still favored 70.

The Senate Appropriations Committee was strong in its support of the larger force. It said in a report: "It is our belief that the initial phase of any future war would be determined by air action, and for the first time the United States can be attacked, without warning, from the air.

"Immediate retaliatory attack through the air is essential to any successful conduct of such a war on our part."

The landslide vote in the House for such a force—343 to 3—and the Senate committee vote yesterday—16 to 1—indicates funds for the larger force will be approved by Congress.

Bulganin Says Russian Army Must Be Prepared

LONDON, April 30. (AP)—Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, minister of the Russian armed forces, tonight said the Soviet army must be "constantly in military preparedness" because of the "intrigues of international reaction" against the cause of peace.

Bulganin made the declaration in an order of the day to the Russian armed forces on the eve of the giant May Day celebration in Moscow. His message was broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Bulganin said the Soviet people have gained "outstanding successes in the struggle to eliminate the consequences of war, in fulfillment of the postwar five-year plan and considerable improvement has been achieved in the material well-being of the Soviet people.

Six-Year-Old Bike Rider Gets Ticket After Hitting Car

DUBUQUE, Ia., April 30 (AP)—Six-year-old Robert Thompkins was given a traffic ticket calling for his appearance in court tomorrow because the bicycle he was riding and an automobile collided at a "stop" intersection.

Police Chief Joseph H. Strub said the boy failed to stop and hit the car. The bicycle was damaged badly but the car was unhurt.

Truman Doesn't Plan To Ask Arms For West Europe

White House Denies Request Considered

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The White House today ruled out any immediate request by President Truman for congressional action authorizing military lend-lease aid to Europe's 16 Marshall Plan countries.

Press Secretary Charles Ross replied "categorically no" when reporters asked whether President Truman would send such a proposal to Congress next week. There had been published reports that Mr. Truman would have a special message on the subject Monday or Tuesday.

Ross declared that Mr. Truman knew nothing about the reports and added: "All he has heard about the message is what he has read in the newspapers. No such action is in contemplation. There will be no message to Congress next week. The President doesn't know anything about it."

Two Lines Of Action Studied

The White House denial served to overshadow for the moment what is going on inside the government on the problem of strengthening Western Europe militarily. Two related lines of action are under consideration, according to well-informed administration officials. Neither of these, however, has yet come up for formal White House consideration or for final decision by the President.

One line of action under study would call for stopgap, preliminary measures by the United States including:

(1) Temporary authorization for Mr. Truman to lend-lease guns, planes and other military equipment to any of the 16 nations in the European recovery program which might require emergency help when Congress is not in session.

(2) A resolution which would put Congress on record as favoring both a strengthened United Nations, free of some present veto restrictions, and the formation of a regional defense system by the nations of Western Europe.

Long-Range Measures Planned

In addition to these short-term measures, administration planners, including State and Defense Department officials and armed forces leaders are working on the long-range problem of more or less permanent military backing for whatever Western European union is finally formed to block the westward expansion of Soviet power.

This long-term undertaking may eventually produce concrete proposals for American membership in a regional defense system, or an American alliance with such a system. It may be proposed at some time in the future that this country furnish at least arms for the defense of Western Europe in accordance with a grand strategic plan.

More Recovery Goods For Europe Approved

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—A new $15,969,000 allotment of recovery goods to Europe was approved today by the Economic Co-operation Administration.

This is the first sizeable shipment of United States-financed goods from outside the United States. It brings to $74,270,000 the total value of foreign aid authorized by the three-week-old agency. Ocean freight will add $5,366,000 to the costs

Western Germany, ECA Chief Paul G. Hoffman announced will supply $6,455,000 worth of coal and grain seeds to France, Italy, Austria and the Netherlands. This is in addition to American shipments to the same countries.

Jewish Shock Troops Seize Strong Points

Invasion By Arabs Reported Started

JERUSALEM, April 30. (AP)—Jewish shock troops threw a headlock tonight around a string of Arab strong points in a 22-hour battle for Jerusalem.

Fighting in the southern section of the Holy City halted for a time when Arab fighters asked for a truce. Then the struggle was resumed as two heavy explosions rocked the battered Katamon area.

Fifteen Jews and 30 Arabs are known to have been killed thus far.

Just before the brief halt in the struggle, a Jewish Agency spokesman said the British District Commissioner had sent word to the Jews that if the battle was continued "Britain would use all its arms, including air power," against Jewish sections of Jerusalem.

On the Palestine coast other Jewish units moved into Salama, a little more than a mile from Jaffa. The Jews were reported unofficially to have seized also the neighboring town of Yazur on the Jaffa-Jerusalem highway. An iron ring thus has been closed around the Arab port city of Jaffa if Yazur as well as Aalama now is in Jewish hands.

Report Arab Invasion Started

There were reports that the threatened invasion of Palestine by regular army troops of neighboring Arab states was underway. An Arab news agency dispatch received in Damascus said troops of Iraq and Trans-Jordan entered Palestine this afternoon. There was no immediate confirmation. The Syrian army moved southward to springboard positions from which it might launch a drive into Northern Palestine.

Arab commanders rushed reinforcements of irregular volunteers from Jericho, Bethlehem and Hebron to bolster their sagging lines in Jerusalem. Word spread through the streets of the Holy City that this was the showdown.

The Jews seized Shahin Hill and occupied a monastery which formerly was the summer residence of the Greek Orthodox Church patriarch. Police reports said the Arabs had surrounded the 200 Jewish fighters inside the monastery.

One Jewish source said the Jews brought up a "secret weapon," believed to be a heavy rocket gun, when Arabs began encircling the structure. The Arabs had used the building as a headquarters.

The Jews claimed a large number of Arabs have begun evacuating the Katamon quarter.

Truce Talks Break Down

The Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, has struck into the Manshieh quarter of Jaffa itself. Fourteen Irgun warriors were killed battling with the British yesterday before a cease fire was agreed upon. They were buried with military honors today on the last Jewish Passover day.

Talks between the British and Jews for a truce in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area broke down suddenly tonight when the British presented a five-point ultimatum from the Palestine high commissioner, Gen Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, it was learned authoritatively.

The ultimatum, timed to expire at noon tomorrow, demands that Irgun fighters withdraw from the ground they have seized in Jaffa and that all firing cease on a front from Jaffa south to Beit Dejan. Irgun has said it was determined to keep the positions it has gained.

British troops will deploy tomorrow along the border between Arab Jaffa and Tel Aviv, an all-Jewish city.

Jewish troops moved into Salama, key Arab position in the Jaffa perimeter, without firing a shot after maneuvering the Arabs into a position where they had no choice but to withdraw.

RAF Plane Carrying 11 Crashes, Burns In France

LONDON, April 30—(AP)—A Royal Air Force bomber with 11 airmen aboard crashed and burned today near Avignon in Southern France.

The Air Ministry said the plane was returning from a training flight to the Middle East.

Crosby Plays Lead Role As Apple Festival Ends

WINCHESTER, Va., April 30 (AP)—With a perfect break from the weather and a big boost from Bing Crosby, Winchester wound up its 21st and biggest Apple Blossom Festival today.

The radio and screen star, in a typical Crosby sports costume that could hardly be called reserved, served as grand marshal in the feature parade finale.

Munching and then waving a giant-sized lollipop he begged from a sidewalk vendor, Bing rode in an open car at the head of a parade that was somewhat colossal. It took two and a half hours to pass in review.

The casual, informal Crosby made a good contrasting buildup for the flowered float that followed directly behind his car. On this float, her blonde beauty framed by a giant pink apple blossom, rode Queen Shenandoah XXI, Gretchen Van Zandt Merrill, the 22-year-old national woman's figure skating champion from Boston.

The parade, however, was much more than Bing and the Queen.

In the procession were 30 ornate floats, 40 bands, 20 drum and bugle corps, and drill and marching units from American Legion posts and other patriotic organizations from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The Navy gave the parade a sendoff with ruffles and flourishes from the roaring engines of 20 or more planes from the Anacostia Naval Air Station.

Per Capita Tax Is Boosted By Textile Workers

The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in one of the closing sessions of its fifth biennial convention in Atlantic City voted to increase the national per capita tax from 75 cents to $1 and to boost salaries of its top officers.

In 1946 the national per capita was raised from 50 to 75 cents and at the same time the dues rate for Local 1874 members was hiked from $1 to $1.50. Under the $1.50 rate the local and national share in equal proportions.

It will be up to local members to decide if they want to go above $1.50, but if they do not so act the local will lose 25 cents in monthly revenue from each member.

Emil Rieve, president of the TWUA said today his union is one wage increase ahead of other CIO unions.

Level Not High Enough

"In the north, the Textile Workers have already received their 'third round' wage increases," Rieve told a reporter. "Now, we're waiting for the rest of the CIO to catch up with us."

Asked if the union could meet the present cost of living on current wages, Rieve said, "we have a long way to go before we bring our members up to a wage level we'd like to see."

The Textile Workers made it plain yesterday they are opposed to Communism and the third party.

The convention upheld a decision by the union's executive council, barring Human Gurinsky and Louis Bart from holding office in the union.

The convention approved a resolution opposing Henry A. Wallace's third party candidacy.

Jack Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action Committee, told the convention the CIO still is looking for a presidential candidate. Later he told newsmen the CIO would endorse no candidate until July, after the Republicans and Democrats select their nominees at conventions in Philadelphia.

The CIO's political action committee will concentrate its efforts to have a liberal congress in power next year, Kroll said.

The union was scheduled to reelect Rieve as president for the next two years in the election today.

Also listed for reelection were George Baldanzi, executive vice president; and William Pollock secretary-treasurer. All three are unopposed candidates.

Salaries Are Raised

A resolution raising President Rieve's salary from $10,000 to $16,000 a year has been approved.

The same resolution increased Baldanzi's pay from $9,000 to $13,500 and Pollock's from $8,000 to $12,500.

CIO President Philip Murray told the convention he is opposed to the third party. Rieve told the delegates Wallace is "a tool of the Communists."

The Local 1874, TWUA, delegation is slated to leave Atlantic City late this morning and arrive here tonight.

Stassen Urges Joint Military Bases; Dewey Oregon-Bound; Taft In Akron

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said tonight the United States should set up joint military bases and work out joint plans of defense with other countries in the United Nations—especially the five Western European nations bound by the Brussels pact.

The Republican presidential candidate told a meeting of party workers here "a method for prompt consultation and immediate counter action in emergencies should be spelled. No veto should be permitted and neither should the action or decision of one bind or control the others."

Such a program, he declared, could be worked out within the United Nations Charter.

Stassen did not mention Russia, but said the United States should specifically invite England, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Dewey Leaves For Oregon

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight left by plane for Portland, Ore., to join battle with Harold E. Stassen in the state's Republican presidential primary.

He was scheduled to arrive there tomorrow morning to open his drive for the state's 12 delegate votes.

The New York Governor told newsmen before his departure he would probably spend 10 days in Oregon "doing some good old fashioned campaigning and having a swell time."

AKRON, O., April 30 (AP)—Still outwardly confident of beating out Harold E. Stassen in the GCP presidential nomination contest, Sen. Robert A. Taft dashed half way across Ohio today to Akron, the nation's rubber city.

Taft's entourage left Toledo this morning, stopped at Elyria, then moved to Oberlin for another Taft address to Oberlin College students and finally was to hit Akron late this afternoon.

Outside the First Congregational Church at Elyria, two representatives of the CIO-Political Action Committee quietly passed out pamphlets generally criticizing his Taft-Hartley labor bill.

Gov. Lane Favors State Police Barracks Study

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30 (AP)—Gov. Lane said today he feels the state police system of having most of its men live in barracks "puts up a barrier to the inclusion of married men on the force."

He added he would like to have a study made of the whole situation.

The Governor first broached the subject some time ago, at graduation ceremonies for a group of rookie troopers He said then that elimination of the barracks system was under consideration

But today Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of the state police, said the Governor has not discussed the matter with him.

He added that "I am sure he (the Governor) will not make such a change without first personally discussing with me the administrative and operational difficulties such a change will present."

Funeral Ship Sails

CASABLANCA, Aprl 30—(AP)—The American ship Barney Kirschbaum left for the United States today with 2,500 American war dead. They are from the cemeteries at Naples, Tunis, Algiers, Oran and Casablanca.

20 Per Cent Vote Predicted In Md.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30 (AP) — Political observers in the state capital today predicted a light turnout of not more than 20 per cent of the voters at congressional primaries on Monday. Some 170,000 Marylanders were expected to go to the polls, at the most.

Although no official figures were available on the total number of registered voters in Maryland, the figure was roughly estimated to be about 850,000, or a gain over the total of 829,240 who were registered in 1946.

Of Maryland's six congressmen seeking re-election, the four Democrats face primary fights. Republican Reps. Edward T. Miller of the First District on the Eastern Shore and J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth in Western Maryland are unopposed for renomination.

Incumbent Democrats Hugh A. Meade in the Second District, Edward A. Garmatz in the third, George H. Fallon in the Fourth and Lansdale G. Sasscer in the Fifth are running in the Monday primaries.

About 35 per cent of those registered voted in the 1946 gubernatorial primaries, a total of 319,231.

Per Capita Tax Is Boosted By Textile Workers

The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in one of the closing sessions of its fifth biennial convention in Atlantic City voted to increase the national per capita tax from 75 cents to $1 and to boost salaries of its top officers.

In 1946 the national per capita was raised from 50 to 75 cents and at the same time the dues rate for Local 1874 members was hiked from $1 to $1.50. Under the $1.50 rate the local and national share in equal proportions.

It will be up to local members to decide if they want to go above $1.50, but if they do not so act the local will lose 25 cents in monthly revenue from each member.

Emil Rieve, president of the TWUA said today his union is one wage increase ahead of other CIO unions.

Level Not High Enough

"In the north, the Textile Workers have already received their 'third round' wage increases," Rieve told a reporter. "Now, we're waiting for the rest of the CIO to catch up with us."

Asked if the union could meet the present cost of living on current wages, Rieve said, "we have a long way to go before we bring our members up to a wage level we'd like to see."

The Textile Workers made it plain yesterday they are opposed to Communism and the third party.

The convention upheld a decision by the union's executive council, barring Human Gurinsky and Louis Bart from holding office in the union.

The convention approved a resolution opposing Henry A. Wallace's third party candidacy.

Jack Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action Committee, told the convention the CIO still is looking for a presidential candidate. Later he told newsmen the CIO would endorse no candidate until July, after the Republicans and Democrats select their nominees at conventions in Philadelphia.

The CIO's political action committee will concentrate its efforts to have a liberal congress in power next year, Kroll said.

The union was scheduled to reelect Rieve as president for the next two years in the election today.

Also listed for reelection were George Baldanzi, executive vice president; and William Pollock secretary-treasurer. All three are unopposed candidates.

Salaries Are Raised

A resolution raising President Rieve's salary from $10,000 to $16,000 a year has been approved.

The same resolution increased Baldanzi's pay from $9,000 to $13,500 and Pollock's from $8,000 to $12,500.

CIO President Philip Murray told the convention he is opposed to the third party. Rieve told the delegates Wallace is "a tool of the Communists."

The Local 1874, TWUA, delegation is slated to leave Atlantic City late this morning and arrive here tonight.

Stassen Urges Joint Military Bases; Dewey Oregon-Bound; Taft In Akron

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said tonight the United States should set up joint military bases and work out joint plans of defense with other countries in the United Nations—especially the five Western European nations bound by the Brussels pact.

The Republican presidential candidate told a meeting of party workers here "a method for prompt consultation and immediate counter action in emergencies should be spelled. No veto should be permitted and neither should the action or decision of one bind or control the others."

Such a program, he declared, could be worked out within the United Nations Charter.

Stassen did not mention Russia, but said the United States should specifically invite England, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Dewey Leaves For Oregon

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight left by plane for Portland, Ore., to join battle with Harold E. Stassen in the state's Republican presidential primary.

He was scheduled to arrive there tomorrow morning to open his drive for the state's 12 delegate votes.

The New York Governor told newsmen before his departure he would probably spend 10 days in Oregon "doing some good old fashioned campaigning and having a swell time."

AKRON, O., April 30 (AP)—Still outwardly confident of beating out Harold E. Stassen in the GOP presidential nomination contest, Sen. Robert A. Taft dashed half way across Ohio today to Akron, the nation's rubber city.

Taft's entourage left Toledo this morning, stopped at Elyria, then moved to Oberlin for another Taft address to Oberlin College students and finally was to hit Akron late this afternoon.

Outside the First Congregational Church at Elyria, two representatives of the CIO-Political Action Committee quietly passed out pamphlets generally criticizing his Taft-Hartley labor bill.

Gov. Lane Favors State Police Barracks Study

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30 (AP)—Gov. Lane said today he feels the state police system of having most of its men live in barracks "puts up a barrier to the inclusion of married men on the force."

He added he would like to have a study made of the whole situation.

The Governor first broached the subject some time ago, at graduation ceremonies for a group of rookie troopers He said then that elimination of the barracks system was under consideration

But today Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of the state police, said the Governor has not discussed the matter with him.

He added that "I am sure he (the Governor) will not make such a change without first personally discussing with me the administrative and operational difficulties such a change will present."

Funeral Ship Sails

CASABLANCA, Apr1 30—(AP)—The American ship Barney Kirschbaum left for the United States today with 2,500 American war dead. They are from the cemeteries at Naples, Tunis, Algiers, Oran and Casablanca.

BOLOGNA, Italy, April 30—(AP)—At least 15 workmen were killed today when a bridge they were repairing collapsed, the news agency Ansa reported.

20 Per Cent Vote Predicted In Md.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30 (AP) — Political observers in the state capital today predicted a light turnout of not more than 20 per cent of the voters at congressional primaries on Monday. Some 170,000 Marylanders were expected to go to the polls, at the most.

Although no official figures were available on the total number of registered voters in Maryland, the figure was roughly estimated to be about 850,000, or a gain over the total of 829,240 who were registered in 1946.

Of Maryland's six congressmen seeking re-election, the four Democrats face primary fights. Republican Reps. Edward T. Miller of the First District on the Eastern Shore and J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth in Western Maryland are unopposed for renomination.

Incumbent Democrats Hugh A. Meade in the Second District, Edward A. Garmatz in the third, George H. Fallon in the Fourth and Lansdale G. Sasscer in the Fifth are running in the Monday primaries.

About 35 per cent of those registered voted in the 1946 gubernatorial primaries, a total of 319,231.

Chinese Trap Sprung

NANKING, April 30 — (AP) — Pro-government reports today said the Chinese nationalists had killed 5,000 and trapped 50,000 Communist troops in a surprise operation in distant Northwest Shensi Province.

Russians Say U. S. Agents Kidnaped Soviet Officer

BERLIN, April 30 — (AP) — The Russians accused American agents today of kidnapping a Soviet army officer. The officer had attended a tea at the home of an American official in Bremen immediately before his disappearance a week ago.

Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, Unted States deputy military governor, said United States authorities were investigating the incident.

Taft-Stassen Campaign In Ohio Nearing Its End

One of the stiffest presidential preference primary battles to be fought in the present popularity campaigns will come to an end Monday when Senator Robert H. Taft and Harold W. Stassen place their fate in the hands of the voters for their decision at the Ohio polls on Tuesday.

It has been evident from the start that Taft's strength at the Philadelphia Convention would be based largely on Ohio. That was the theory before people had given much consideration to the primary in Nebraska and it remains true as the peak of the nationwide pre-convention campaign draws near. If Taft does well in his home state, it will do much to overcome the bad showing in Nebraska.

On the other hand, should Stassen's showing in Ohio prove as impressive as those in Wisconsin and Nebraska his importance will be greatly enhanced, his supporters contend. Indeed, it could very easily establish him as the leading contender for the nomination, although there are those who discount this possibility. His victory in the write-in vote in Pennsylvania was, on the surface, a surprising showing of popularity, but when the votes of all candidates are analyzed it is not as great as one might suppose.

Stassen has confined his campaign in Ohio to eleven of the state's twenty-two congressional districts in which, because of a labor vote supposedly hostile to Taft, or for other reasons, he feels he has the best chance for success. That type of strategy is looked upon by his supporters as slick politics.

But, as a political writer in Cleveland points out: "It may be true that everything is fair in politics as it is in love and war, but Stassen is appealing to prejudice when he tries to make Ohio voters believe that he is pro-labor and that Taft is anti-labor.

There is general agreement, even within ranks hostile to Taft, that the Ohio senator is well qualified for the Presidency. Intellectually, the country likes his frankness and his courage. There was nationwide approval of the honesty of his speech on farm parities early in the Nebraska primary campaign. Yet that speech hurt him in Nebraska, it may even have killed his chances in the primary in that state. While recognizing that he has a real battle on his hands in the current contest, Taft has expressed confidence that he will win by such a wide margin in his home state that Stassen's present prestige will be badly damaged.

The Ohio campaign has been of the knock-down, drag-out type. Interest has been whipped to such a high pitch within the Buckeye State that a heavy vote is expected to result. It also will have a great audience from all parts of the country next Tuesday.

If this planet was created in a nuclear blast 2,000,000,000 years ago, as scientists say, this may explain why it is still sizzling.

Majority of Americans Favor Hawaii As A State

Interesting and rather surprising is the latest Gallup Poll which indicates that two out of three voters in the United States now favor admission of Hawaii into the Union as the forty-ninth state. One might have thought the issue of Hawaiian statehood would be lost in the shuffle of domestic problems and international crises, especially in this election year. The evident growth of public sentiment for statehood is probably due more to the excellent record of the islands and the general American feeling about colonialism, than to the fact that President Truman and the Interior Department favor the admission of Hawaii.

After more than 50 years of territorial status, some 70 per cent of the Hawaiian people are now knocking on the door of the Union. They can point to their excellent record in education, agriculture, industry and public order, which several congressional committees have confirmed. The half million people of the island export $132,000,000 in goods annually to the United States and buy $227,000,000 worth from the mainland. Also they contribute $107,000,000 in taxes and customs, including a higher income tax revenue than 12 states.

The chief argument against admission is that Hawaii is an Asiatic melting pot, in which Caucasians and native Hawaiians are outnumbered by the total of Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos and Koreans. Hawaiians retort that all these people live in harmony, that the territory proved its loyalty before Pearl Harbor and during the war and that their 442nd Regimental Combat team—manned and largely officered by Nisei—won more decorations per man than any other U. S. unit.

The current hearings before the Senate Public Lands Committee—the House has already endorsed statehood—will air all the arguments, pro and con. Because of the competition of other measures before Congress, the bill to make Hawaii the forty-ninth state may not be enacted at this session. But it probably won't be voted down.

If pleasure cars eventually will travel two miles a minute, as an engineer predicts, whatever steps pedestrians take toward safety had better be fast ones.

Is This Freedom?

Individual tempos vary, but the average person can read this editorial—aloud—in one minute. A typical convention nominating speech, limited to 30 minutes, is therefore 30 times as long as this editorial.

Yet there is rarely anything said in such tympanic tone-poems that could not be said in fewer words than this short editorial contains.

Now the Republicans have decided to demand the supreme sacrifice of their speakers. Those who rise to make nominations must limit their remarks to 15 minutes each. This should cut the number of "the man who" references and lead to identification of the man the people are panting for in only about 3,000 words.

Speakers thus should have less difficulty in remembering the name to be shouted in the grand climax. A speaker named Goldberg once made a long "the man who" oration in the Pennsylvania coal regions introducing a reform candidate for governor named Pinchot. At the grand climax he couldn't remember Pinchot's name.

Henry Wallace says we have nothing to fear from Russia. In his case it may turn out to be vice versa.

Albumin in the Urine

Albumin in the urine of young men and women does not always mean that the kidneys are involved, particularly when there are no other findings. This problem comes up frequently because in this age group, more examinations for life insurance, military service, and industry are done.

In the past, the presence of this substance was given greater prominence than it deserved. The stigma probably dates back to the time when the urinalysis was the only laboratory test available. In consequence, albuminuria and kidney trouble were invariably associated with each other. But after other renal tests were worked out, it was discovered that the urine of perfectly normal individuals contained the protein periodically.

In some, this occurred when they were up and about; disappearing with rest. The cause of the phenomenon is no longer a mystery. It is mechanical in origin; in the upright position certain veins are compressed and the circulation through the kidneys is reduced.

We know now that the emotions can also play a role and many studies during the war prove this assertion. According to Ahronheim, 388 normal air corps personnel showed albumin at one time or another during combat. In another series, 23.6 per cent of aviation cadet applicants had albuminuria at the beginning of the examination. After withdrawing blood from the arm for another test—a procedure that produced some apprehension—a secon dspecimen of urine was taken and 54 per cent now exhibited the abnormality. The annual physical checkup of cadets and officers at West Point must have been stiff in 1925-26 because an epidemic of albuminuria occurred at that time. After the boys calmed down, the symptom disappeared in the majority.

Life insurance, military, and industrial examinations often create anxiety. Many subjects perspire and tremble, the pulse quickens, and the blood pressure rises. At this time, the candidate is not at his best and it may be difficult for the physician to make a fair evaluation. Should albumin appear, the procedure ought to be repeated under more suitable conditions before the final judgment is passed.

On the other hand, if the manifestation persists, additional study is needed. By analyzing five or six specimens, taken over a period of several days, a clearer picture is obtained. Should the urine be otherwise normal and albumin is present only at times, the individual stands a good chance of being given a clean bill of health. If a question still exists, more extensive blood and renal function tests can be performed. In this way, the presence or absence of kidney disease can be ascertained.

In older persons, albuminuria is more significant. It may not be serious, however, implying simply that "the old gray mare ain't what she used to be." In others, high blood pressure or infection may be responsible but even so, there is no occasion for alarm because the kidneys have a remarkable reserve capacity and can still function adequately for many years to come.

CONGESTION

Reply

An overabundance of blood in a certain area. If this occurs on the surface, for example, the skin becomes read and warm.

THIN SKULL

H. C. writes: What does craniotabes mean?

Reply

In this condition, the bones of the cranium are thinner than usual. A bulging skull usually accompanies the abnormality.

POUNDING PULSE

A. P. writes: The other night my heart was beating fast; later, it slowed down. I think it even hurt a little. I am 24 and single. Is something wrong?

Reply

This condition is common, often accompanying excitement or indigestion. As a rule, it has no significance. There is, however, one abnormality (paroxysmal tachycardia), in which the heart suddenly begins to race, beating 180 to 220 per minute. Just as abruptly, the rate returns to normal. Even this is not always serious but if it persists or the beat is like a trip hammer, examination is in order.

CLEMENTINE

Mrs. Z. writes: My 12 year old daughter is large for her age and wears size 9 shoe. Will her feet grow any bigger? Is there any medicine I can give her to make them smaller?

Reply

Your daughter should complete her bone development within the next few years. There is no drug available to stop the feet from growing unless a rare glandular disturbance (acromegaly) is present.

WRIST-DROP

E. D. writes: What is the cause of a fallen or dropped wrist?

Reply

Paralysis due to a disturbance of one of the nerves leading to the hand is responsible. Neuritis and other neurological disorders as well as injury are common origins. When apoplexy is to blame, other nerves are involved also. Heat, electrical stimulation, and vitamin B are used frequently. While undergoing treatment the hand should be kept in a splint in order to prevent stretching of weakened tendons and muscular deformities. In a few instances, surgery is indicated.

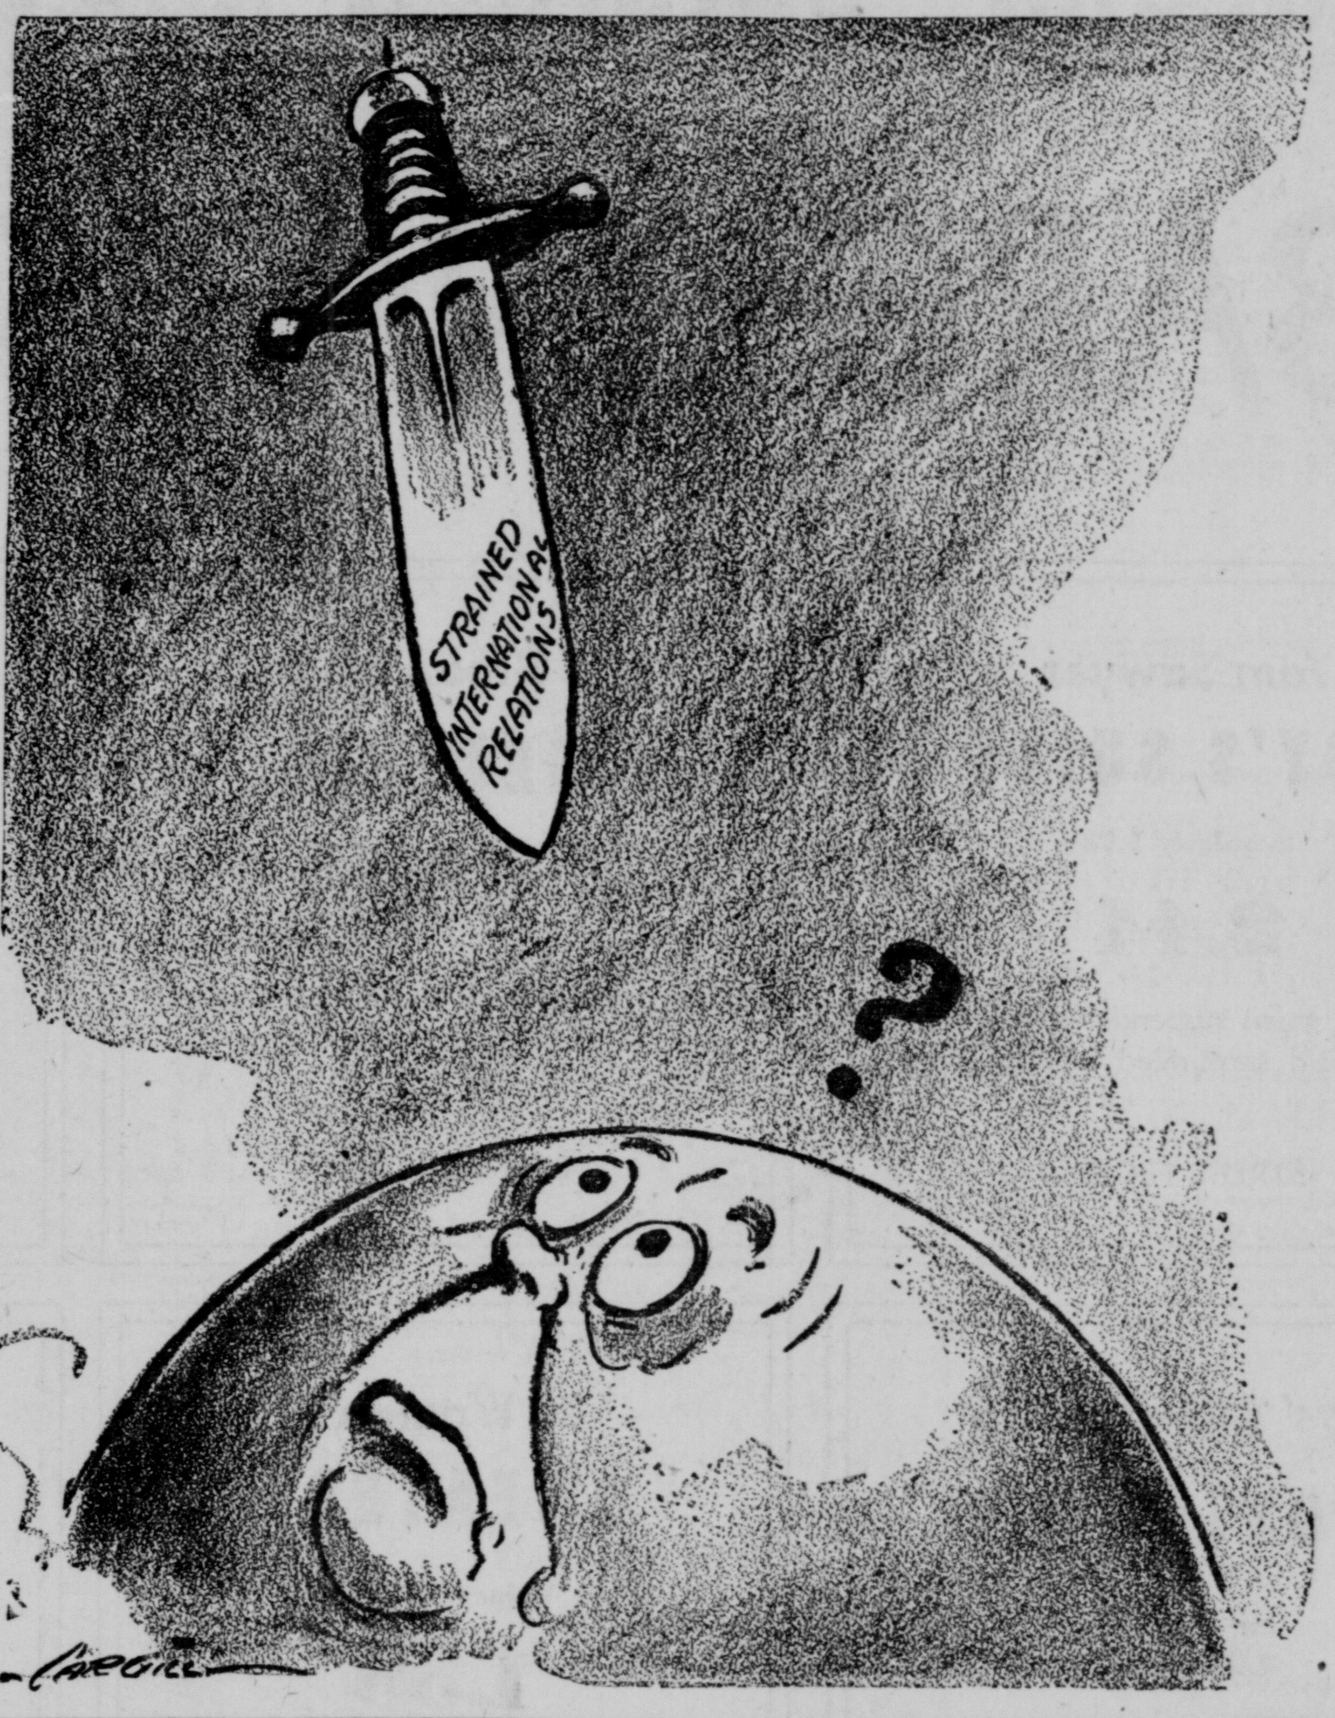
"MAY" DAY!



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Democrats Begin Fight Over Agriculture Secretary's Successor; Big Bill Knudsen Was Real Soldier And Patriot; Selfless Statesmanship Example Set

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 30—Democrats are churning up a hot backstage fight over who should succeed Clinton Anderson as Secretary of Agriculture. There are two candidates:

1. Assistant Secretary Charles Brannan of Denver, who has worked his way up the ladder, has a fine record, plus the backing of his boss, Secretary Anderson.
2. Congressman John Flannagan of Virginia, long Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and for some years the lone New Deal Congressman in Virginia.

Both groups are tugging hard at President Truman's coattails for their man. Democratic members of the House Agriculture Committee even tried to persuade Anderson to shift to Flannagan, but he stopped them cold.

"Why in the hell," he exploded, "do you come to me and ask me to use my influence with the President to appoint somebody from a state that won't even let him on the ballot?"

He referred to Virginia's recent move to prevent President Truman's name from appearing on the ticket as a result of his civil-rights message.

"I think it would be a good appointment in spite of that," shot back North Carolina's Harold Cooley.

"Have you read the record of Flannagan's speeches?" demanded Anderson, still fuming. This was an obvious dig at Flannagan's accusations on the House floor last year that the Agriculture Department had sold out to the sugar trust.

After running into a blank wall with retiring Secretary Anderson, the Congressmen called at the White House. The interview was cut-and-dried. Cooley told Truman of Flannagan's 18-year record in Congress and pointed out that he was responsible for much of the present farm program.

Utah's Walter Granger broke in with the comment that Flannagan was a "rebel of the South" and had deserted the South in many of their traditional stands. On the other hand, he has been a loyal supporter of the Administration, pleaded Granger.

Byrd's Blessing Backfires

In spite of this, Cooley added quickly, Flannagan has the support of Virginia's Senator Harry Byrd.

Truman was noncommittal. Perhaps the Congressmen didn't know that Senator Byrd's endorsement didn't mean much to a President who had described Byrd as "the best Republican in the Democratic party."

"I know Flannagan personally and he has a good record as far as I am concerned," was Truman's sole comment.

The House group had passed around a petition for Flannagan, signed by about 30 of the most prominent Democratic Congressmen. But the President's chilly reception made them decide not to present it. They feared he would consider it high-pressure tactics. Incidentally, two Democrats were approached who refused to sign the paper—John Carroll of Colorado and Henry Jackson of Washington who said they favored Brannan.

Meanwhile, Brannan has the vigorous support of Senators Murray of Montana, Kilgore of West Virginia, Elbert Thomas of Utah, and Chavez of New Mexico.

Big Bill Knudsen

I was sorry to hear about the death of Big Bill Knudsen, the former head of General Motors. It meant that a piece of the old-time, hectic, hurrying, wartime Washington was gone.

It doesn't seem so very long ago that Bill came here from Detroit to coordinate the nation's war production. Those were the days when the Army was changing airplane models every other hour, when admirals and generals were fighting over whether steel was to go into guns or battleships, and when Washington exuded patriotism, red tape, lobbyists, and not too much efficiency.

Into this imbroglio was plumped Bill Knudsen, a Danish immigrant boy, who had made a great name for himself in the automobile world and who wanted to do something for his country.

His co-defense-coordinator was another immigrant boy, Sidney Hillman, head of the Amalgamated Colthing Workers. The idea was to get labor and business working together. Both are dead now. Both were criticized for one thing or another. Both were eased out of the defense picture—in my opinion because the brass hats couldn't control them. They were too tough.

Hillman was given the gate without much ceremony. But Knudsen, perhaps because he ranked high in the industrial world, was made a lieutenant general.

I called on him once at his home after he had put on his soldier suit and had started his innocuous new job of inspecting airplane factories. It was obvious that he didn't like it much. But he was a good soldier and a real patriot. You almost never talked to Knudsen but what he recalled how he had come to this country as an immigrant boy, and how this country had done great things for him and he wanted to do something in return. You could see that he meant it. Bill Knudsen was a man who didn't talk much, but meant what he said.

I couldn't help thinking about all this when Bill died the other day—just after the Daughters of the American Revolution went on record in favor of closing the immigration gates on all future Bill Knudsens.

I hope that Bill was too sick to read their resolution; for if he had, it would have given him an unhappy moment just before he left the country which had done so much for him and for which he tried to do so much in return.

Conscientious Senator

Members of Congress who place their private, political interests above the interests of their country could profit from an example in selfless statesmanship set by young Senator John Sparkman of Alabama during the recent Senate battle over the T-E-W long-range housing bill.

Sparkman, a pioneer supporter of this vital legislation to lick the housing shortage, left a hot Alabama campaign for renomination and flew back to Washington in order to vote for the bill and against the real-estate lobby.

Democratic leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky interrupted the floor discussion to compliment Sparkman for "abandoning his personal interest in Alabama" and for his "devotion to public service for which he is noted not only in the committee but here in the Senate."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Cloak and Dagger

In the comfortably distant United States, it is not easy to grasp the fierceness of the contest between the Soviet Union and the Western world. And for this very reason, it is hard to imagine how very close we have come, and may probably come again, to the slippery brink of catastrophe. Both these points are illustrated by three curious recent episodes here, which are regarded as fully authenticated to the highest authority.

The first may be described as "the mystery of the Russian furs." Recently the Soviet Embassy in Rome approached the Italian Ministry of Foreign Trade with a seemingly innocuous request. Permission was asked, and cheerfully granted, for shipment to Rome of a load of Russian furs to adorn the twenty-odd ladies of the Embassy staff. Subsequently, however, Foreign Trade Minister Coesare Merzagora was astonished to discover that the Soviets intended to import just short of a ton of furs. This would have sufficed to cover all the Embassy ladies in several thicknesses of sable, with enough left over to ermine-line the Embassy walls.

To seasoned observers in Italy—especially with access to intelligence reports—this was not especially mysterious. The ton of furs was of course really intended for sale on the black market, for foreign exchange with which to finance Soviet agents and the Italian Communist party. This sort of thing was going on for a long time. The fur fraud was only significant because it was so transparent, which suggests that the Soviet foreign exchange famine must be very acute indeed.

The second episode may be described as "the mystery of the black market." Prior to the election, near panic reigned in some circles here. Many of the rich prepared to flee the country, and others actually fled. Normally, when the rich pack up to run away, there is a tremendous boom in every foreign currency. Instead, the dollar market remained absolutely stable. This was because the demand of the rich for dollars to carry away with them was more than met by the supply of dollars sent into Italy to finance the Communist underground.

The third episode may be called "the mystery of disgruntled partisans." On March 20 and 21, large groups of Communist ex-partisans, "activists" and "agitprops" started for the hills, especially in Piedmont and in the area around Florence. Preparations for direct action were obviously on foot. Yet the fighting men of the underground had hardly arrived at their assembly points, when, strangely, and despite the disgruntlement of many of the younger hot-heads, they began to trickle home. The orders had been changed. By March 24, almost all were out of the hills again.

The explanation of this odd, in-again, out-again movement is only too apparent. It is now hardly doubted that at least two alternative, Kremlin-approved plans for Italy had been drawn up, and that one plan called for direct action either before, during or immediately after the election. Either the wrong orders were given, and the wrong plan set in motion; or Plan B was substituted for Plan A at the last moment. Thus the partisan movement to assembly points began, only to be halted.

How this was done is also known. The Kremlin's order to halt was almost certainly transmitted through the Soviet Embassy, to the Italian Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, both before and after the elections. According to an undoubted source, Togliatti often visited the Soviet Embassy on several occasions, and remained through the night at least twice.

Important lessons may be drawn from these three episodes. In the first place, however, many millions of dollars the Soviets used in the underground effort in Italy, the sum was trivial compared to the billions more publicly poured in by the United States. Relatively speaking, the Soviets get a lot more political return for a lot less cash. But this is because misery and social unrest give the Soviets their chance. Remove the causes, and the chances will be removed also.

In the second place, the known existence of a Kremlin-approved plan for direct action in Italy means that the Kremlin at least for a while considered taking steps which were almost certain to bring on a third World war. That is the measure of the danger of the world situation. And there is no reason to suppose that the election returns here in Italy will greatly reduce the Kremlin's willingness to play with fire in this manner.

Legal And Price Trouble Ahead For Absorbers Of Freight Rate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 30—There's legal trouble and price trouble ahead for producers in the heavy industries who have been in the habit of absorbing the freight rate as a part of the delivered price.

The Supreme Court of the United States, with its New Deal majority, has reversed completely a decision of nearly two decades ago on the matter of absorbing freight rates in the cement industry. The principle applies to steel and materials of all kinds.

The decision is full of contradictions which will require more lawsuits to clear up. Justice Burton, who dissented, did not merely disagree with the opinion but tried hard to state what in his judgment the majority had decided. He declared that, as he read the decision, the court had not reached the issue of absorbing freight rates in the delivered price where individuals were engaged in bona fide competition but had simply ruled that collective action to fix prices was prohibited.

No Suit Clarity Disclosed

Unfortunately, a reading of the majority opinion does not disclose any such clarity The majority opinion first avers that the rule of the court is designed to prohibit uniform prices which are the result of combination or "planned concerted action." Then, however, in a significant footnote the majority say that it isn't necessary for the federal trade commission to find the existence of a "combination" of producers as "an indispensable ingredient of an unfair method of competition" such as is banned by the federal trade commission law.

How any lawyer today can advise a client in business after reading the devious reasoning of the New Deal justices is a mystery. The majority opinion declares:

"It is thus apparent that the order (of the federal trade commission just affirmed by the court) by its terms is directed solely at concerted, not individual activity on the part of the respondents (the producers) . . .

"The paragraph is merely designed to forbid respondents (producers) from acting in harmony to bring about national uniformity in whatever fashion they may seek by collective action to achieve that result."

But, at the same time, the majority implies that even if individuals do absorb the freight rates and make one price to a distant point and the same to a near-by point, this is discrimination in price under the Robinson - Patman Act or can be penalized as "unfair competition" under the federal trade commission act.

Practice In Many Industries

The absorption of freight in the delivered price is a practice in many an industry. It has sometimes been erroneously called the "Pittsburgh Plus" system though this particular practice was abandoned many years ago. The system prevailing in steel and other industries calls not for one basing point but several through-out the country. Because plants are scattered geographically, the producers find it necessary to absorb some of the freight charges that would otherwise be added to the price from the base or point of origin. Thus a plant at Pittsburgh will sell steel at $50 a ton to near-by purchasers and will also charge the same price to a New York purchaser and pay the freight out of the $50. This is done so as to compete with producers who are near enough to New York to pay a lower freight charge.

The underlying purpose is to compete and not to monopolize, but the Federal Trade Commission, which began the suit in 1936, held that "uniform prices" are in themselves evidence of monopoly. actually the posting of prices by a leader in an industry is frequently followed by other producers. Thus, a corner grocery sells butter or eggs for the same price as its competitor across the street. Uniformity or identity of prices is characteristic of meeting competition nowadays rather than of destroying competition.

These Days

Taft and Stassen

THE PUBLIC used to judge a man on his record. By record was meant his public acts, his achievements, his accomplishments, with a background of his private life to indicate character. His speeches were secondary to character. And while consistency may be a little better than stubborness, inconsistency often is the mark of a baffled mind, a confused personality, an over-anxiety to achieve position without too great regard for principle.

Since 1932, those guides to the selection of public officials have not been as popular as heretofore. The word, glamour, has in many minds become more popular than the record of accomplishment. Glamour has replaced character. Perhaps that is why the gossip columnists have attained to such an importance in journalism; they glamourize the trivial and pander to a lust for egalitarianism, that is, leveling our society at the lowest possible level without absolutely outraging moral opinion to which they give not obeisance but a passing nod.

Senator Robert A. Taft is to be judged by his leadership of the Republican Party in Congress. He has made himself responsible for a labor bill, a health bill, an education bill, a housing bill. He has opposed U.M.T.; he has supported tax reduction without imperiling the national defense. His leadership has required him to take a positive stand on every public measure; in Congress, both parties have come to respect him as possessing intellectual integrity and legislative capacity.

That helacks glamour is admitted even by his staunchest supporters. He could not compete in that sphere with Van Johnson or Clark Gable. He is not an actor nor a robot, repeating platitudes composed by other minds. He does not shake hands as though that were his most important accomplishment. He does not wear an eternal smirk. If these are requirements for the Presidency, Bob Taft is wanting. Lana Turner probably would fill all these requirements, if no others.

My first impression of Harold Stassen was way back when he proposed limited sovereignty for the United States. It was an immature idea, highly emotional, projected without regard to the dangers facing this country from its principal enemy, Soviet Russia, that had been its enemy since 1917 with no interludes. True, others made the same error, but no matter what has happened since 1917, I, as one citizen can never respect the mentality that produced so sophomoric a conception of history. Those who will not do the home work necessary to make themselves familiar with public problems, or who sacrifice the public good for their private ambitions, ought to be opposed.

Then came Stassen's proposals for a World Parliament which, while it read like a Solon come to life, indicated no realistic approach to major problems. For instance, he desired that the United Nations be authorized:

"To administer the key international airports and airways of the world.

"To administer the gateways to the seas. . .

"To increase the literacy and improve the health of the people of the world."

Just imagine where we would be today it the United Nations controlled the air and the seas! Stassen could say that he had no idea at the time that the Russians would turn out to be so bad and in his interview with Stalin, he as much as said so, he finding Stalin almost delectable. But I, as a citizen, am unwilling to vote for anyone for President who misunderstood the well-documented and thoroughly canvassed Russian position. Ignorance may be bliss but it has no place in the Presidency.

While Taft was standing up in the Senate for public principle, Stassen declined to come to the Senate but devoted himself to the sole task of running for the Presidency. He asumed no public responsibility, except at the San Francisco Conference where he was outshone by Arthur Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles, who asumed aggressive leadership on behalf of his party.

For nearly three years he has had no occupation except running for the Presidency; no calling except the making of speeches.

He may have a very attractive personality and even a beauteous smile—but there is no record of achievement in national affairs.

Today's Talk

Not Too Fast

I am reading a great book that took ten years to write—but it has lasted many, many times as long, and will be read when those that have been written and produced in a few weeks, months, or a year, are all forgotten

Many of our modern "first sellers" are written for quick sales—to make as much money as possible, then turned into the movies—and in a year or so to be forgotten. Money in competition with worth — and money the winner!

People go for vacations in their cars—and can hardly wait until they get to their destinations—driving as fast as the law may allow—and then some. But it was Tagore who stated that the road should be part of the destination. As it should. Away from the city streets there is always interest; and knowledge is strewn along every roadside!

The methodical worker always accomplishes most. He cleans up as he goes. The pesky little worries and obstacles along the way have no attraction for him. He shoves them aside and keeps at his task That is a true statement — "the more haste the less speed." Go slow —and sure. Every driver of a car should bear this in mind.

The human machine is like any intricate machine—the more it is pushed, and made to go faster, the less efficiency and length of years it is given. The wise consultant says: "Not too fast. Take it easy, and live longer, and happier." The old cabinet builders took time to do their work. That is why their work is so prized today, and eagerly hunted

People do not wear out as quickly as they burn out—by going too fast. There is enjoyment in meditation. The fast reader of a book—so that he may say he has read it —gains little. It is better to live a book as you read it, and make each character your friend. Characters like Jane Eyre live forever, though conceived in fiction. And this may be said of many another—Jean Val Jean, in "Les Miserables," for example.

It would be an excellent idea if we all took more time just to think!

Taft-Stassen Campaign In Ohio Nearing Its End

One of the stiffest presidential preference primary battles to be fought in the present popularity campaigns will come to an end Monday when Senator Robert H. Taft and Harold W. Stassen place their fate in the hands of the voters for their decision at the Ohio polls on Tuesday.

It has been evident from the start that Taft's strength at the Philadelphia Convention would be based largely on Ohio. That was the theory before people had given much consideration to the primary in Nebraska and it remains true as the peak of the nationwide pre-convention campaign draws near. If Taft does well in his home state, it will do much to overcome the bad showing in Nebraska.

On the other hand, should Stassen's showing in Ohio prove as impressive as those in Wisconsin and Nebraska his importance will be greatly enhanced, his supporters contend. Indeed, it could very easily establish him as the leading contender for the nomination, although there are those who discount this possibility. His victory in the write-in vote in Pennsylvania was, on the surface, a surprising showing of popularity, but when the votes of all candidates are analyzed it is not as great as one might suppose.

Stassen has confined his campaign in Ohio to eleven of the state's twenty-two congressional districts in which, because of a labor vote supposedly hostile to Taft, or for other reasons, he feels he has the best chance for success. That type of strategy is looked upon by his supporters as slick politics.

But, as a political writer in Cleveland points out: "It may be true that everything is fair in politics as it is in love and war, but Stassen is appealing to prejudice when he tries to make Ohio voters believe that he is pro-labor and that Taft is anti-labor.

There is general agreement, even within ranks hostile to Taft, that the Ohio senator is well qualified for the Presidency. Intellectually, the country likes his frankness and his courage. There was nationwide approval of the honesty of his speech on farm parities early in the Nebraska primary campaign. Yet that speech hurt him in Nebraska, it may even have killed his chances in the primary in that state. While recognizing that he has a real battle on his hands in the current contest, Taft has expressed confidence that he will win by such a wide margin in his home state that Stassen's present prestige will be badly damaged.

The Ohio campaign has been of the knock-down, drag-out type. Interest has been whipped to such a high pitch within the Buckeye State that a heavy vote is expected to result. It also will have a great audience from all parts of the country next Tuesday.

If this planet was created in a nuclear blast 2,000,000,000 years ago, as scientists say, this may explain why it is still sizzling.

Majority of Americans Favor Hawaii As A State

Interesting and rather surprising is the latest Gallup Poll which indicates that two out of three voters in the United States now favor admission of Hawaii into the Union as the forty-ninth state. One might have thought the issue of Hawaiian statehood would be lost in the shuffle of domestic problems and international crises, especially in this election year. The evident growth of public sentiment for statehood is probably due more to the excellent record of the islands and the general American feeling about colonialism, than to the fact that President Truman and the Interior Department favor the admission of Hawaii.

After more than 50 years of territorial status, some 70 per cent of the Hawaiian people are now knocking on the door of the Union. They can point to their excellent record in education, agriculture, industry and public order, which several congressional committees have confirmed. The half million people of the island export $132,000,000 in goods annually to the United States and buy $227,000,000 worth from the mainland. Also they contribute $107,000,000 in taxes and customs, including a higher income tax revenue than 12 states.

The chief argument against admission is that Hawaii is an Asiatic melting pot, in which Caucasians and native Hawaiians are outnumbered by the total of Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos and Koreans. Hawaiians retort that all these people live in harmony, that the territory proved its loyalty before Pearl Harbor and during the war and that their 442nd Regimental Combat team—manned and largely officered by Nisei—won more decorations per man than any other U. S. unit.

The current hearings before the Senate Public Lands Committee—the House has already endorsed statehood—will air all the arguments, pro and con. Because of the competition of other measures before Congress, the bill to make Hawaii the forty-ninth state may not be enacted at this session. But it probably won't be voted down.

If pleasure cars eventually will travel two miles a minute, as an engineer predicts, whatever steps pedestrians take toward safety had better be fast ones.

Is This Freedom?

Individual tempos vary, but the average person can read this editorial—aloud—in one minute. A typical convention nominating speech, limited to 30 minutes, is therefore 30 times as long as this editorial.

Yet there is rarely anything said in such tympanic tone-poems that could not be said in fewer words than this short editorial contains.

Now the Republicans have decided to demand the supreme sacrifice of their speakers. Those who rise to make nominations must limit their remarks to 15 minutes each. This should cut the number of "the man who" references and lead to identification of the man the people are panting for in only about 3,000 words.

Speakers thus should have less difficulty in remembering the name to be shouted in the grand climax. A speaker named Goldberg once made a long "the man who" oration in the Pennsylvania coal regions introducing a reform candidate for governor named Pinchot. At the grand climax he couldn't remember Pinchot's name.

Henry Wallace says we have nothing to fear from Russia. In his case it may turn out to be vice versa.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

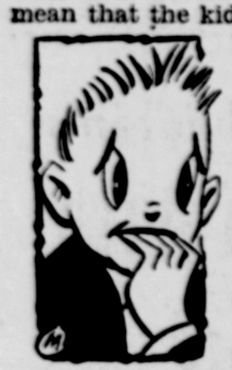
Albumin in the Urine



Albumin in the urine of young men and women does not always mean that the kidneys are involved, particularly when there are no other findings. This problem comes up frequently because in this age group, more examinations for life insurance, military service, and industry are done.

In the past, the presence of this substance was given greater prominence than it deserved. The stigma probably dates back to the time when the urinalysis was the only laboratory test available. In consequence, albuminuria and kidney trouble were invariably associated with each other. But after other renal tests were worked out, it was discovered that the urine of perfectly normal individuals contained the protein periodically.

In some, this occurred when they were up and about; disappearing with rest. The cause of the phenomenon is no longer a mystery. It is mechanical in origin; in the upright position certain veins are compressed and the circulation through the kidneys is reduced.

We know now that the emotions can also play a role and many studies during the war prove this assertion. According to Ahronheim, 388 normal air corps personnel showed albumin at one time or another during combat. In another series, 23.6 per cent of aviation cadet applicants had albuminuria at the beginning of the examination. After withdrawing blood from the arm for another test—a procedure that produced some apprehension—a secon dspecimen of urine was taken and 54 per cent now exhibited the abnormality. The annual physical checkup of cadets and officers at West Point must have been stiff in 1925-26 because an epidemic of albuminuria occurred at that time. After the boys calmed down, the symptom disappeared in the majority.

Life insurance, military, and industrial examinations often create anxiety. Many subjects perspire and tremble, the pulse quickens, and the blood pressure rises. At this time, the candidate is not at his best and it may be difficult for the physician to make a fair evaluation. Should albumin appear, the procedure ought to be repeated under more suitable conditions before the final judgment is passed.

On the other hand, if the manifestation persists, additional study is needed. By analyzing five or six specimens, taken over a period of several days, a clearer picture is obtained. Should the urine be otherwise normal and albumin is present only at times, the individual stands a good chance of being given a clean bill of health. If a question still exists, more extensive blood and renal function tests can be performed. In this way, the presence or absence of kidney disease can be ascertained.

In older persons, albuminuria is more significant. It may not be serious, however, implying simply that "the old gray mare ain't what she used to be." In others, high blood pressure or infection may be responsible but even so, there is no occasion for alarm because the kidneys have a remarkable reserve capacity and can still function adequately for many years to come.

1. Assistant Secretary Charles Brannan of Denver, who has worked his way up the ladder, has a fine record, plus the backing of his boss, Secretary Anderson.

2. Congressman John Flannagan of Virginia, long Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and for some years the lone New Deal Congressman in Virginia.

Both groups are tugging hard at President Truman's coattails for their man. Democratic members of the House Agriculture Committee even tried to persuade Anderson to shift to Flannagan, but he stopped them cold.

"Why in the hell," he exploded, "do you come to me and ask me to use my influence with the President to appoint somebody from a state that won't even let him on the ballot?"

He referred to Virginia's recent move to prevent President Truman's name from appearing on the ticket as a result of his civil-rights message.

"I think it would be a good appointment in spite of that," shot back North Carolina's Harold Cooley.

"Have you read the record of Flannagan's speeches?" demanded Anderson, still fuming. This was an obvious dig at Flannagan's accusations on the House floor last year that the Agriculture Department had sold out to the sugar trust.

After running into a blank wall with retiring Secretary Anderson, the Congressmen called at the White House. The interview was cut-and-dried. Cooley told Truman of Flannagan's 18-year record in Congress and pointed out that he was responsible for much of the present farm program.

Utah's Walter Granger broke in with the comment that Flannagan was a "rebel of the South" and had deserted the South in many of their traditional stands. On the other hand, he has been a loyal supporter of the Administration, pleaded Granger.

Byrd's Blessing Backfires

In spite of this, Cooley added quickly, Flannagan has the support of Virginia's Senator Harry Byrd.

Truman was noncommittal. Perhaps the Congressmen didn't know that Senator Byrd's endorsement didn't mean much to a President who had described Byrd as "the best Republican in the Democratic party."

"I know Flannagan personally and he has a good record as far as I am concerned," was Truman's sole comment.

The House group had passed around a petition for Flannagan, signed by about 30 of the most prominent Democratic Congressmen. But the President's chilly reception made them decide not to present it. They feared he would consider it high-pressure tactics. Incidentally, two Democrats were approached who refused to sign the paper—John Carroll of Colorado and Henry Jackson of Washington who said they favored Brannan.

Meanwhile, Brannan has the vigorous support of Senators Murray of Montana, Kilgore of West Virginia, Elbert Thomas of Utah, and Chavez of New Mexico.

Big Bill Knudsen

I was sorry to hear about the death of Big Bill Knudsen, the former head of General Motors. It meant that a piece of the old-time, hectic, hurrying, wartime Washington was gone.

It doesn't seem so very long ago that Bill came here from Detroit to coordinate the nation's war production. Those were the days when the Army was changing airplane models every other hour, when admirals and generals were fighting over whether steel was to go into guns or battleships, and when Washington exuded patriotism, red tape, lobbyists, and not too much efficiency.

Into this imbroglio was plumped Bill Knudsen, a Danish immigrant boy, who had made a great name for himself in the automobile world and who wanted to do something for his country.

His co-defense-coordinator was another immigrant boy, Sidney Hillman, head of the Amalgamated Colthing Workers. The idea was to get labor and business working together. Both are dead now. Both were criticized for one thing or another. Both were eased out of the defense picture—in my opinion because the brass hats couldn't control them. They were too tough.

Hillman was given the gate without much ceremony. But Knudsen, perhaps because he ranked high in the industrial world, was made a lieutenant general.

I called on him once at his home after he had put on his soldier suit and had started his innocuous new job of inspecting airplane factories. It was obvious that he didn't like it much. But he was a good soldier and a real patriot. You almost never talked to Knudsen but what he recalled how he had come to this country as an immigrant boy, and how this country had done great things for him and he wanted to do something in return. You could see that he meant it. Bill Knudsen was a man who didn't talk much, but meant what he said.

I couldn't help thinking about all this when Bill died the other day—just after the Daughters of the American Revolution went on record in favor of closing the immigration gates on all future Bill Knudsens.

I hope that Bill was too sick to read their resolution; for if he had, it would have given him an unhappy moment just before he left the country which had done so much for him and for which he tried to do so much in return.

Conscientious Senator

Members of Congress who place their private, political interests above the interests of their country could profit from an example in selfless statesmanship set by young Senator John Sparkman of Alabama during the recent Senate battle over the T-E-W long-range housing bill.

Sparkman, a pioneer supporter of this vital legislation to lick the housing shortage, left a hot Alabama campaign for renomination and flew back to Washington in order to vote for the bill and against the real-estate lobby.

Democratic leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky interrupted the floor discussion to compliment Sparkman for "abandoning his personal interest in Alabama" and for his "devotion to public service for which he is noted not only in the committee but here in the Senate."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Cloak and Dagger

In the comfortably distant United States, it is not easy to grasp the fierceness of the contest between the Soviet Union and the Western world. And for this very reason, it is hard to imagine how very close we have come, and may probably come again, to the slippery brink of catastrophe. Both these points are illustrated by three curious recent episodes here, which are regarded as fully authenticated to the highest authority.

The first may be described as "the mystery of the Russian furs." Recently the Soviet Embassy in Rome approached the Italian Ministry of Foreign Trade with a seemingly innocuous request. Permission was asked, and cheerfully granted, for shipment to Rome of a load of Russian furs to adorn the twenty-odd ladies of the Embassy staff. Subsequently, however, Foreign Trade Minister Coesare Merzagora was astonished to discover that the Soviets intended to import just short of a ton of furs. This would have sufficed to cover all the Embassy ladies in several thicknesses of sable, with enough left over to ermine-line the Embassy walls.

To seasoned observers in Italy—especially with access to intelligence reports—this was not especially mysterious. The ton of furs was of course really intended for sale on the black market, for foreign exchange with which to finance Soviet agents and the Italian Communist party. This sort of thing was going on for a long time. The fur fraud was only significant because it was so transparent, which suggests that the Soviet foreign exchange famine must be very acute indeed.

The second episode may be described as "the mystery of the black market." Prior to the election, near panic reigned in some circles here. Many of the rich prepared to flee the country, and others actually fled. Normally, when the rich pack up to run away, there is a tremendous boom in every foreign currency. Instead, the dollar market remained absolutely stable. This was because the demand of the rich for dollars to carry away with them was more than met by the supply of dollars sent into Italy to finance the Communist underground.

The third episode may be called "the mystery of disgruntled partisans." On March 20 and 21, large groups of Communist ex-partisans, "activists" and "agitprops" started for the hills, especially in Piedmont and in the area around Florence. Preparations for direct action were obviously on foot. Yet the fighting men of the underground had hardly arrived at their assembly points, when, strangely, and despite the disgruntlement of many of the younger hot-heads, they began to trickle home. The orders had been changed. By March 24, almost all were out of the hills again.

The explanation of this odd, in-again, out-again movement is only too apparent. It is now hardly doubted that at least two alternative, Kremlin-approved plans for Italy had been drawn up, and that one plan called for direct action either before, during or immediately after the election. Either the wrong orders were given, and the wrong plan set in motion; or Plan B was substituted for Plan A at the last moment. Thus the partisan movement to assembly points began, only to be halted.

How this was done is also known. The Kremlin's order to halt was almost certainly transmitted through the Soviet Embassy, to the Italian Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, both before and after the elections. According to an undoubted source, Togliatti often visited the Soviet Embassy on several occasions, and remained through the night at least twice.

Important lessons may be drawn from these three episodes. In the first place, however, many millions of dollars the Soviets used in the underground effort in Italy, the sum was trivial compared to the billions more publicly poured in by the United States. Relatively speaking, the Soviets get a lot more political return for a lot less cash. But this is because misery and social unrest give the Soviets their chance. Remove the causes, and the chances will be removed also.

In the second place, the known existence of a Kremlin-approved plan for direct action in Italy means that the Kremlin at least for a while considered taking steps which were almost certain to bring on a third World war. That is the measure of the danger of the world situation. And there is no reason to suppose that the election returns here in Italy will greatly reduce the Kremlin's willingness to play with fire in this manner.

Legal And Price Trouble Ahead For Absorbers Of Freight Rate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 30—There's legal trouble and price trouble ahead for producers in the heavy industries who have been in the habit of absorbing the freight rate as a part of the delivered price.

The Supreme Court of the United States, with its New Deal majority, has reversed completely a decision of nearly two decades ago on the matter of absorbing freight rates in the cement industry. The principle applies to steel and materials of all kinds.

The decision is full of contradictions which will require more lawsuits to clear up. Justice Burton, who dissented, did not merely disagree with the opinion but tried hard to state what in his judgment the majority had decided. He declared that, as he read the decision, the court had not reached the issue of absorbing freight rates in the delivered price where individuals were engaged in bona fide competition but had simply ruled that collective action to fix prices was prohibited.

No Suit Clarity Disclosed

Unfortunately, a reading of the majority opinion does not disclose any such clarity The majority opinion first avers that the rule of the court is designed to prohibit uniform prices which are the result of combination or "planned concerted action." Then, however, in a significant footnote the majority say that it isn't necessary for the federal trade commission to find the existence of a "combination" of producers as "an indispensable ingredient of an unfair method of competition" such as is banned by the federal trade commission law.

How any lawyer today can advise a client in business after reading the devious reasoning of the New Deal justices is a mystery. The majority opinion declares:

"It is thus apparent that the order (of the federal trade commission just affirmed by the court) by its terms is directed solely at concerted, not individual activity on the part of the respondents (the producers) . . .

"The paragraph is merely designed to forbid respondents (producers) from acting in harmony to bring about national uniformity in whatever fashion they may seek by collective action to achieve that result."

But, at the same time, the majority implies that even if individuals do absorb the freight rates and make one price to a distant point and the same to a near-by point, this is discrimination in price under the Robinson - Patman Act or can be penalized as "unfair competition" under the federal trade commission act.

Practice In Many Industries

The absorption of freight in the delivered price is a practice in many an industry. It has sometimes been erroneously called the "Pittsburgh Plus" system though this particular practice was abandoned many years ago. The system prevailing in steel and other industries calls not for one basing point but several through-out the country. Because plants are scattered geographically, the producers find it necessary to absorb some of the freight charges that would otherwise be added to the price from the base or point of origin. Thus a plant at Pittsburgh will sell steel at $50 a ton to near-by purchasers and will also charge the same price to a New York purchaser and pay the freight out of the $50. This is done so as to compete with producers who are near enough to New York to pay a lower freight charge.

The underlying purpose is to compete and not to monopolize, but the Federal Trade Commission, which began the suit in 1936, held that "uniform prices" are in themselves evidence of monopoly. actually the posting of prices by a leader in an industry is frequently followed by other producers. Thus, a corner grocery sells butter or eggs for the same price as its competitor across the street. Uniformity or identity of prices is characteristic of meeting competition nowadays rather than of destroying competition.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Taft and Stassen

THE PUBLIC used to judge a man on his record. By record was meant his public acts, his achievements, his accomplishments, with a background of his private life to indicate character. His speeches were secondary to character. And while consistency may be a little better than stubborness, inconsistency often is the mark of a baffled mind, a confused personality, an over-anxiety to achieve position without too great regard for principle.

Since 1932, those guides to the selection of public officials have not been as popular as heretofore. The word, glamour, has in many minds become more popular than the record of accomplishment. Glamour has replaced character. Perhaps that is why the gossip columnists have attained to such an importance in journalism; they glamourize the trivial and pander to a lust for egalitarianism, that is, leveling our society at the lowest possible level without absolutely outraging moral opinion to which they give not obeisance but a passing nod.

Senator Robert A. Taft is to be judged by his leadership of the Republican Party in Congress. He has made himself responsible for a labor bill, a health bill, an education bill, a housing bill. He has opposed U.M.T.; he has supported tax reduction without imperiling the national defense. His leadership has required him to take a positive stand on every public measure; in Congress, both parties have come to respect him as possessing intellectual integrity and legislative capacity.

That helacks glamour is admitted even by his staunchest supporters. He could not compete in that sphere with Van Johnson or Clark Gable. He is not an actor nor a robot, repeating platitudes composed by other minds. He does not shake hands as though that were his most important accomplishment. He does not wear an eternal smirk. If these are requirements for the Presidency, Bob Taft is wanting. Lana Turner probably would fill all these requirements, if no others.

My first impression of Harold Stassen was way back when he proposed limited sovereignty for the United States. It was an immature idea, highly emotional, projected without regard to the dangers facing this country from its principal enemy, Soviet Russia, that had been its enemy since 1917 with no interludes. True, others made the same error, but no matter what has happened since 1917, I, as one citizen can never respect the mentality that produced so sophomoric a conception of history. Those who will not do the home work necessary to make themselves familiar with public problems, or who sacrifice the public good for their private ambitions, ought to be opposed.

Then came Stassen's proposals for a World Parliament which, while it read like a Solon come to life, indicated no realistic approach to major problems. For instance, he desired that the United Nations be authorized:

"To administer the key international airports and airways of the world.

"To administer the gateways to the seas. . .

"To increase the literacy and improve the health of the people of the world."

Just imagine where we would be today it the United Nations controlled the air and the seas! Stassen could say that he had no idea at the time that the Russians would turn out to be so bad and in his interview with Stalin, he as much as said so, he finding Stalin almost delectable. But I, as a citizen, am unwilling to vote for anyone for President who misunderstood the well-documented and thoroughly canvassed Russian position. Ignorance may be bliss but it has no place in the Presidency.

While Taft was standing up in the Senate for public principle, Stassen declined to come to the Senate but devoted himself to the sole task of running for the Presidency. He asumed no public responsibility, except at the San Francisco Conference where he was outshone by Arthur Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles, who asumed aggressive leadership on behalf of his party.

For nearly three years he has had no occupation except running for the Presidency; no calling except the making of speeches.

He may have a very attractive personality and even a beauteous smile—but there is no record of achievement in national affairs.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Not Too Fast

I am reading a great book that took ten years to write—but it has lasted many, many times as long, and will be read when those that have been written and produced in a few weeks, months, or a year, are all forgotten

Many of our modern "first sellers" are written for quick sales—to make as much money as possible, then turned into the movies—and in a year or so to be forgotten. Money in competition with worth — and money the winner!

People go for vacations in their cars—and can hardly wait until they get to their destinations—driving as fast as the law may allow—and then some. But it was Tagore who stated that the road should be part of the destination. As it should. Away from the city streets there is always interest; and knowledge is strewn along every roadside!

The methodical worker always accomplishes most. He cleans up as he goes. The pesky little worries and obstacles along the way have no attraction for him. He shoves them aside and keeps at his task That is a true statement — "the more haste the less speed." Go slow —and sure. Every driver of a car should bear this in mind.

The human machine is like any intricate machine—the more it is pushed, and made to go faster, the less efficiency and length of years it is given. The wise consultant says: "Not too fast. Take it easy, and live longer, and happier." The old cabinet builders took time to do their work. That is why their work is so prized today, and eagerly hunted

People do not wear out as quickly as they burn out—by going too fast. There is enjoyment in meditation. The fast reader of a book—so that he may say he has read it—gains little. It is better to live a book as you read it, and make each character your friend. Characters like Jane Eyre live forever, though conceived in fiction. And this may be said of many another—Jean Val Jean, in "Les Miserables," for example.

It would be an excellent idea if we all took more time just to think!

Seifarth Jailed

Robert Debs Seifarth was committed to the Allegany County jail yesterday for 30 days, in default of fines imposed for motor vehicle law violations totaling $122,25.

Seifarth had been arraigned before Magistrate James P. Kenny, Frostburg, on charges of failure to identify himself at the scene of an accident and operation on a revoked license. He was sentenced to 30 days in one case and 10 in the other but the Magistrate ruled that the sentences should run concurrently.

Paper Company To Offer Modern Pension System

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company announced yesterday that a modern pension plan designed to provide employes an opportunity to acquire an adequate retirement income will be offered to hourly paid employes next week.

About 1,100 of the 1,450 hourly rated employes of the Luke plant will be eligible for membership in the pension plan on the opening date of June 1.

The company employs 7,200 hourly paid workmen in plants at Luke, Md.; Covington, Va.; Tyrone, Pa.; Williamsburg, Pa.; Mechanicville, N. Y., and Charleston, S. C.

Company officials estimate that approximately 4,800 of the 7,200 employes in the six plants will be eligible for membership June 1.

Explained In Booklet

Details of the proposed plan will be explained to hourly paid employes of the Luke plant by booklet, sound film, and other means. To be eligible for membership an employe must have reached age 30 and have been with the company at least one year. Employes who are eligible or will become eligible by June 1, 1948, may apply immediately. Employes becoming eligible later may join on the first of the month following the date they meet the requirements.

The plan, a company spokesman said, owes its origin in large part and several major changes in its main provisions to negotiations and discussions with union leaders, and other representatives of employes. In the course of these discussions the estimated cost for the company, if all eligible employes join, have increased from 3,750,000 for past service, and estimated annual accruals of 294,000 for future service, to $4,900,000 for past service and annual accruals of $410,000 for future service. The plan in its present form embodying these increases of approximately $1,200,000 for past service and $115,000 per year for future service was reviewed yesterday in Washington with officials of the UPA-CIO union representing hourly employes of the Luke plant.

Under the plan the company agrees to provide, without contributions by employes, all money needed to finance "past service benefits," that is, pension benefits granted for service prior to June 1, 1948.

Thereafter, employes who join the plan will contribute a small percentage of earnings each pay—between 2 and 2½ per cent toward "future service benefits." It is estimated that the company's contribution toward "future service benefits" will average about two dollars for each dollar the employes contribute.

Amount Will Vary

The pension a member of the plan will receive when he retires depends on how long he has been with the company since the age of 30 and his straight-time hourly rates of pay during that time. For employes who have been or stay with the company for the time covered by the plan—from age 30 to 65—the pension, together with regular Social Security payments, should provide an income adequate for reasonable comfort after retirement, company officials said.

Normally Retire At 65

Normal retirement age under the plan is 65 for most employes. For employes who are 56 or older on June 1, 1948, this is extended from one to five years. Retirement at 65, however, or at any other specific age, is not compulsory. If he wishes, the employe may continue to work after his "normal retirement age" for as long as he is able to keep up with the job.

Membership in the plan is voluntary. It is expected that the advantages of the plan will attract most employes as soon as they become eligible. Employes eligible on June 1, 1948, lose credit for "past service" if they fail to join by September 1, 1948.

for offices, and "spending the county's money when there is space available in the Library Annex."

Harris said he didn't need permission of the commissioners because the Acts of 1941 provide for rental of office space.

"I've made my proposal to the board and have been refused, so I'll file a petition with the Court," he declared.

Lewis M. Wilson said his construction of the law points out that the rental and other expense of the state's attorney's office must be reasonable, and payment of such expenses seems to be left to the discretion of the county commissioners.

The board took no action and Harris said he would let the Court decide.

Hadassah To Hold Annual Donor Luncheon-Meeting

Mrs. Lewis Serata To Be Speaker

Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah will hold its annual "Donor" luncheon-meeting on May 5 in the vestry room of B'er Chayim Temple. Mrs. Lewis Serata, Bridgeton, N. J., will be the guest speaker.

President of the Eastern Pennsylvania Region of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America and a member of the National Board of the organization, Mrs. Serata was founder and former president of her home chapter. She was one of the 28 Hadasah delegates to the World Zionist Congress in Switzerland in 1946 and served on the Cultural and Educational Commission.

Born on the Baron de Hirsch Colony at Alliance, N. J., which was founded in 1882 when Baron de Hirsch became interested in getting Jews out of Russia, she is a niece of the first baby born in this colony. After her graduation from Glassboro State Teachers' College, Mrs. Serata taught school and did library work.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock by members of Hadassah and favors in the form of Hadassah's helping hand booklets listing the names of donors will be distributed. Mrs. Robert Gerson is chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Louis Seder and Mrs. Marvin Kaplon.

Mrs. Louise Footen Is ACE President

Members of the Association of Childhood Education had election of officers and a program on UNESCO at a county-wide evening meeting Thursday at Centre Street Methodist Church Hall, with Mrs. Josephine Yarnall presiding.

Miss Mary Myers was elected president; Mrs. Louise Footen, first vice president; Mrs. Edith MacMannis, second vice president; Miss May Mease, corresponding secretary; Miss Helen Whitworth, recording secretary; and Miss Agnes Lauder, treasurer. Miss Mabel Twigg was chairman of the Nominating committee; which included Miss Marian Bevans and Mrs. Beulah Beck. Routine committee reports also were given.

A panel discussion with Miss Margaret King, chairman, was presented by Miss Esther Carter, Mrs. Nellie Dixon and Miss Anona Brehany. It was on "The UNESCO and You," and was divided into four parts, the organization, the purpose, the scope and the ACE's part in carrying out the program.

Mrs. Yarnall also reported on the recent meeting she had with the ACE state executive committee in St. Louis for a regional meeting in Baltimore in October. Westernport, Barton, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Oldtown and Cumberland were represented at the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Marion Michael's Circle.

John S. Gridley To Present Tenth Bach Recital Tuesday

John S. Gridley will present the tenth of his twelve annual recitals of the complete organ works of Johann Sebastian Bach, Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in First Presbyterian Church.

The program consists of the six "Schubler" chorales and the six sets of variations or partitas, and concludes with the chorale preludes which Bach, thinking worth preserving, grouped in five collections.

Mr. Gridley will first play seven Partitas on "O Christ who are the Light of the World," in which the variations are remarkable for invention and resource. The second number written by Bach in his extreme youth is "Nine Partitas on "O Gracious God," of which Mr. Gridley says, " it is significant that we already find pictorial treatment in some of the variations."

The third number, "Ten Partitas on "O What Shall I Do Poor Sinner" with its "remarkable cadenza" and the fourth, "Chorale and 17 Variations on "Glory Be to God on High," is a still more remarkable set than the preceding. There are 17 variations which display a wonderful inventive power in the early period. The final number in this group, "Chorale and 11 Variations on "Hail to Thee, Blessed Jesus," clearly shows that Bach worked at this arrangement at three different times.

The final group includes, "Awake, Hear the Call of Watchmen," "Whither Shall I Flee?" "He That Suffereth God to Guide Him," "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord," "Abide With Us, O Lord Jesus Christ," which is a wonderful example of Bach's power of expression by three melodic lines; "Descend, O Jesus, from Heaven to Earth," and the final selection, "Five Canonic Variations on "Out of High Heaven Have I Come."

In the latter, Mr. Gridley explains, "Bach's purpose was to pack into a single chorale the whole art of canon. There are five variations here and Bach gives fresh proof that it was not the mere fascination of technical difficulties to overcome that led him to adopt these elaborate forms in his later works, but that his musical sense grew deeper and imperatively demanded new modes of utterances.

It will consist of Walter Maloney, pianist, who will accompany all the acts and do a specialty number; the Dee Sisters, a novelty dance team; Jockey Stiles, an impersonator and Arlene Colyer, who does a novelty act on the marimba, working in the dark with "stroblite." Dancing with Marty Flynn and his Society Ramblers from 9:30 until 12:30 will follow.

Harold C. Wickard is general chairman assisted by Paul Heuer, Kenneth S. Hopwood, and Lawrence H. Shafferman.

Mrs. Frank Edgington To Address Association

"What Price Freedom" will be the topic of the talk by Mrs. Frank Edgington, Washington, at the meeting of the Woman's Association of First Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock Monday night. A teacher of a large Bible class in Abraham Lincoln's New York Avenue Church, Mrs. Edgington is active in Presbyterian and Synodical work.

Mrs. Frederick C. Haas will preside. Mrs. J. D. Eisenberger will conduct the devotionals and Mrs. Frank A. Hott, Keyser, will be vocalist. Members of the WSCS of Centre Street Methodist Church have been invited to attend.

Members of the Warfield-Smith and Ingles-Boughton Circles will serve as hostesses for the social hour concluding the evening.

Choral Society, Armstrong Concert Planned Monday

The Cumberland Choral Society will present a popular concert, with Bernie Armstrong, Pittsburgh, as organ soloist, Monday night, opening Music Week. Its spring concert will be given at Allegany High School auditorium, beginning at 8:30, with Jack E. Platt directing.

Three groups of numbers will be presented by the Choral Society and Armstrong will be presented twice. Soloists on this concert include: James Hager, Fort Hill High School, singing, "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child;" Drucilla Schriner, solos in selections from Carousel, and Aden Lewis featured in several numbers including Chopin's "Hymn To Music."

The chorus composed of 75 voices also will have "Open Your Eyes" and "Upon the Day of Judgement" in its first group of songs. After Armstrong's first group of selected and spontaneous numbers the chorus will sing, "Waters Ripple and Flow," a Czechoslovakian folk song, "Coming Through the Rye," and "Dry Bones," from Waring's series.

After the intermission another group of numbers will be presented and will end with selections from "Carousel," "So Beats My Heart for You," Tom Waring; and a spiritual called "In That Great Getting Up Morning."

Special buses will leave Baltimore Street for the concert at 8 and 8:15. The final rehearsal of the chorus will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Allegany High School auditorium.

The slogan, "Hear America First," is being featured by hundreds of music clubs from coast to coast during the nation-wide observance of National Music Week, May 2 to 8, inclusive, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. Besides following the lead of the National and Inter-American committee in stressing music of all the Americas, special emphasis will be laid upon performances of the compositions of native born or naturalized composers. The federation has urged that contemporary compositions be stressed on May 7, which has been set aside as American Music Day.

Music Teachers Will Get Technique Training

Miss Dorothy Willison, Allegany High School, and Miss Annetta Yates, Fort Hill High School, will spend today in Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore, working with Dr Lara Hoggard of Waring's Pennsylvanians.

Dr. Hoggard has asked music teachers from all over Maryland to come to Baltimore today to receive training in his technique, because he will conduct the All-State Chorus at the State Teachers Convention in Baltimore on October 6, 7, 8 and 9.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Woman, Interested In Nursing, Told Cadet Nurse Corps Was Dissolved

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a junior in high school and am interested in nursing as a career. Could you tell me if there is a Cadet Nurse Corps, as there was during the war?

"SHORTY."

Dear "Shorty":

The Cadet Nurse Corps was dissolved following the end of the war.

The only way that I know for a girl to get nursing training is to enter a hospital as a student nurse and go through the regular hospital course. You can get information about these courses from any local hospital.

If you wish to take training at one of the large medical centers in the country, such as the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City or the Cornell University-New York Hospital Medical Center, you should write a letter to the School of Nursing at any one of the centers and ask for information.

Interested In Married Man

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 20, and much interested in a married man who is the father of two children. He tells me he has never loved his wife and would leave her for me. Although he says he loves me and has shown it in so many ways, I sometimes have doubts whether I would be happy with him. He always has to have his way and sometimes has a nasty disposition. He also liked to drink but hasn't touched a drop for awhile now and promised he would stop.

My parents object to this man. They think he's only saying he never loved his wife for an excuse, because she is a fine woman, and they say that later on he would do the same thing to me that he's doing to her now.

Should I keep on with him and give up my family, or forget him? Do you think I could ever be happy with him? He is 37 years old.

"DISGUSTED."

Dear "Disgusted":

I would hardly think it was necessary for you to ask what you should do. Any sensible girl of your age should be able to decide such a thing in a hurry without having to ask anybody.

There isn't a thing that you can say about this man that would give an one any confidence in him whatsoever. Nor is there anything that makes me understand even faintly why you should ever have given him a second thought.

If you give up your family for him, you are going to be a very sorry girl in a very short time.

Go to Church this Sunday, your Church, any Church, but go!

Spring Beauty

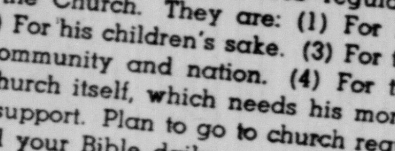
Who among us does not welcome that first warm day of spring when we discover a bough of blossoms? On that day, the whole out-of-doors seems to come to life again with new pleasure and new meaning.

Winter has passed, and we wonder at the changes that have brought such beauty to the drab, cold scene. Only by the hand of God can sun and rain and air and light change snow-time into spring.

The clear, fresh face of this happy little girl seems to reflect the seasons' change. She seems almost to match the blossoms.

She too must have the care of God to make her thrive and bloom. The Church is God's way of producing the beauty of spring in a human soul. The Church stands ready and eager to train our children, morally and ethically, and to give them a finer way of life.

Bring your children and those of your neighbors to the Church. Help them to develop fine virtues. Let the Church help keep them from the winter of a Godless life.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Go to Church this Sunday, your Church, any Church, but go!

Spring Beauty

Who among us does not welcome that first warm day of spring when we discover a bough of blossoms? On that day, the whole out-of-doors seems to come to life again with new pleasure and new meaning.

Winter has passed, and we wonder at the changes that have brought such beauty to the drab, cold scene. Only by the hand of God can sun and rain and air and light change snow-time into spring.

The clear, fresh face of this happy little girl seems to reflect the seasons' change. She seems almost to match the blossoms.

She too must have the care of God to make her thrive and bloom. The Church is God's way of producing the beauty of spring in a human soul. The Church stands ready and eager to train our children, morally and ethically, and to give them a finer way of life.

Bring your children and those of your neighbors to the Church. Help them to develop fine virtues. Let the Church help keep them from the winter of a Godless life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Six Slated To Go Postward In Kentucky Derby

Place, Show Betting Are Out On Race

Citation, Coaltown Are Co-Favorites

By GAYLE TALBOT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—Seven three-year olds today were entered in tomorrow's 74th running of the Kentucky Derby but before nightfall Galebo, a surprise entry, was scratched.

The remaining entries included two terrific race horses and four other animals with the required number of legs and ears.

The pair of bullets, of course, are Citation and Coaltown, the amazing entry from Calumet Farm. They are expected by most observers to fight it out down the stretch for top money in the rich classic for three-year-olds.

This duo has established itself such strong favorites that Churchill Downs officials announced only straight betting in the mutuels will allowed.

Only Win Betting

It will be the first time since 1905 that win betting only has been accepted on a Kentucky Derby. The limit was established by Col. Matt Winn, Downs president, because of the certainty of a "minus" pool if place and show betting are permitted.

In addition to the Calumet pair, the other thoroughbreds, whose owners parted with $1,000 each to cover the entry fee, were Ben Whitaker's My Request, W. L. Brann's Escadru, R. W. McIlvain's Billings and Mrs. John P. Adams' Grandpere.

Tomorrow's Derby field will be the smallest since 1907.

When Pink Star ran off from five rivals. With six stepping the mile and a quarter, the net pay-off to the winner will be $83,400. Assault pocketed a record $96,400 two years back, when 17 ran.

The prospect of a skimpy field and the strong possibility that the boxholders will witness no more than a match race between stablemates boasting the same pappy, Bull Lea, didn't seem to be keeping anybody home.

Louisville's hotels are packed to their usual Derby capacity, which is far beyond the point of comfort, and the city's sidewalks and streets could use stretching to about twice their present width. Col. Matt Winn, who runs the Derby, talks casually of a probable crowd of 100,000.

Gates will open soon after dawn, and the first race on the Derby program is scheduled at 11:30 a. m. (CST). The big event, seventh on the card, is down for 4:30 p. m., somewhat earlier than in past years.

In the draw for post positions, Galedo, the 100-to-1 shot, drew the rail, with Citation No. 2 and the others fanning out in this order: Coaltown, Escadru, Grandpere, Billings and My Request. With Galedo out of it, Citation and Coaltown will start as a team on the inside—as though they need small favors.

Winner May Pay 20 Cents

Purely as a guess, the Calumet entry figures to open at about a 1-5 odds-on favorite, and to zoom to around 1-10 by the time the money stops pouring into the mutuel windows. The best a man betting on Citation and Coaltown can expect to collect is $2.20 on each $2 ticket. Winn has promised to pay that much.

My Request, winner of the Wood Memorial and both Experimental Handicaps at Jamaica in recent months, is expected to open as second choice at about 6-1, with Escadru 12-1, Billings 20-1, and Grandpere 40-1. Jimmy Conway, trainer of My Request, isn't at all convinced his horse can't give the Calumet Comets a run for their money.

As experts who know both colts well envision tomorrow's race, Coaltown will streak it out of the gate and build up a quick four or five lengths lead, no matter how hard his veteran rider, Newbold Pierson, tries to hold him down. Citation will drop back quickly into the pack and probably not make his move until Eddie Arcaro shakes him up coming around the final bend.

As to what will happen after that, the same experts are in wide disagreement. The Citation backers are sticking strongly with their horse. They know he won't run out of breath in the stretch, and they think that Coaltown might.

Ellerslie Wins Overtime Battle

Tops Allegany Grove In Eight Innings, 8-7

Ellerslie defeated Allegany Grove by the score of 8 to 7 in an extra inning County Softball League contest at Ellerslie.

Breese's single scoring Shroyer broke a 7-7 deadlock in the 8th inning after Ellerslie had come from behind to knot the count with a three-run rally in the seventh. It was Ellerslie's second straight win in the league.

Shroyer paced the Ellerslie attack with two doubles and two singles while Wertz banged a homer for the Grovers.

Potomac Valley made it three straight wins in league competition by downing the Corner Merchants at Pinto by the score of 5-1. The league leaders obtained only two hits but were aided by the wildness of Young who issued seven bases on balls. Humbertson obtained two of the Merchants' four safeties.

Although outhit 18 to 9, Corriganville marked up its second win of the week by taking the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company into camp by the score of 5-3. John Cook collected four of the telephone company team's 18 bingles while Dave Mosser hit safely three times for the winners.

Narrows Park snapped a two-game losing streak by topping the Hyndman Firemen, 6-2, at Narrows Park. Wolz held the Firemen to three hits, one a two-bagger by John Ritchey. R. Troutman obtained two of the Parkers' six safeties.

Bedford Road emerged victorious over Wellersburg at Bedford Road Field by the score of 13-8.

B. Miles had a perfect day at the plate for Bedford Road with four for four while Kennell and Robinette each hit safely thrice in four trips for the Pennsylvania team. The scores:

Yankee Hurler Wins Third Game Of Year

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—The New York Yankees crushed the Boston Red Sox today, 6-0, on four home runs over the left field wall, two by Steve Souchock and one each by Bill Johnson and Johnny Lindell.

Allie Reynolds became the first three-time winner in the American league by blanking the power-laden Sox with six hits, all singles. It was the Yankees' fifth straight victory and their third in four meetings with Joe McCarthy's Boston gang.

As the Yanks hit three home runs yesterday against Washington, today's assault made it seven in two games. Their season total now is 12 in nine starts. Oddly enough, yesterday's home run hitters all were on the bench today against a southpaw. They were Charley Keller, Yogi Berra and McQuinn.

Joe DiMaggio's third-inning double, his only hit, stretched his batting streak to seven consecutive games. Ted Williams went hitless. Box:

DETROIT, April 30. (AP)—Using only six hits to score runs—four of them unearned—off Hal Newhouser, the Chicago White Sox swept a two-game series from the Detroit Tigers with their second straight 5 to 4 victory today.

Held to two scratchy singles by Newhouser in the first seven innings, the Sox bunched four hits in the eighth to soak Newhouser with his third straignt loss. First baseman George Vico's error made three of Chicago's four eighth inning markers tainted and catcher Bob Swift's throwing error let the other Sox run score in the fifth. Box:

Fort Hill, Allegany Entered In Events

COLLEGE PARK, Md. April 30—(AP) — More than 450 high school track athletes from Maryland, Washington and Virginia will compete tomorrow in the University of Maryland's 27th annual field day.

Director Jim Kehoe has received entries from 32 high schools. They will compete in 15 open events and nine limited to Maryland county school representatives.

Fort Hill of Cumberland is defending team champion in the county division while Washington Lee High of Arlington, Va., captured the open division last year.

Schools entered are:

County—Allegany, Annapolis, Bel Air, Bladensburg, Catonsville, Clarkesville, Dublin, Dundalk, Fort Hill, Frederick, Hagerstown, Havre De Grace, Laurel, Manchester, Montgomery, Richard Montgomery, Washington and Westminster.

Bucs Sweep Two-Game Series With Chicago

CHICAGO, April 30.—(INS)—Eight Pittsburgh runners pattered across the plate in a low-comedy second inning today, and that was more than enough to give the Pirates a 10 to 4 victory and a sweep of their bob-tailed two-game set with the Cubs.

Three Chicago pitchers, with Rookie Bob Rush first only in point of arrival and departure, collaborated to yield five walks, five hits and a wild pitch in the second frame and hand the game to Pittsburgh starter Rip Sewell. Rush was the loser. Box:

SAIN BEATS GIANTS

NEW YORK, Apri 30—(INS)—The New York Giants' lead over Pittsburgh in the National League race was cut to only half a game today when the Giants lost to the Boston Braves, 7 to 2.

Five home runs accounted for all but two of the runs. Tommy Holmes, Bob Elliott and Jeff Heath of the Braves hit for the circuit, and four-baggers by Whitey Lockman and Willard Marshall gave the Giants both their tallies.

Johnny Sain held the Giants to five hits. Ray Poat, New York's starting pitcher, was bothered by a finger blister. Box:

CINCINNATI, April 30 — (AP) — Scoring in six of the nine innings, with a seven-run rash in the seventh, the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the daylights out of the Cincinnati Reds here today, 13 to 7.

Eddie Dyer's boys, who have National League pennant ambitions, hit five pitchers for 17 safeties, including a grand slam homer by Joe Gargiola in the big seventh, which broke a 5-5 tie.

Stan Musial continued his batting rampage too, with a homer, two doubles and two singles in six trips to the plate to drive in four runs—the same as yesterday. Box:

Allegany Scores Over Beall, 10-4

Lease Hits For Cycle, Jim Clingan Is Winner

Allegany High School marked up its second straight win in the Bi-State Conference and its fifth straight victory of the season yesterday by turning back Beall High School at Campobello to the tune of 10-4.

It was Beall's third straight setback in the six-team circuit.

Jim Lease hit for the cycle for the Campers by clouting a homer, triple, double and single in four official trips to the plate. Clites, See and McGregor connected for two hits each, both of the latter's blows being two-baggers. Earl "Lefty" Bruce, AHS centerfielder, also hit for the circuit as Allegany touched Scarpelli for 13 safeties.

Jim Clingan hurled the first five frames for the Campers. He yielded six hits and fanned seven. Perrell finished on the mound for the locals.

Locke Holds Lead In Capital Open

Bobby's 131 Gives Him 4-Stroke Edge

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — Another way-below-par round today—this time, a 66—gave Bobby Locke a four stroke halfway lead in the National Capital Open Golf Tournament.

The South African was far too good for the others as the Johannesburg ace almost made it a one-man show. His seven under par 65 yesterday earned him a two-shot edge after the opening round. Today's 66 brought a 36-hole total of 131—four big strokes ahead of Skip Alexander's 69-66—135.

Their 66's were the day's low rounds.

One stroke back was Cary Middlecoff of Memphis with 136. He scored a 67 today to go with his opening 69.

Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., tacked a 70 today on to his opening 68 for 138 and fourth place. A trio was bracketed at 140, Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, California, 70-70; Ed Furgol, Pontiac, Michigan, 79-69; and Walter Romans, Baltimore, 67-73. Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., and Herman Keiser, Akron, had 141's.

The 142 group included all the national champions—open king Lew Worsham of Pittsburgh; amateur ruler Skee Riegel of Upper Darby, Pa., and P.G.A. Champion Jim Ferrier, of Chicago. Worsham had 69-73, Riegel duplicated his opening 71 and Ferrier jumped to 74 after a 68 start.

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

Clarence "Buck" Shaw shut out LaSalle High School on three hits yesterday as Fort Hill scored its third straight Bi-State Conference triumph over the Explorers at Stitcher Field. The score was 1-0.

Fort Hill scored its lone run without the aid of any of the four hits garnered off LaSalle's Lefty Pat Creegan. Mil Dean, leadoff man for the Sentinels, walked to open the first inning, stole second, went to third as Dick Leo threw out Jimmy Eckard and came home on Jim Manges' slow roller to Farris Sines at first.

Creegan Fans Twelve

Creegan had the Sentinels handcuffed most of the way, setting down 12 of the 27 men who faced him on strikes. He walked four and bounced one pitch off Shaw's head.

LaSalle was never able to threaten during any inning. The Explorers sent four men to the plate in the first two frames, then had only three batters face Shaw in the remaining five innings. Scrappy field play kept the Explorers from going any farther than second base. Two players, Jimmy Close and Leo, reached the keystone sack; but both got there on stolen bases.

Leo opened the second inning with a tremendous smash to the right-center bank. Ronnie Cage climbed the bank, took the ball and pegged to Dean who threw wide to Eckard, the Sentinel third-sacker trapping the ball, but Leo didn't go any farther than first on the hit.

Outfielders Collide

LaSalle presented a minor threat in the last of the seventh as Close singled through short into left field. Joe Reissig, lifted a fly to center. Cage took the ball, was knocked down by Dean coming over from leftfield, but held onto the ball. Leo went down swinging and Birmingham threw out Close with a peg to Charlie Lattimer at second to end the game.

Fort Hill loaded the bases in the third inning but failed to score. "Gabby" Birmingham opened the inning with a single over second into center field. Creegan beaned Shaw and Burke was put on to run for the Sentinel flinger. Dean, attempting to bunt, was out Creegan to Sines. Eckard's fielder's choice forced Birmingham at third on a peg from Creegan. Manges smashed a liner off Creegan's glove to load the sacks, but Cage struck out on three pitches.

Sentinels Threaten

Again in the fifth Fort Hill threatened. Birmingham walked to open the inning. Shaw struck out on four pitches and Dean went down swinging. Eckard reached first when Close bobbled his grounder. Manges smashed a single to right, but "Skippy" Beck's bullet peg to Farrell caught Birmingham at the plate for the third out.

Creegan retired Fort Hill on strikes in the seventh. He got George Stevenson on three pitches, beached a 3-2 count on Birmingham before forcing him to bite and set Shaw down on four pitches.

Ronnie Cage retired the Explorers in the sixth frame. He took Creegan's blooper hit to short center, backed up near the bank to take Clark's liner in deep center and made a running catch of Jimmy Collins's drive into right-center.

All of the seven hits in the game were singles.

Manges led both teams with two hits. Lattimer and Birmingham got the other Hilltopper safeties while Close, Leo, and Sines connected once each for LaSalle.

The victory was the third straight for Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's nine in Bi-State play and their first in City League competition. Coach Art Garbark's boys have split in two loop appearances and this was their first city loop start. Box:

Six Slated To Go Postward In Kentucky Derby

Place, Show Betting Are Out On Race

By GAYLE TALBOT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—Seven three-year olds today were entered in tomorrow's 74th running of the Kentucky Derby but before nightfall Galebo, a surprise entry, was scratched.

The remaining entries included two terrific race horses and four other animals with the required number of legs and ears.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON KENTUCKY DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—Here are the facts and figures on Saturday's 74th running of the Kentucky Derby:

Weather: partly cloudy, warmer. Possible scattered showers.

Place: Churchill Downs.

Post time: 4:30 p. m., Central Standard Time.

Number of starters: probably six although seven entered.

Favorite: Citation or Coaltown, both owned by Calumet Farm.

Purse: $100,000 added money.

Value to winner: between $80,000 and $85,000, depending upon the number of starters.

Crowd: more than 100,000.

Broadcast: CBS (4:15 p. m. Central Standard Time).

The pair of bullets, of course, are Citation and Coaltown, the amazing entry from Calumet Farm. They are expected by most observers to fight it out down the stretch for top money in the rich classic for three-year-olds.

This duo has established itself such strong favorites that Churchill Downs officials announced only straight betting in the mutuels will allowed.

Only Win Betting

It will be the first time since 1905 that win betting only has been accepted on a Kentucky Derby. The limit was established by Col. Matt Winn, Downs president, because of the certainty of a "minus" pool if place and show betting are permitted.

In addition to the Calumet pair, the other thoroughbreds, whose owners parted with $1,000 each to cover the entry fee, were Ben Whitaker's My Request, W. L. Brann's Escadru, R. W. McIlvain's Billings and Mrs. John P. Adams' Grandpere.

Tomorrow's Derby field will be the smallest since 1907.

When Pink Star ran off from five rivals. With six stepping the mile and a quarter, the net pay-off to the winner will be $83,400. Assault pocketed a record $96,400 two years back, when 17 ran.

The prospect of a skimpy field and the strong possibility that the boxholders will witness no more than a match race between stablemates boasting the same pappy, Bull Lea, didn't seem to be keeping anybody home.

Louisville's hotels are packed to their usual Derby capacity, which is far beyond the point of comfort, and the city's sidewalks and streets could use stretching to about twice their present width. Col. Matt Winn, who runs the Derby, talks casually of a probable crowd of 100,000.

Gates will open soon after dawn, and the first race on the Derby program is scheduled at 11:30 a. m. (CST). The big event, seventh on the card, is down for 4:30 p. m., somewhat earlier than in past years.

In the draw for post positions, Galedo, the 100-to-1 shot, drew the rail, with Citation No. 2 and the others fanning out in this order: Coaltown, Escadru, Grandpere, Billings and My Request. With Galedo out of it, Citation and Coaltown will start as a team on the inside—as though they need small favors.

Winner May Pay 20 Cents

Purely as a guess, the Calumet entry figures to open at about a 1-5 odds-on favorite, and to zoom to around 1-10 by the time the money stops pouring into the mutuel windows. The best a man betting on Citation and Coaltown can expect to collect is $2.20 on each $2 ticket. Winn has promised to pay that much.

My Request, winner of the Wood Memorial and both Experimental Handicaps at Jamaica in recent months, is expected to open as second choice at about 6-1, with Escadru 12-1, Billings 20-1, and Grandpere 40-1. Jimmy Conway, trainer of My Request, isn't at all convinced his horse can't give the Calumet Comets a run for their money.

As experts who know both colts well envision tomorrow's race, Coaltown will streak it out of the gate and build up a quick four or five lengths lead, no matter how hard his veteran rider, Newbold Pierson, tries to hold him down. Citation will drop back quickly into the pack and probably not make his move until Eddie Arcaro shakes him up coming around the final bend.

As to what will happen after that, the same experts are in wide disagreement. The Citation backers are sticking strongly with their horse. They know he won't run out of breath in the stretch, and they think that Coaltown might.

Ellerslie Wins Overtime Battle

Tops Allegany Grove In Eight Innings, 8-7

Ellerslie defeated Allegany Grove by the score of 8 to 7 in an extra inning County Softball League contest at Ellerslie.

Breese's single scoring Shroyer broke a 7-7 deadlock in the 8th inning after Ellerslie had come from behind to knot the count with a three-run rally in the seventh. It was Ellerslie's second straight win in the league.

Shroyer paced the Ellerslie attack with two doubles and two singles while Wertz banged a homer for the Grovers.

Potomac Valley made it three straight wins in league competition by downing the Corner Merchants at Pinto by the score of 5-1. The league leaders obtained only two hits but were aided by the wildness of Young who issued seven bases on balls. Humbertson obtained two of the Merchants' four safeties.

Although outhit 18 to 9, Corriganville marked up its second win of the week by taking the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company into camp by the score of 5-3. John Cook collected four of the telephone company team's 18 bingles while Dave Mosser hit safely three times for the winners.

Narrows Park snapped a two-game losing streak by topping the Hyndman Firemen, 6-2, at Narrows Park. Wolz held the Firemen to three hits, one a two-bagger by John Ritchey. R. Troutman obtained two of the Parkers' six safeties.

Bedford Road emerged victorious over Wellersburg at Bedford Road Field by the score of 13-8.

B. Miles had a perfect day at the plate for Bedford Road with four for four while Kennell and Robinette each hit safely thrice in four trips for the Pennsylvania team. The scores:

Yankee Hurler Wins Third Game Of Year

BOSTON, April 30—(AP)—The New York Yankees crushed the Boston Red Sox today, 6-0, on four home runs over the left field wall, two by Steve Souchock and one each by Bill Johnson and Johnny Lindell.

Allie Reynolds became the first three-time winner in the American league by blanking the power-laden Sox with six hits, all singles. It was the Yankees' fifth straight victory and their third in four meetings with Joe McCarthy's Boston gang.

As the Yanks hit three home runs yesterday against Washington, today's assault made it seven in two games. Their season total now is 12 in nine starts. Oddly enough, yesterday's home run hitters all were on the bench today against a southpaw. They were Charley Keller, Yogi Berra and McQuinn.

Joe DiMaggio's third-inning double, his only hit, stretched his batting streak to seven consecutive games. Ted Williams went hitless. Box:

Allegany Scores Over Beall, 10-4

Lease Hits For Cycle, Jim Clingan Is Winner

Allegany High School marked up its second straight win in the Bi-State Conference and its fifth straight victory of the season yesterday by turning back Beall High School at Campobello to the tune of 10-4.

It was Beall's third straight setback in the six-team circuit.

Jim Lease hit for the cycle for the Campers by clouting a homer, triple, double and single in four official trips to the plate. Clites, See and McGregor connected for two hits each, both of the latter's blows being two-baggers. Earl "Lefty" Bruce, AHS centerfielder, also hit for the circuit as Allegany touched Scarpelli for 13 safeties.

Jim Clingan hurled the first five frames for the Campers. He yielded six hits and fanned seven. Perrell finished on the mound for the locals.

Bobby's 131 Gives Him 4-Stroke Edge

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — Another way-below-par round today—this time, a 66—gave Bobby Locke a four stroke halfway lead in the National Capital Open Golf Tournament.

The South African was far too good for the others as the Johannesburg ace almost made it a one-man show. His seven under par 65 yesterday earned him a two-shot edge after the opening round. Today's 66 brought a 36-hole total of 131—four big strokes ahead of Skip Alexander's 69-66—135.

Their 66's were the day's low rounds.

One stroke back was Cary Middlecoff of Memphis with 136. He scored a 67 today to go with his opening 69.

Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., tacked a 70 today on to his opening 68 for 138 and fourth place. A trio was bracketed at 140, Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, California, 70-70; Ed Furgol, Pontiac, Michigan, 79-69; and Walter Romans, Baltimore, 67-73. Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., and Herman Keiser, Akron, had 141's.

The 142 group included all the national champions—open king Lew Worsham of Pittsburgh; amateur ruler Skee Riegel of Upper Darby, Pa., and P.G.A. Champion Jim Ferrier, of Chicago. Worsham had 69-73, Riegel duplicated his opening 71 and Ferrier jumped to 74 after a 68 start.

Young "Lefty" Appel To Make Debut Today

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh came up with a new pitcher yesterday in the person of Robert "Lefty" Appel, son of the one-time local southpaw star of the same name.

The young lefthander will make his debut today when the Sentinels play Massanutten Academy at Woodstock, Va. The squad will leave this morning at 10 o'clock.

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

Clarence "Buck" Shaw shut out LaSalle High School on three hits yesterday as Fort Hill scored its third straight Bi-State Conference triumph over the Explorers at Stitcher Field. The score was 1-0.

Fort Hill scored its lone run without the aid of any of the four hits garnered off LaSalle's Lefty Pat Creegan. Mil Dean, leadoff man for the Sentinels, walked to open the first inning, stole second, went to third as Dick Leo threw out Jimmy Eckard and came home on Jim Manges' slow roller to Farris Sines at first.

Creegan Fans Twelve

Creegan had the Sentinels handcuffed most of the way, setting down 12 of the 27 men who faced him on strikes. He walked four and bounced one pitch off Shaw's head.

LaSalle was never able to threaten during any inning. The Explorers sent four men to the plate in the first two frames, then had only three batters face Shaw in the remaining five innings. Scrappy field play kept the Explorers from going any farther than second base. Two players, Jimmy Close and Leo, reached the keystone sack; but both got there on stolen bases.

Leo opened the second inning with a tremendous smash to the right-center bank. Ronnie Cage climbed the bank, took the ball and pegged to Dean who threw wide to Eckard, the Sentinel third-sacker trapping the ball, but Leo didn't go any farther than first on the hit.

Outfielders Collide

LaSalle presented a minor threat in the last of the seventh as Close singled through short into left field. Joe Reissig, lifted a fly to center. Cage took the ball, was knocked down by Dean coming over from leftfield, but held onto the ball. Leo went down swinging and Birmingham threw out Close with a peg to Charlie Lattimer at second to end the game.

Fort Hill loaded the bases in the third inning but failed to score. "Gabby" Birmingham opened the inning with a single over second into center field. Creegan beaned Shaw and Burke was put on to run for the Sentinel flinger. Dean, attempting to bunt, was out Creegan to Sines. Eckard's fielder's choice forced Birmingham at third on a peg from Creegan. Manges smashed a liner off Creegan's glove to load the sacks, but Cage struck out on three pitches.

Sentinels Threaten

Again in the fifth Fort Hill threatened. Birmingham walked to open the inning. Shaw struck out on four pitches and Dean went down swinging. Eckard reached first when Close bobbled his grounder. Manges smashed a single to right, but "Skippy" Beck's bullet peg to Farrell caught Birmingham at the plate for the third out.

Creegan retired Fort Hill on strikes in the seventh. He got George Stevenson on three pitches, beached a 3-2 count on Birmingham before forcing him to bite and set Shaw down on four pitches.

Ronnie Cage retired the Explorers in the sixth frame. He took Creegan's blooper hit to short center, backed up near the bank to take Clark's liner in deep center and made a running catch of Jimmy Collins's drive into right-center.

All of the seven hits in the game were singles.

Manges led both teams with two hits. Lattimer and Birmingham got the other Hilltopper safeties while Close, Leo, and Sines connected once each for LaSalle.

The victory was the third straight for Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's nine in Bi-State play and their first in City League competition. Coach Art Garbark's boys have split in two loop appearances and this was their first city loop start. Box:

The object of this suit is to secure the adoption by the petitioners of Edward Charles Metz, infant son of the Defendants.

Metz, his wife, is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard of, was supposed to have been in the state of West Virginia.

It is thereupon, this 23rd day of April, 1948, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that a copy of this order be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks, before the 25th day of May, 1948, giving notification to the said Mattie A. Metz of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be and appear in Court, in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 10th day of June, 1948, to show cause if any she may have why the decree ought not be passed as prayed.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Leslie E Oster and Pansy L. Oster, his wife, vs. Glendon A. Metz, and Mattie A. Metz, his wife, No. 20641 Equity in the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to secure the adoption by the petitioners of Glendon A. Metz, Jr., infant son born to the Defendants.

The Petition states that the couple were married in 1934, are residents of the state of Maryland, and have no children born to them of their marriage; that they have had the infant son of the Defendants in their possession for the past several weeks, have become deeply attached to it, and now wish to adopt him. That the Defendant, Mattie A. Metz, left and abandoned her home and children on March 15, 1948, and has not been seen or heard of since, except that rumor has it that she is in West Virginia. That the Defendant Glendon A. Metz is a resident of the state of Maryland.

IT is thereupon this 23rd day of April, 1948, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that a copy of this order be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, once each week for four successive weeks, before the 25th day of May, 1948, giving notification to the absentee Mattie A. Metz of the object and substance of these proceedings, and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 10th day of June, 1948, to show cause, if any she may have why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

School Pupil Insurance Gets Necessary Backing

A voluntary insurance plan which would cover school pupils from the time they left home for school in the morning until they returned home, was endorsed Thursday night by Maryland public school principals and superintendents during a Baltimore meeting.

Dr. Thomas C. Ferguson, state supervisor of physical education, outlined the plan at the opening session of the conference. One of the prerequisites is that at least 25 per cent of all students must enroll before it becomes operative.

Under the plan, the student would be compensated for any injury suffered enroute to and from school, at school, and in any extracurricular activity, including athletics, sponsored by their school.

Frostburg Elks To Discuss Plan For Improvements

Meeting Scheduled Tuesday Evening

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B.P.O. Elks, will hold an important meeting Tuesday evening, May 4, when members will be asked to express themselves for or against a plan for enlarging and improving the present lodge home.

Letters over the signatures of William B. Byers, exalted ruler, and Joseph H. Spates, secretary, have been mailed to all members urging their attendance at the meeting.

The present lodge home, purchased from Mrs. Lawrence D. Willison in February, 1939, was dedicated in May, 1940. The mortgage of $26,000 was burned as a feature of the dedication.

Since the new home was occupied eight years ago the lodge membership has increased considerably, and the proposal to enlarge the building has been under discussion for the past two years.

Improvements Made

Chairs of the primary and beginners' department of the Sunday School of St. Paul's Lutheran Church have been re-decorated with paint of several colors. The work is preliminary to other improvements planned in the Sunday School department. The primary room work was done by Miss Virginia Boyer, Mrs. Bone and Mrs. Earl Boyer.

Work in the beginners' department was done under direction of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fresh, who were assisted by James Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kreiling, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Small, Mrs. Betty Lee Layman and John Geis.

The contract for decorating the vestibule in the choir room of the church has been awarded to Edward Watkins, who will complete the work within a week.

Undergoes Operation

William Spates, president of the Palace-Lyric Theater Company, this city, is a patient in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where he underwent an operation yesterday for embolism of the eye. He was accompanied to Baltimore by his wife, the former Miss Louise Speir, and Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, R. N., who will be on nursing duty for Mr. Spates while he is in the hospital. While in Baltimore, Mrs. Spates will be the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Speir.

COMMISSIONER-ELECT — W. W. Sluss, Jr., will be sworn in Monday as a city commissioner of Frostburg at the first meeting of the recently elected city council. He is the only newcomer to the council

Boy Is Injured

James Kidwell, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kidwell, Eckhart, is a patient in Miners Hospital after suffering a fractured skull in a bicycle mishap last Saturday.

The accident occurred when he and his brother, John, 11, were en route from their home to the Eckhart postoffice on a bicycle. The bicycle skidded on the road in front of the Eckhart Methodist Church, injuring the younger boy, who was riding in the rear. His brother was unhurt.

Exhibit Planned

The Frostburg Homemakers and Frostburg 4-H Club will display an exhibit by members of the two clubs in the Broadway show window of the Potomac Edison Company from Sunday, May 2, until Saturday, May 8.

The exhibit will include "The Homemakers Creed" and the proclamation of Governor Preston Lane, proclaiming May 2 to 8 as National Home Demonstration Week. Both the Homemakers and the 4-H Club are planning several events for the coming week.

Plan Bake Sale

Star of Frostburg Council No. 93, Daughters of America, will hold a bake sale at Skidmore's Store, East Main Street, today at 9:30 a. m. Members should contact Mrs. Elizabet Layman, chairman of the committee, in regard to donations. The money is being raised for the rally fund, when the organization will entertain the state officers.

Program Scheduled

The Eppley Eisters Gospel Quintette, Manchester, Pa., will present a vocal and instrumental program at First English Baptist Church Sunday night at 7:30.

Some of the girls are graduates of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., and others of the Dumire School of Music, Harrisburg, Pa.

Garrett County Future Farmers Participate In State Field Day

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND — Representatives of the four chapters of Future Farmers of America in the county high schools participated in the annual state-wide vocational agriculture field day at the University of Maryland, and won a number of state awards.

James Pope, Grantsville, winner of the county public speaking contest placed second in the state contest and was awarded $50 through the national FFA foundation. He spoke on "Atomic Energy in the Future of Agriculture." Winner was Max Smith, Hagerstown, who spoke on "Hidden Hunger."

In the state-wide FFA poultry judging and egg candling contest, under the direction of Prof. Wade H. Rice, the Grantsville team, composed of Homer Durst and Donald Glotfelty, won the second prize pennant. Durst also won $6 for fifth individual place while Glotfelty placed 15th for a $5 award.

Donald Frantz and Hobert Bowser, Accident, placed ninth, with the Oakland team, William Fitzwater and Willis DeBerry, trailing by two points for 11th place. DeBerry won sixth individual place and $5. Glenn Selby and Bernard Friend judged poultry and candled eggs as Friendsville representatives. Thirty-nine teams competed in poultry judging.

Dale Custer, Oakland, won third place pennant in the new farm mechanics contest, held for the first time with 24 schools represented. He was awarded a hammer and $4. Reed Friend, Friendsville, won $3, and 12th place. Allen Hanft, Accident, and Richard Bender, Grantsville, were also entered.

Ross Sines and Harland Beachy placed second among 39 teams in milk judging. Pennants were given for each of the first three team places. Other teams from the county were James Storey and Robert Kolb, Accident; Albert Smearman and Robert Pyle, Friendsville; Harley Brenneman and Robert Buckel, Grantsville.

Of the 12 pennants awarded in all contests, four of the total came to this county, two to Grantsville and two to Oakland. Prize money coming to Garrett County contestants was in excess of $80. Students were accompanied by vocational agriculture teachers: Marvin Callis, Accident; Charley B. Miller, Friendsville; Merle Garletts, Grantsville; and O. T. Graser, Oakland.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Thayer, for many years residents of Oakland, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary with a dinner at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thayer, Washington, D. C., on April 18.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Whitley Thayer and children, Mrs. Jo Cochrane and Mrs. Olive Campbell and daughter, all of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thayer, Sr., and sons George Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thayer and Jon, Oakland; and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thayer, Jr., and Freddie, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer have five children, 19 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. A son, Rennick Thayer, Keyser, was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer have spent the winter months with their children in Washington.

New Index System

The new indexing system in the office of the Clerk of Circuit Court is now complete, with the finishing touches being applied this week by L. M. Cott, president of the Cott Index System, Columbus, O.

The work, which was completed in 10 months, provides the office with a modern, up-to-date index system which will be of great help to the office and attorneys in promptly locating deeds, etc., of record and will save much time in abstract searches.

Miss Grace M. Crosby had charge of the work. She began with a crew of seven which gradually dwindled down to three typists.

Breeding Circuit

More than 50 dairymen in the Grantsville area have completed plans and have organized a breeding circuit, making this county the first one in Maryland to organize two breeding circuits, it was announced by John H. Carter, county agent.

He also announced new achievements from two bulls now being used in the Maryland Artificial Breeding association, upon receipt of word from Joe Pou, extension dairyman.

One of the bulls, W. W. Maid's Design, a Jersey, now has 36 daughters with 305-day records on twice a day milkings with an average production of 8,691 pounds of milk and 477 pounds of butterfat. Thirty of the daughters have been classified with an average score of 82 per cent.

The other bull, a Guernsey, Blockford Constant, has a daughter which as a junior two-year-old produced 1,435 pounds milk and 652 pounds of fat in 305 days, which is a new world's record. The average test was 6.25 per cent butterfat.

This means that dairymen in this county have available to them very outstanding bulls at a cost not prohibitive to anyone, Carter pointed out. He stated that at present there were in this county 76 cows bred to Jersey bull Design and 43 cows bred to Guernsey bull Constant.

Saw Mill Fire

The well-equiped sawmill owned by Troy Friend, on Round Glade road, northwest of the old Dr. M. C. Hinebaugh farm, was destroyed by fire Tuesday about 7 p. m.

Reported during an electrical storm, it was stated that in all probability lightning struck the fuel oil storage tank, causing it to ignite and spread to the mill. A new diesel type engine was among the contents destroyed, and Emroy Bolden, fire chief, estimated the damage at about $8,000.

Most of the lumber around the mill was moved beyond the flames and saved from destruction and firemen prevented the flames from spreading beyond the mill itself. It was impossible to try to check the flames which were fed by several hundred gallons of fuel oil, and periodically there were several explosions from gasoline storage tanks which kept feeding the fire.

The loss was said to be partially covered by insurance.

Frostburg Elks To Discuss Plan For Improvements

Meeting Scheduled Tuesday Evening

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B.P.O. Elks, will hold an important meeting Tuesday evening, May 4, when members will be asked to express themselves for or against a plan for enlarging and improving the present lodge home.

Letters over the signatures of William B. Byers, exalted ruler, and Joseph H. Spates, secretary, have been mailed to all members urging their attendance at the meeting.

The present lodge home, purchased from Mrs. Lawrence D. Willison in February, 1939, was dedicated in May, 1940. The mortgage of $26,000 was burned as a feature of the dedication.

Since the new home was occupied eight years ago the lodge membership has increased considerably, and the proposal to enlarge the building has been under discussion for the past two years.

Improvements Made

Chairs of the primary and beginners' department of the Sunday School of St. Paul's Lutheran Church have been re-decorated with paint of several colors. The work is preliminary to other improvements planned in the Sunday School department. The primary room work was done by Miss Virginia Boyer, Mrs. Bone and Mrs. Earl Boyer.

Work in the beginners' department was done under direction of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fresh, who were assisted by James Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kreiling, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Small, Mrs. Betty Lee Layman and John Geis.

The contract for decorating the vestibule in the choir room of the church has been awarded to Edward Watkins, who will complete the work within a week.

He was accompanied to Baltimore by his wife, the former Miss Louise Speir, and Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, R. N., who will be on nursing duty for Mr. Spates while he is in the hospital. While in Baltimore, Mrs. Spates will be the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Speir.

COMMISSIONER-ELECT — W. W. Sluss, Jr., will be sworn in Monday as a city commissioner of Frostburg at the first meeting of the recently elected city council. He is the only newcomer to the council

Boy Is Injured

James Kidwell, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kidwell, Eckhart, is a patient in Miners Hospital after suffering a fractured skull in a bicycle mishap last Saturday.

The accident occurred when he and his brother, John, 11, were en route from their home to the Eckhart postoffice on a bicycle. The bicycle skidded on the road in front of the Eckhart Methodist Church, injuring the younger boy, who was riding in the rear. His brother was unhurt.

Exhibit Planned

The Frostburg Homemakers and Frostburg 4-H Club will display an exhibit by members of the two clubs in the Broadway show window of the Potomac Edison Company from Sunday, May 2, until Saturday, May 8.

The exhibit will include "The Homemakers Creed" and the proclamation of Governor Preston Lane, proclaiming May 2 to 8 as National Home Demonstration Week. Both the Homemakers and the 4-H Club are planning several events for the coming week.

Plan Bake Sale

Star of Frostburg Council No. 93, Daughters of America, will hold a bake sale at Skidmore's Store, East Main Street, today at 9:30 a. m. Members should contact Mrs. Elizabet Layman, chairman of the committee, in regard to donations. The money is being raised for the rally fund, when the organization will entertain the state officers.

Program Scheduled

The Eppley Eisters Gospel Quintette, Manchester, Pa., will present a vocal and instrumental program at First English Baptist Church Sunday night at 7:30.

From there they will march in a body to St. Michael's Catholic Church where they will receive communion at the 7:30 mass. This will be followed with a breakfast in the church cafeteria.

Rev. John F. Cronin, a nationally recognized authority on economics, and a native of New York, will be the speaker. His subject will be "Soviet Imperialism and World Peace."

Donald Frantz and Hobert Bowser, Accident, placed ninth, with the Oakland team, William Fitzwater and Willis DeBerry, trailing by two points for 11th place. DeBerry won sixth individual place and $5. Glenn Selby and Bernard Friend judged poultry and candled eggs as Friendsville representatives. Thirty-nine teams competed in poultry judging.

Dale Custer, Oakland, won third place pennant in the new farm mechanics contest, held for the first time with 24 schools represented. He was awarded a hammer and $4. Reed Friend, Friendsville, won $3, and 12th place. Allen Hanft, Accident, and Richard Bender, Grantsville, were also entered.

Ross Sines and Harland Beachy placed second among 39 teams in milk judging. Pennants were given for each of the first three team places. Other teams from the county were James Storey and Robert Kolb, Accident; Albert Smearman and Robert Pyle, Friendsville; Harley Brenneman and Robert Buckel, Grantsville.

Of the 12 pennants awarded in all contests, four of the total came to this county, two to Grantsville and two to Oakland. Prize money coming to Garrett County contestants was in excess of $80. Students were accompanied by vocational agriculture teachers: Marvin Callis, Accident; Charley B. Miller, Friendsville; Merle Garletts, Grantsville; and O. T. Graser, Oakland.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Thayer, for many years residents of Oakland, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary with a dinner at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thayer, Washington, D. C., on April 18.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Whitley Thayer and children, Mrs. Jo Cochrane and Mrs. Olive Campbell and daughter, all of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thayer, Sr., and sons George Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thayer and Jon, Oakland; and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thayer, Jr., and Freddie, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer have five children, 19 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. A son, Rennick Thayer, Keyser, was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer have spent the winter months with their children in Washington.

New Index System

The new indexing system in the office of the Clerk of Circuit Court is now complete, with the finishing touches being applied this week by L. M. Cott, president of the Cott Index System, Columbus, O.

The work, which was completed in 10 months, provides the office with a modern, up-to-date index system which will be of great help to the office and attorneys in promptly locating deeds, etc., of record and will save much time in abstract searches.

Miss Grace M. Crosby had charge of the work. She began with a crew of seven which gradually dwindled down to three typists.

Breeding Circuit

More than 50 dairymen in the Grantsville area have completed plans and have organized a breeding circuit, making this county the first one in Maryland to organize two breeding circuits, it was announced by John H. Carter, county agent.

He also announced new achievements from two bulls now being used in the Maryland Artificial Breeding association, upon receipt of word from Joe Pou, extension dairyman.

One of the bulls, W. W. Maid's Design, a Jersey, now has 36 daughters with 305-day records on twice a day milkings with an average production of 8,691 pounds of milk and 477 pounds of butterfat. Thirty of the daughters have been classified with an average score of 82 per cent.

The other bull, a Guernsey, Blockford Constant, has a daughter which as a junior two-year-old produced 1,435 pounds milk and 652 pounds of fat in 305 days, which is a new world's record. The average test was 6.25 per cent butterfat.

This means that dairymen in this county have available to them very outstanding bulls at a cost not prohibitive to anyone, Carter pointed out. He stated that at present there were in this county 76 cows bred to Jersey bull Design and 43 cows bred to Guernsey bull Constant.

Saw Mill Fire

The well-equiped sawmill owned by Troy Friend, on Round Glade road, northwest of the old Dr. M. C. Hinebaugh farm, was destroyed by fire Tuesday about 7 p. m.

Reported during an electrical storm, it was stated that in all probability lightning struck the fuel oil storage tank, causing it to ignite and spread to the mill. A new diesel type engine was among the contents destroyed, and Emroy Bolden, fire chief, estimated the damage at about $8,000.

Most of the lumber around the mill was moved beyond the flames and saved from destruction and firemen prevented the flames from spreading beyond the mill itself. It was impossible to try to check the flames which were fed by several hundred gallons of fuel oil, and periodically there were several explosions from gasoline storage tanks which kept feeding the fire.

The loss was said to be partially covered by insurance.

Kentucky Derby On CBS List For Broadcast Today

NEW YORK, April 30 — At Churchill Downs Saturday is the day when they say: "This is the Day." For it's Kentucky Derby Day, big event of the year. Likewise listeners can join in secondhand by tuning in the CBS network, exclusive exponent of this broadcast, for details of what happens.

As usual CBS has listed two programs. One at 5:30 is to be a preview, with the race itself scheduled for airing at 6:15. Clem McCarthy will do the race talking with the help of Bill Corum of the fight broadcasts.

CBS also is taking films of the big run so that they can be made available to television.

Take a Number quiz, recently introduced to Friday nights on MBS after a Tuesday night trial, now is Saturday afternoons. The newest new time is 5, just ahead of True or False at 5:30. Both shows are repeated at 6 and 6:30 for the midwest. . . . Also on MBS, now that Morton Downey is no longer around on Saturday nights, Korn's a Krakin' is being returned to 11 p. m.

Symphony schedule Saturday: NBC 3 p. m. Santa Monica Symphony in Orchestra Of the Nation; ABC 3:30 Symphony hour to include Manhattan College Glee Club; NBC 6:30 NBC Symphony, Erich Leinsdorf in last of four guestings.

Also: MBS 10 the Chicago theater of the Air in a radio version of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Favorite Oils, Rails Hit 1948 Tops But Stock Market Average Slumps

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—Stock prices slumped today for the second time this week.

Even the attainment of new 1948 market highs by favorite oils and rails failed to stem a narrow retreat by the bulk of the securities list.

Pushing to new tops for the year or longer were Socony-Vacuum which closed at 19¼, Richfield Oil 25, Mid-Continent Petroleum 62¼, Texas Pacific Coast and Oil 53, Standard Oil of California 67, Sinclair Oil 22¼, Atlantic Coast Line 57, and Santa Fe 106½. Aircrafts responding to a Senate committee's approval of a 70-group Air Force, joined the climbers with Douglas up 2⅜ at 66⅜ and Lockheed 1½ at 21¾. Coca-Cola jumped five at 178.

Chesapeake and Ohio touched a new low recovering to finish at 39. Pennsylvania Railroad, Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific were other losers among the carriers. Retreating elsewhere were such issues as U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, General Motors, Phelps Dodge, Kennecott, Owen Illinois, American Tobacco and Western Union. Liquors losing major fractions included Schenley and National Distillers.

With the exception of a group of selected rails and a few specialties, bond market prices held close to previous levels.

United States governments plodded a narrow course on the stock exchange and in outside markets, closing unchanged to up 1-32 of a point.

Sales totaled $4,221,000 compared with $3,920,000 on Thursday.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If you listen to the politicians denounce each other it almost convinces you all the good men must have been with Custer.

But that's just the old mallarkey tailored to the occasion and all those fellows are as friendly as motormen in the car barn.

I admit that Taft is sort of dragging the others around by the hair. But he is really a big, warm-hearted, generous fellow who will give you anything he's got if it's catching.

I once heard Taft boosting a friend at the big national convention. And to this day I don't know whether Taft was giving him the nomination or swearing out a warrant.

Kentucky Derby On CBS List For Broadcast Today

NEW YORK, April 30 — At Churchill Downs Saturday is the day when they say: "This is the Day." For it's Kentucky Derby Day, big event of the year. Likewise listeners can join in secondhand by tuning in the CBS network, exclusive exponent of this broadcast, for details of what happens.

As usual CBS has listed two programs. One at 5:30 is to be a preview, with the race itself scheduled for airing at 6:15. Clem McCarthy will do the race talking with the help of Bill Corum of the fight broadcasts.

CBS also is taking films of the big run so that they can be made available to television.

Take a Number quiz, recently introduced to Friday nights on MBS after a Tuesday night trial, now is Saturday afternoons. The newest new time is 5, just ahead of True or False at 5:30. Both shows are repeated at 6 and 6:30 for the midwest. . . . Also on MBS, now that Morton Downey is no longer around on Saturday nights, Korn's a Krakin' is being returned to 11 p. m.

Symphony schedule Saturday: NBC 3 p. m. Santa Monica Symphony in Orchestra Of the Nation; ABC 3:30 Symphony hour to include Manhattan College Glee Club; NBC 6:30 NBC Symphony, Erich Leinsdorf in last of four guestings.

Also: MBS 10 the Chicago theater of the Air in a radio version of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Favorite Oils, Rails Hit 1948 Tops But Stock Market Average Slumps

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—Stock prices slumped today for the second time this week.

Even the attainment of new 1948 market highs by favorite oils and rails failed to stem a narrow retreat by the bulk of the securities list.

Pushing to new tops for the year or longer were Socony-Vacuum which closed at 19¼, Richfield Oil 25, Mid-Continent Petroleum 62¼, Texas Pacific Coast and Oil 53, Standard Oil of California 67, Sinclair Oil 22¼, Atlantic Coast Line 57, and Santa Fe 106½. Aircrafts responding to a Senate committee's approval of a 70-group Air Force, joined the climbers with Douglas up 2⅜ at 66⅜ and Lockheed 1½ at 21¾. Coca-Cola jumped five at 178.

Chesapeake and Ohio touched a new low recovering to finish at 39. Pennsylvania Railroad, Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific were other losers among the carriers. Retreating elsewhere were such issues as U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, General Motors, Phelps Dodge, Kennecott, Owen Illinois, American Tobacco and Western Union. Liquors losing major fractions included Schenley and National Distillers.

With the exception of a group of selected rails and a few specialties, bond market prices held close to previous levels.

United States governments plodded a narrow course on the stock exchange and in outside markets, closing unchanged to up 1-32 of a point.

Sales totaled $4,221,000 compared with $3,920,000 on Thursday.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If you listen to the politicians denounce each other it almost convinces you all the good men must have been with Custer.

But that's just the old mallarkey tailored to the occasion and all those fellows are as friendly as motormen in the car barn.

I admit that Taft is sort of dragging the others around by the hair. But he is really a big, warm-hearted, generous fellow who will give you anything he's got if it's catching.

I once heard Taft boosting a friend at the big national convention. And to this day I don't know whether Taft was giving him the nomination or swearing out a warrant.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Lorella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 30 (INS) — That second honeymoon planned by Gene Tierney and Oleg Cassini after they reconciled will have to be shorter than they expected. Gene must be at the 20th Century-Fox Studio, June 21, for "The Fan." Between us girls, that is the new name of "Lady Windermere's Fan," the Oscar Wilde play.

And here is another probable switch in plans. Director Otto Preminger flies to England, May 21, to sign some British character actors to support Gene. Otto will be in London only 10 days. Even so, he will have to emote in a hurry for Douglas Fairbanks, to be ready to direct "The Fan by June 21.

Here is a little secret: When Babe Ruth "trains" in tomorrow, hidden cameras will photograph his arrival, the milling crowds and the hundreds of kids who will be on hand to greet the beloved bambino.

Roy Del Ruth is doing this because he wants the Babe to be completely relaxed and the crowd to act natural because this will be used in a trailer for "The Babe Ruth Story."

The Babe is jittery about his "acting" stint and worried about putting on make-up, etc. He will be the most pleasantly surprised guy in the world when he finds that most of the stuff was shot when he didn't even know it.

Jack Buetel, whose role of Billy, the Kid, was the only performance in "The Outlaw" praised by the critics, was on the Warner Brothers lot today to make a test for Milton Sperling in "Distant Drums."

Pardon me, "South of St. Louis" it is now called. This is the Joel McCrea western with Viveca Lindfors and Dorothy Malone as the femme attractions.

Buetel went into the Navy shortly after the release of "The Outlaw" and he hasn't faced the cameras in about five years. But during that time, he has received his weekly check from Howard Hughes, who still holds his contract. Now Jack wants to work, and I suppose Hughes will let him.

Chatter in Hollywood: Naomi, the daughter of Agent Sam Jaffe, has been hounding her father to get her a movie job—with no success. So, Naomi went out, got herself another agent, and landed a role in "An Innocent Affair."

When someone asked Sam why he didn't take 10 percent "dibs" on his own youngster, he said, "I've got trouble enough on my hands getting jobs for clients, without handling relatives!"

The music of "Samson and Delilah," for which Cecil B. De Mille paid a fortune, he tells me, will not be used in the movie, because to use it means he must accept also the operatic version.

C. B. is strongly considering Hedda Hopper's son, William De Wolf Hopper, for the role of Samson.

Said C. B., "Bill has the looks, the physique, and if he can play the part, he has a better chance than anyone else to get it. I shall use a well-known actress for Delilah, but for Samson, I want an actor who is new on the screen."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lana Turner will not get away from Hollywood until Sunday. She is at the Beverly Hills hotel with her bridegroom, and is waiting now until her trousseau is finished.

Venita Varden has come back to town and is with Jack Oakie again at his ranch, where her mother is still the queen bee. Girls may come and girls may go—but Venita's ma still stays on.

A fan says not only is Ray Hendrix, Laraine Day's ex, married again, but he has two step-children.

We are certainly going through a cycle of accidents. Virginia Grey fell on the set, sprained her ankle and hit her head against an iron post. She is recuperating at Ojai Valley inn because she won't be able to work for a week.

The cutest twosome in town, Roddy McDowall and Allene Roberts at The Dells.

Ray Milland has made Bill Cagney a fabulous offer for "Only the Valiant," which Cagney owns. Ray wants it for a Paramount movie.

Same night Alice Faye and Phil Harris were applauding the skaters.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Lorella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 30 (INS) — That second honeymoon planned by Gene Tierney and Oleg Cassini after they reconciled will have to be shorter than they expected. Gene must be at the 20th Century-Fox Studio, June 21, for "The Fan." Between us girls, that is the new name of "Lady Windermere's Fan," the Oscar Wilde play.

And here is another probable switch in plans. Director Otto Preminger flies to England, May 21, to sign some British character actors to support Gene. Otto will be in London only 10 days. Even so, he will have to emote in a hurry for Douglas Fairbanks, to be ready to direct "The Fan by June 21.

Here is a little secret: When Babe Ruth "trains" in tomorrow, hidden cameras will photograph his arrival, the milling crowds and the hundreds of kids who will be on hand to greet the beloved bambino.

Roy Del Ruth is doing this because he wants the Babe to be completely relaxed and the crowd to act natural because this will be used in a trailer for "The Babe Ruth Story."

The Babe is jittery about his "acting" stint and worried about putting on make-up, etc. He will be the most pleasantly surprised guy in the world when he finds that most of the stuff was shot when he didn't even know it.

Jack Buetel, whose role of Billy, the Kid, was the only performance in "The Outlaw" praised by the critics, was on the Warner Brothers lot today to make a test for Milton Sperling in "Distant Drums."

Pardon me, "South of St. Louis" it is now called. This is the Joel McCrea western with Viveca Lindfors and Dorothy Malone as the femme attractions.

Buetel went into the Navy shortly after the release of "The Outlaw" and he hasn't faced the cameras in about five years. But during that time, he has received his weekly check from Howard Hughes, who still holds his contract. Now Jack wants to work, and I suppose Hughes will let him.

Chatter in Hollywood: Naomi, the daughter of Agent Sam Jaffe, has been hounding her father to get her a movie job—with no success. So, Naomi went out, got herself another agent, and landed a role in "An Innocent Affair."

When someone asked Sam why he didn't take 10 percent "dibs" on his own youngster, he said, "I've got trouble enough on my hands getting jobs for clients, without handling relatives!"

The music of "Samson and Delilah," for which Cecil B. De Mille paid a fortune, he tells me, will not be used in the movie, because to use it means he must accept also the operatic version.

C. B. is strongly considering Hedda Hopper's son, William De Wolf Hopper, for the role of Samson.

Said C. B., "Bill has the looks, the physique, and if he can play the part, he has a better chance than anyone else to get it. I shall use a well-known actress for Delilah, but for Samson, I want an actor who is new on the screen."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lana Turner will not get away from Hollywood until Sunday. She is at the Beverly Hills hotel with her bridegroom, and is waiting now until her trousseau is finished.

Venita Varden has come back to town and is with Jack Oakie again at his ranch, where her mother is still the queen bee. Girls may come and girls may go—but Venita's ma still stays on.

A fan says not only is Ray Hendrix, Laraine Day's ex, married again, but he has two step-children.

We are certainly going through a cycle of accidents. Virginia Grey fell on the set, sprained her ankle and hit her head against an iron post. She is recuperating at Ojai Valley inn because she won't be able to work for a week.

The cutest twosome in town, Roddy McDowall and Allene Roberts at The Dells.

Ray Milland has made Bill Cagney a fabulous offer for "Only the Valiant," which Cagney owns. Ray wants it for a Paramount movie.

Same night Alice Faye and Phil Harris were applauding the skaters.

That's all today.

Mrs. Sinnett Dies

A funeral service was held in Franklin Presbyterian Church Thursday for Mrs. Myrtle Florence Sinnett, 49, Oak Flat, who died in her sleep at her home early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Sinnett had been in failing health for some time, but her death was unexpected.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bolton, Mrs. Sinnett leaves her husband and seven children. They are: Mrs. Walter Nesselrodt, Arlington; Mrs. Cecil Mitchell of the Moyers community; Mrs. Fred Kesner and Mrs. Quentin Harman, both of Mozer; Lee Sinnett, Washington, and Keith and Junior Sinnett, at home.

She also leaves two sisters and a brother: Mrs. Bessie Rexrode, Springfield; Mrs. Harry W. Dickerson, Preble, N. Y., and Kenny W. Bolton, Baltimore. Seven grandchildren survive.

754 Persons X-Rayed

A record high — 754 persons — visited the tuberculosis clinic held here and were X-rayed, according to the report of Mrs. Theda Mallow, chairman of tuberculosis work in the county. Several hundred more, mostly grade school children, were turned away after state officials in Charleston ruled they could not take the X-ray examination. Despite telephoned appeals to Charleston by Supt I. L. Bennett and Mrs. Mallow, the children were denied the opportunity to undergo the tests after arrangements had been made to transport them here from the numerous points in the county by school buses.

Walter White Gets Six Months In Tax Case

Slot Machine Operator Fined Total Of $27,500

Enters Guilty Pleas On Evasion Charges

Walter W. White, Cumberland dealer in pinball and slot machines, was sentenced to six months imprisonment yesterday morning in U. S. District Court, Baltimore, for income tax evasion.

The 48-year-old head of the Queen City Novelty Company, who pleaded guilty, also was fined an aggregate of $27,500 by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut, according to Bernard F. Flynn, U. S. district attorney.

Flynn said court costs, including witnesses, marshal services and the grand jury, will be assessed against White. The costs have not as yet been calculated, Flynn added.

Allowed 10 Days

White entered pleas of guilty to the five indictments through his attorney, William C. Walsh, this city, Flynn said. The arraignment took place at 11 a. m.

Judge Chesnut granted White 10 days in which to wind up his affairs before beginning his prison term. White's bond of $1,000 was continued for that period.

A former Cumberland city employe as dairy inspector, White started his coin machine business in 1932.

The prosecution charged White cheated the government out of $73,100 in taxes. The evasions, it said, were during the five years 1941-45.

During that period, the court was informed, White's "net worth" increased from $74,000 to $242,000.

The court was told that White already has repaid $63,000 of the amount he was charged with evading.

White was fined $5,000 for an indictment on income tax evasion in 1941, $5,000 for 1942, $2,500 for 1943, $10,000 for 1944 and $5,000 for 1945, Flynn informed the News.

Flynn quoted Walsh as stating he intends to contest the amounts of some of the alleged unpaid back taxes, although White pleaded guilty to the indictments.

Flynn said this was not discussed in detail although Walsh said he does not believe White owes the government as much as charged.

"Too Fond Of Money"

The contested amounts will be presented to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Flynn said, at the time unpaid taxes, interest and penalties are to be paid.

Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, told the court the trouble was that White was "too fond of money."

He stressed that his client had only a third-grade school education and had gone to work when "still a mere boy."

Before sentence was passed, Walsh characterized White to the court as "not a bad fellow," Flynn related.

He added that Walsh said although White ran slot machines, "everybody around Cumberland knew they were being run and nobody thought that was too bad."

White, Walsh was quoted as saying, did not "squander" his money or "live high" but "made his money and kept it."

Flynn gave the summation of the indictments after White's plea of guilty was entered by his attorney.

At the time of White's indictment by a federal grand jury in Baltimore March 8, Flynn said the local man's income tax returns for the 1941-45 period showed total net income of approximately $30,835, whereas the government charged his actual net income during that time was approximately $170,334.

Paid Tax Of $6,357

White paid income tax of $6,357 during the five years on his estimated income of $30,835, according to Flynn, but the government claimed he should have paid $79,531, a difference of $73,174.

In the first count the government charged White's 1941 income tax return indicated a net income of $7,429 on which he paid tax of $847. The government contended White's income that year was $34,305 and that he should have paid $11,993 in taxes.

White's 1942 tax return, according to the government, listed net income of $4,196 on which he paid $728. The government alleged his net income in 1942 was $30,772 and that he should have paid $13,151.

In 1943, according to the government, White's return showed an income of $4,258 on which he paid $895. The government contended that his 1943 income was $15,078 and that he should have paid $5,027.

The fourth count listed White's 1944 return as showing an income of $3,116 and a payment of $599, while the government charged his net income that year was $57,833, with $34,040 due in taxes.

White's return for 1945, the fifth count showed, reported an income of $11,836 and payment of $3,288, whereas the government contended his net income was $32,346 that year and that he should have paid $15,320.

When White posted bond several days after his indictment last month, Walsh issued a statement declaring that in 1947 his client filed an amended tax return and paid an additional $51,765.66 in taxes along with over $10,000 in interest.

White, federal authorities said, will not be eligible for parole from his six-month sentence, although he will be subject to time off for good behavior. That would amount to approximately 27 days less than six months, federal officers said.

Dorothy Radcliffe, Donald Kennedy Given Paroles

Woman Ordered To Return To Texas

Dorothy Radcliffe and Donald Kennedy were acquitted yesterday in Circuit Court of a charge of burglarizing the Babb Motor Sales offices, Wineow Street, but both were found guilty by a jury of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. The jury recommended the mercy of the Court.

The Radcliffe woman, who says she came here from Texas to work for George Babb, was sentenced to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Females, but sentence was suspended on condition that she return to Texas and take care of her children.

She was ordered returned by the sheriff to the county jail until such time as she can raise sufficient funds to return home. Chief Judge William A. Huster told her she must remain on her good behavior, even after she returns to her home state.

Kennedy was sentenced to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Males, but was paroled for three years on condition that he remain on his good behavior. He will be supervised during his parole by David Steele and Hugh Hotchkiss, parole officers.

Associate Judge George Henderson told both the Radcliffe woman and Kennedy that "you have the gentlemen of the jury to thank for your paroles, because they recommended the mercy of the Court." He warned Kennedy to be on his good behavior and reminded him that he was already under parole, and that if he is involved in even slight trouble again, he will serve a long sentence.

The pair was also ordered by the Court to stay away from each other. Judge Henderson expressed the opinion that Kennedy had been influenced by the older woman in their conduct and cautioned him to pick his company carefully in the future.

The trial lasted most of the day, with Morris Baron representing the Radcliffe woman and William L. Wilson, Jr., representing Kennedy.

Baron told the jury the woman had been employed by Babb, and was brought here by him. She testified to this when on the witness stand.

Babb said he met her in Dallas, Texas, several months ago and brought her here. He said he had preferred the charges against the pair.

Arrested In West Virginia

The charges made by Babb were a miscalculation on the part of the prosecuting witness, according to Baron. In answer to a question as to whether he had promised the woman a job here Babb admitted that "he might have left her with that impression." He also stated that she had never been in his employ but had driven cars back from Pittsburgh for him on several occasions.

The Radcliffe woman and Kennedy were arrested at the Sam Miller home near Fort Ashby, W. Va., several weeks ago after they had driven the car to Bedford, and Hanover, Pa., back to Cumberland and thence into West Virginia. Sgt. H. R. Shelton of the West Virginia State Police arrested the pair on a description of the stolen car broadcast by Maryland State Police.

Soldier Paroled

The Court yesterday also paroled Harry William Skidmore and Lloyd Skidmore to their parents under the supervision of Parole Officer Steele. The pair, convicted of placing obstructions on a railroad, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland State Reformatory for Males and sentence was suspended with a three-year parole.

Edgar William Bryner, a soldier who struck Mrs. Helen C. Stark in an attempted robbery at a Centre Street drug store, entered a plea of guilty and was paroled for five years on condition that he return to the Army. He was returned to the County Jail to await removal by the sheriff to Aberdeen, his Army station.

Commissioners Hear Road Complaints

Several complaints on condition *of county roads were heard yes*terday by Allegany County Commissioners at their regular meeting.

Paul Rice asked that a sewer be placed on the Zembower road between Mason and Bedford Roads while county road men are working on the job. His request was referred to John J. Smith, acting county engineer.

Ray Breightner requested that a pipe be placed on the Oldtown Road near Wolf's service station for drainage purposes. Brady Dolly asked that repairs be made to the bridge on Jamison Road. Repairs were also asked for the Crabtree Road near Oldtown. The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company asked for a permit to place a gas line across Tannery Street in Gilmore. These requests were referred to Smith.

Two Local Men Join Marine Corp Reserve

Lt. Edward Walker, Marine Corps Reserve, announced yesterday that two new men enlisted in the Reserve on Thursday night at the regular drill session in the State Armory.

The new men are Arthur J. L. Schaidt, 429 Pennsylvania Avenue, and Joseph E. Talley, Jr., 109 Mary Street. Both are privates.

CAMPAIGN PROGRESSES-- Several members of the Lions Club committee in charge of the current campaign to collect old eyeglass frames to raise funds for sight conservation work are shown above about to place frames in a collection barrel at Central YMCA. Approximately 300 eyeglass frames have already been donated for salvage purposes. Other barrel containers will be placed in banks, stores and public buildings in Cumberland the latter part of next week, with four to six barrels to be placed at various locations along Baltimore Street. The campaign slogan is "Give your old glasses so that others can see." The Lions sight conservation fund is now aiding 11 county youths at the Overlea School for the Blind near Baltimore, as well as providing deserving local children and adults with money for examinations and eyeglasses. In the picture (left to right) are Winfield H. Adam, Vincent Burns, Alvin E. Yaste, secretary-treasurer of the club; Chester Fisher, president; Lynn Lashley and Howard Cooper. Lashley is chairman of the campaign committee.

AFL Unions Win A. And P. Union Shop Election

Victories were chalked up yesterday afternoon by Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Food Clerks, both AFL, in union shop elections conducted at the A. and P. Super Market under National Labor Relations Board auspices.

The election, required under the Taft-Hartley Law before a union may negotiate any union security clause, was held under the direction of Charles J. Harris, representing the Fifth Regional office of the NLRB.

In the Meat Cutters vote, 14 were eligible to vote and 11 voted for while three voted against the proposal.

In the Retail Food Clerks poll, 48 of the 73 eligible employes voted yes and 15 no. Another 10 did not vote for reasons including sickness, vacations and other leaves, the union said.

Union officials said the unions have had a union shop and that the clause was included in recent negotiations, subject to the results of the election.

Similar elections will be held today for members of the Meat Cutters and Retail Clerks employed in American Stores of the Cumberland area.

That voting will be conducted by two teams which will tour the stores and allow workers to cast ballots. A contract recently negotiated with the firm included provisions for a union shop subject to union shop elections.

Workers of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company yesterday rejected an offer of the firm for a new contract, according to C. E. Stutzman, business manager of Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the workers.

He said the contract was extended from May 1 to May 8 in order to allow time to negotiate. Talks are expected to resume about the middle of next week. A union official said it "looks like we are getting a little closer" to a settlement.

Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, will meet next Thursday, May 6, at 5 p. m. in the Allegany Trades Council Hall. Union officials said the important meeting, originally scheduled Monday, had to be postponed because of other meetings.

Bond Sale Drive Reaches $157,969

Total government bond sales through April 24 in the current security loan campaign in Allegany County amounted to $157,969, according to the chairman, Lynn C. Lashley, executive vice president, of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

That amount includes sales of Series E, F and G bonds.

Lashley said he has "every confidence" that the county goal of $1,700,000 will be met before the June 30 deadline.

Sponsored by the United States Government, the campaign, is designed to strengthen both individual and national security.

Every security bond dollar built up in the United States Treasury is used to pay off a dollar of the national debt that is potentially inflationary, Lashley pointed out.

County residents are urged to join in a payroll savings plan if they are employed in industrial plants, or to buy a bond a month at their bank.

No matter which plan is used, residents are asked to purchase at least one extra $100 savings bond during the campaign, Lashley said.

Renshaw Gets License To Operate Alibi

Richard T Renshaw and his wife, Mrs. Ethel Renshaw, will assume the active operation of "The Alibi" today, and will operate the business under the name of "Rennie's".

Mr. and Mrs. Renshaw, together with her mother, Mrs. Ethel Shuck, made application for the liquor license for the place and the license was granted this week. Granting the license, Renshaw said, removed the final obstacle in the sale agreement he had made with the former owners.

Bedford Street Negro Youth Hit By Auto

Wayne Stewart, 11, negro, Bedford Street, was treated at Allegany Hospital yesterday afternoon for slight injuries sustained when he was hit while riding his bicycle on Pear Street.

The operator of the automobile was George Smith, RFD 3, Keyser, hospital attaches said. City Police reported they received no report of the accident.

Impending Strike May Not Affect Western Maryland

A standby agreement included in a contract negotiated with the Western Maryland Railway early in February will allow road crews of that railroad to operate as usual in case federal mediators are unable to reach an agreement with three operating brotherhoods before May 11, Elmer E. Davis, president of the Railroad Industrial Union reported yesterday.

He said the contract effective February 13 included an agreement that any benefits resulting from the activities of the emergency board would be incorporated into the agreement for the Western Maryland road crews.

Details of the RIU legal right to continue work will be explained at a meeting of the RIU to be held in the Knights of Malta Hall here Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. It is very important that all road crews as well as workers seeking RIU representation be present, Davis said.

Liquor Board Issues 324 Beverage Permits

Allegany County Liquor Control Board yesterday completed hearings on liquor, wine and beer licenses and issued a total of 324 permits, including 127 licenses for retail liquor sales and clubs.

A few applicants for beer permits did not appear and their applications have been placed on file at the liquor board office in the Court House, and applicants may still appear if they desire.

Only one license application was deferred. This was the application of Samuel A. House, operator of the Mayflower Tavern, Front Street. House had been fined $50 in Circuit Court on a charge of illegally selling beer on election day. The Board had decided to suspend his license for 10 days, according to board members, and in order to save the county the expense of a lengthy hearing, House agreed to wait until May 10 to apply for his permit and take the 10-day suspension automatically.

James Louis Gormer, who operates a beer tavern on North Mechanic Street, was also fined on a similar charge in Circuit Court. The secretary to the Board said he did not appear for his license, but the same penalty would probably be invoked if and when he does, in view of his conviction.

"Y" Pool To Reopen

Winfield H. Adam, acting general secretary, said the regular pool schedule will be resumed as of that time. The pool has been repaired and painted.

Excavation Uncovers Century-Old Stone Furnace On Farm Near Eglon

Workmen excavating for a house foundation on Dr. Harold Miller's farm near Eglon, W. Va., which is the former Jonas Bittinger farm, recently uncovered a small stone furnace thought to be over 100 years old.

At one time the farm was owned by a Hopkins family, who worked it by Negro slave labor. Several of the slaves and members of the Hopkins family are buried on the farm.

About three acres of the property were planted to apples at the time, and one of the farm products was applejack. A large millstone, which is still in existence, was used for crushing the apples.

It is thought the furnace may have been used for the still in making applejack, as well as for other purposes.

Because of their historical interest, a large stone from the furnace and the millstone will be used in construction of the new building.

The farm is Dr. Miller's birth birthplace. The new house will be occupied by his son - in - law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, who are operating the farm.

Boyd E. Payton Becomes TWUA Vice President

Former Celanese Union Prexy Wins Top Post

Boyd E. Payton, a former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, yesterday was elected vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

Payton, who has been serving as regional director of the Upper South with headquarters in Lynchburg, Va., since October 1943, polled 1,200 of a possible 1,533 votes at the closing session of the union's biennial convention in Atlantic City yesterday.

Payton, who made his home in Cresaptown until a few years ago, became a member of the Celanese local in 1936 and was elected president of the 8,500 member local in 1942.

He was elected Maryland State Director of the union in January 1943 and later that year was made regional director for the territory including Maryland, Virginia and eastern West Virginia, an area including some 60,000 textile workers.

He also served as a TWUA national representative for a short time before he became state director.

Payton is well known to virtually all members of the Celanese union and has returned to Cumberland for his vacations virtually each year since he was transferred to Lynchburg.

He is a former president of the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council, central CIO organization in this state.

While here, Payton was active in sports and will be remembered as goal keeper on the Celanese union soccer teams.

Several other members of the Celanese union now hold TWUA posts. James A. Dundon, a former president and state director of the union, is now representing the union in the Dallas, Texas, area and John E. Neal, a former officer of the union here, is a TWUA representative.

UCT Meets Tonight

The Weather

The weatherman is in hiding today, after predicting that Friday would be cold with some showers, when actually it was the best day of the week for Cumberland area residents, as the mercury hit a high of 66 degrees. Topcoats and heavier coats of all kind were in circulation Friday, but they were not needed until the sun went down. At 11 o'clock, the temperature reading was 57 degrees, coming up from a low of 40 during the night, when warm blankets kept the feet from getting cold. While the weatherman is in hiding, his substitute says that it will be fair and warmer today and predicts that Sunday will also be warmer, but with some rain. Monday and Tuesday is scheduled to be fair, but cooler, followed by rain.

World War II State Bonus Move Started

Harris Plans To Petition Court In Office Dispute

Issues Statement Explaining Problem

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, said last night he plans to petition the Court to construe the Acts of the 1941 Maryland General Assembly pertaining to the rental of offices for the use of the state's attorney and his staff. He also issued a statement in an effort to clarify the issue between his office and the County Commissioners.

"So the citizens of Allegany County may understand the problem of relocation of the state's attorney's offices, necessitated by the fire which last week practically destroyed the Union Street office building," Harris last night said, "it is only fair to issue the following statement:

"In addition to myself, there are employed at the state's attorney's office, an assistant state's attorney, a county investigator, and a secretary. In order to operate this office with any degree of efficiency, it is necessary that we have three offices, a reception room and a place for our secretary to work.

"Our equipment consists of a library, photographic and finger printing paraphernalia, identification records and many other files containing accumulated information essential to the efficacious operation of such an office. These require considerable space.

"Ours is a busy office and we receive many people in the course of a day. We must, therefore, have a fairly large reception room.

"Through the courtesy and kindness, which shall always live in my heart, when our office equipment was on the Union Street sidewalk after the fire, some of the members of B'er Chayim Congregation invited me to make temporary headquarters in the Temple and helped move sufficient office furniture into the Temple so we could carry on our duties.

"We have been interfering with the normal activities of the B'er Chayim Congregation since then, and we cannot impose upon this unselfish kindness indefinitely.

"Office space in Cumberland is scarce. In my haste to acquire other quarters, I asked the trustees of the Cumberland Public Library if they would or could give us the use of the first floor of the library annex. The trustees of the library and not the County Commissioners control this building. They decided they could not give us the entire first floor and stated the space they could provide would of, necessity, be of a very temporary nature.

"The building is the second or third oldest public building in Cumberland. With the old newspaper records, periodicals and books stored in the building, and the antiquated condition of the structure, it is most susceptible to fire.

Sought Other Quarters

"Because of the condition, location and inadequacy of space and the stated temporary tenancy in the annex, I deemed it necessary and advisable to seek other quarters.

"We have secured sufficient space on the second floor at 15 South Liberty Street for a rental of $80 per month. The building is centrally located and is convenient to the public.

"Regardless of whether the County Commissioners decide to rebuild the property at 111 Union Street, or establish other permanent quarters for the state's attorney's offices, it occurs to me it will be many months before this can or will come to pass.

"It is my personal opinion that a reasonable interpretation of the law leaves in the discretion of the state's attorney where he should establish his offices under these circumstances. The law with reference to this matter reads as follows:

> Sec. 626 B-Chapter 197 Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, 1941. The County Commissioners for Allegany County are hereby directed authorized and empowered to pay the offices expenses including rent, stationery, printing, telephone, stamps, necessary stenographic services and any other expenses that may be essential for the proper maintenance of the offices of the state's attorney and law assistant, and also any other expense necessary and incident to the maintenance and conduct of said offices as may be, in their opinion, reasonable and proper.

"Until the proper tribunal decides otherwise, the state's attorney's office will be established at 15 South Liberty Street beginning the early part of next week."

Harris appealed to the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday and again yesterday for permission to rent adequate space, saying it is an imposition to stay in his present quarters, because this interferes with classes and other religious activities of B'er Chayim Congregation.

At Tuesday's meeting of the County Board of Commissioners, Charles N. Wilkinson and the other commissioners said space had been obtained in the Cumberland Library annex across the street from the Court House. Harris objected, saying the available quarters there are too small and his offices should be downtown.

At yesterday's meeting, Harris again appeared and a heated argument resulted between him and Wilkinson. Harris said he had found adequate quarters in a building on South Liberty Street, formerly used by the States Roads Commission, and can rent the rooms for $80 per month.

Petitions Call For Referendum In 1950

A movement is under way in Allegany and Garrett counties to arouse interest in a state bonus for all veterans of World War II, it was learned by the News yesterday.

Petitions are being circulated among veterans in local industrial plants, clubs and organizations, and sponsors claim more than 3,000 signatures have already been obtained, with many more expected. Many of the signatures are those of nonveterans.

The petitions propose a state bonus for each veteran, up to $500, or payment of that amount to the eligible survivor if a veteran died in service, or since, from a service connected cause.

It is proposed that $10 per month be paid for each month of domestic service and $15 per month be paid for foreign service. It is also proposed that the bonus apply to veterans who were legal residents six months prior to entering service and only those with honorable discharges or those serving now in an honorable status. The bonus as proposed would apply to veterans of all branches and arms of service who served either voluntarily or by induction between September 16, 1940, and September 2, 1945, inclusive.

Started At Celanese

The first petition was circulated by Lloyd S. McNeil, Shawnee Avenue, a Celanese employe, who served with the Army. McNeil is a member of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, Frostburg, and active in the post drum corps. Members of that post and other veteran groups in the county are now interested in the idea, and each veteran organization in the district is to be asked to voice their endorsement. Other civic and patriotic organizations will also be enlisted, sponsors say.

Local veterans commenting on the idea here yesterday called attention to "campaign promises" of some county and state politicians regarding a state bonus for veterans.

The petition makes note of the fact that the General Assembly at the next session is urged to act upon the measure and then submit it to the voters by referendum at the 1950 general election.

Record Of Other States

Veterans sponsoring the idea here, refer to the following record issued by the American Legion:

Alaska has declared a bonus to World War II veterans payable in dollars equal to the months service multiplied by ten.

Arizona has granted a property tax exemption to veterans of $2,000 each if their property value is under $5,000.

California has granted a tax exemption up to $1,000 on property owned by veteran or his wife. Veterans are exempt from payment of poll tax and are entitled to peddlars licenses when wares are owned by vendor (excluding intoxicants). Money received from the federal government or the state is exempt from execution or attachment.

Connecticut has awarded veterans a state bonus of $10 per month in service up to $300. Tax exemption on $1,000 of property up to $3,000 valuation is also given veterans.

Illinois has granted a bonus of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 for each month of foreign service with a minimum of $50 and a flat sum of $900 to survivors of men who died in service.

Call For Referendum

Indiana has provided for submission of the question to the voters at the 1948 general election for the guidance of the 1949 session, with no rates fixed.

Iowa will submit a bonus proposal to the voters at the 1948 general election, up to $500, with $10 per month for domestic service and $12.50 per month for foreign duty.

Louisiana provides for an exemption of income tax for veterans of $1,500 single, $2,500 married from 1945 to 1950 inclusive.

Massachusetts authorized a bonus of $100 for those with less than six months service and $200 for all other veterans. This was later amended to $200 for less than six months and $300 for those serving more than that.

Michigan voters ratified a bonus proposal of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 per month foreign service up to $500. State assistance was provided up to $250 annually per veteran for educational purposes.

Minnesota 1947 legislature authorized a state-wide vote at the 1948 general election on the bonus question. If approved, the legislature is empowered to fix rates etc. The state paid a bonus bill to World War 1, Spanish American War, Philippine Insurrection and China relief Expedition veterans.

New Hampshire made a flat first payment of $10 per month for active service up to $100.

Provide Tax Exemptions

New Jersey has provided veterans with tax exemptions on real and personal property up to $500, poll tax exemption, exemption from inheritance tax, and made provision, without cost for peddlers licenses for veterans to sell within the county of their residence.

New Mexico provides that every honorably discharged soldier shall be exempt for $2,000 valuation on real and personal property. All veterans are also exempt from payment of road tax.

New York voters ratified a state bonus of $50 for less than 60 days service; $150 for more than 60 days within the United States and $250 for service outside the states. Real and personal property purchased with proceeds for pensions, bonus or insurance owned by veterans is exempt up to $5,000 from all tax except school tax.

North Dakota 1947 legislature submitted to the voters for the 1948 general election a proposal to issue $27,000,000 in bonds to pay a bonus. If approved the legislature will fix rates.

Ohio voters ratified a bonus up to $400 payable at the basis of $10

Walter White Gets Six Months In Tax Case

Slot Machine Operator Fined Total Of $27,500

Enters Guilty Pleas On Evasion Charges

Walter W. White, Cumberland dealer in pinball and slot machines, was sentenced to six months imprisonment yesterday morning in U. S. District Court, Baltimore, for income tax evasion.

The 48-year-old head of the Queen City Novelty Company, who pleaded guilty, also was fined an aggregate of $27,500 by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut, according to Bernard F. Flynn, U. S. district attorney.

Flynn said court costs, including witnesses, marshal services and the grand jury, will be assessed against White. The costs have not as yet been calculated, Flynn added.

Allowed 10 Days

White entered pleas of guilty to the five indictments through his attorney, William C. Walsh, this city, Flynn said. The arraignment took place at 11 a. m.

Judge Chesnut granted White 10 days in which to wind up his affairs before beginning his prison term. White's bond of $1,000 was continued for that period.

A former Cumberland city employe as dairy inspector, White started his coin machine business in 1932.

The prosecution charged White cheated the government out of $73,100 in taxes. The evasions, it said, were during the five years 1941-45.

During that period, the court was informed, White's "net worth" increased from $74,000 to $242,000.

The court was told that White already has repaid $63,000 of the amount he was charged with evading.

White was fined $5,000 for an indictment on income tax evasion in 1941, $5,000 for 1942, $2,500 for 1943, $10,000 for 1944 and $5,000 for 1945, Flynn informed the News.

Flynn quoted Walsh as stating he intends to contest the amounts of some of the alleged unpaid back taxes, although White pleaded guilty to the indictments.

Flynn said this was not discussed in detail although Walsh said he does not believe White owes the government as much as charged.

"Too Fond Of Money"

The contested amounts will be presented to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Flynn said, at the time unpaid taxes, interest and penalties are to be paid.

Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, told the court the trouble was that White was "too fond of money."

He stressed that his client had only a third-grade school education and had gone to work when "still a mere boy."

Before sentence was passed, Walsh characterized White to the court as "not a bad fellow," Flynn related.

He added that Walsh said although White ran slot machines, "everybody around Cumberland knew they were being run and nobody thought that was too bad."

White, Walsh was quoted as saying, did not "squander" his money or "live high" but "made his money and kept it."

Flynn gave the summation of the indictments after White's plea of guilty was entered by his attorney.

At the time of White's indictment by a federal grand jury in Baltimore March 8, Flynn said the local man's income tax returns for the 1941-45 period showed total net income of approximately $30,835, whereas the government charged his actual net income during that time was approximately $170,334.

Paid Tax Of $6,357

White paid income tax of $6,357 during the five years on his estimated income of $30,835, according to Flynn, but the government claimed he should have paid $79,531, a difference of $73,174.

In the first count the government charged White's 1941 income tax return indicated a net income of $7,429 on which he paid tax of $847. The government contended White's income that year was $34,305 and that he should have paid $11,993 in taxes.

White's 1942 tax return, according to the government, listed net income of $4,196 on which he paid $728. The government alleged his net income in 1942 was $30,772 and that he should have paid $13,151.

In 1943, according to the government, White's return showed an income of $4,258 on which he paid $895. The government contended that his 1943 income was $15,078 and that he should have paid $5,027.

The fourth count listed White's 1944 return as showing an income of $3,116 and a payment of $599, while the government charged his net income that year was $57,833, with $34,040 due in taxes.

White's return for 1945, the fifth count showed, reported an income of $11,836 and payment of $3,288, whereas the government contended his net income was $32,346 that year and that he should have paid $15,320.

When White posted bond several days after his indictment last month, Walsh issued a statement declaring that in 1947 his client filed an amended tax return and paid an additional $51,765.66 in taxes along with over $10,000 in interest.

White, federal authorities said, will not be eligible for parole from his six-month sentence, although he will be subject to time off for good behavior. That would amount to approximately 27 days less than six months, federal officers said.

Dorothy Radcliffe, Donald Kennedy Given Paroles

Woman Ordered To Return To Texas

Dorothy Radcliffe and Donald Kennedy were acquitted yesterday in Circuit Court of a charge of burglarizing the Babb Motor Sales offices, Wineow Street, but both were found guilty by a jury of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. The jury recommended the mercy of the Court.

The Radcliffe woman, who says she came here from Texas to work for George Babb, was sentenced to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Females, but sentence was suspended on condition that she return to Texas and take care of her children.

She was ordered returned by the sheriff to the county jail until such time as she can raise sufficient funds to return home. Chief Judge William A. Huster told her she must remain on her good behavior, even after she returns to her home state.

Kennedy was sentenced to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Males, but was paroled for three years on condition that he remain on his good behavior. He will be supervised during his parole by David Steele and Hugh Hotchkiss, parole officers.

Associate Judge George Henderson told both the Radcliffe woman and Kennedy that "you have the gentlemen of the jury to thank for your paroles, because they recommended the mercy of the Court." He warned Kennedy to be on his good behavior and reminded him that he was already under parole, and that if he is involved in even slight trouble again, he will serve a long sentence.

The pair was also ordered by the Court to stay away from each other. Judge Henderson expressed the opinion that Kennedy had been influenced by the older woman in their conduct and cautioned him to pick his company carefully in the future.

The trial lasted most of the day, with Morris Baron representing the Radcliffe woman and William L. Wilson, Jr., representing Kennedy.

Baron told the jury the woman had been employed by Babb, and was brought here by him. She testified to this when on the witness stand.

Babb said he met her in Dallas, Texas, several months ago and brought her here. He said he had preferred the charges against the pair.

Arrested In West Virginia

The charges made by Babb were a miscalculation on the part of the prosecuting witness, according to Baron. In answer to a question as to whether he had promised the woman a job here Babb admitted that "he might have left her with that impression." He also stated that she had never been in his employ but had driven cars back from Pittsburgh for him on several occasions.

The Radcliffe woman and Kennedy were arrested at the Sam Miller home near Fort Ashby, W. Va., several weeks ago after they had driven the car to Bedford, and Hanover, Pa., back to Cumberland and thence into West Virginia. Sgt. H. R. Shelton of the West Virginia State Police arrested the pair on a description of the stolen car broadcast by Maryland State Police.

Soldier Paroled

The Court yesterday also paroled Harry William Skidmore and Lloyd Skidmore to their parents under the supervision of Parole Officer Steele. The pair, convicted of placing obstructions on a railroad, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland State Reformatory for Males and sentence was suspended with a three-year parole.

Edgar William Bryner, a soldier who struck Mrs. Helen C. Stark in an attempted robbery at a Centre Street drug store, entered a plea of guilty and was paroled for five years on condition that he return to the Army. He was returned to the County Jail to await removal by the sheriff to Aberdeen, his Army station.

Commissioners Hear Road Complaints

Several complaints on condition of county roads were heard yesterday by Allegany County Commissioners at their regular meeting.

Paul Rice asked that a sewer be placed on the Zembower road between Mason and Bedford Roads while county road men are working on the job. His request was referred to John J. Smith, acting county engineer.

Ray Breightner requested that a pipe be placed on the Oldtown Road near Wolf's service station for drainage purposes. Brady Dolly asked that repairs be made to the bridge on Jamison Road. Repairs were also asked for the Crabtree Road near Oldtown. The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company asked for a permit to place a gas line across Tannery Street in Gilmore. These requests were referred to Smith.

CAMPAIGN PROGRESSES-- Several members of the Lions Club committee in charge of the current campaign to collect old eyeglass frames to raise funds for sight conservation work are shown above about to place frames in a collection barrel at Central YMCA. Approximately 300 eyeglass frames have already been donated for salvage purposes. Other barrel containers will be placed in banks, stores and public buildings in Cumberland the latter part of next week, with four to six barrels to be placed at various locations along Baltimore Street. The campaign slogan is "Give your old glasses so that others can see." The Lions sight conservation fund is now aiding 11 county youths at the Overlea School for the Blind near Baltimore, as well as providing deserving local children and adults with money for examinations and eyeglasses. In the picture (left to right) are Winfield H. Adam, Vincent Burns, Alvin E. Yaste, secretary-treasurer of the club; Chester Fisher, president; Lynn Lashley and Howard Cooper. Lashley is chairman of the campaign committee.

AFL Unions Win A. And P. Union Shop Election

Victories were chalked up yesterday afternoon by Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Food Clerks, both AFL, in union shop elections conducted at the A. and P. Super Market under National Labor Relations Board auspices.

The election, required under the Taft-Hartley Law before a union may negotiate any union security clause, was held under the direction of Charles J. Harris, representing the Fifth Regional office of the NLRB.

In the Meat Cutters vote, 14 were eligible to vote and 11 voted for while three voted against the proposal.

In the Retail Food Clerks poll, 48 of the 73 eligible employes voted yes and 15 no. Another 10 did not vote for reasons including sickness, vacations and other leaves, the union said.

Union officials said the unions have had a union shop and that the clause was included in recent negotiations, subject to the results of the election.

Similar elections will be held today for members of the Meat Cutters and Retail Clerks employed in American Stores of the Cumberland area.

That voting will be conducted by two teams which will tour the stores and allow workers to cast ballots. A contract recently negotiated with the firm included provisions for a union shop subject to union shop elections.

Workers of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company yesterday rejected an offer of the firm for a new contract, according to C. E. Stutzman, business manager of Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents the workers.

He said the contract was extended from May 1 to May 8 in order to allow time to negotiate. Talks are expected to resume about the middle of next week. A union official said it "looks like we are getting a little closer" to a settlement.

Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, will meet next Thursday, May 6, at 5 p. m. in the Allegany Trades Council Hall. Union officials said the important meeting, originally scheduled Monday, had to be postponed because of other meetings.

Bond Sale Drive Reaches $157,969

Total government bond sales through April 24 in the current security loan campaign in Allegany County amounted to $157,969, according to the chairman, Lynn C. Lashley, executive vice president, of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

That amount includes sales of Series E, F and G bonds.

Lashley said he has "every confidence" that the county goal of $1,700,000 will be met before the June 30 deadline.

Sponsored by the United States Government, the campaign, is designed to strengthen both individual and national security.

Every security bond dollar built up in the United States Treasury is used to pay off a dollar of the national debt that is potentially inflationary, Lashley pointed out.

County residents are urged to join in a payroll savings plan if they are employed in industrial plants, or to buy a bond a month at their bank.

No matter which plan is used, residents are asked to purchase at least one extra $100 savings bond during the campaign, Lashley said.

Renshaw Gets License To Operate Alibi

Richard T Renshaw and his wife, Mrs. Ethel Renshaw, will assume the active operation of "The Alibi" today, and will operate the business under the name of "Rennie's".

Mr. and Mrs. Renshaw, together with her mother, Mrs. Ethel Shuck, made application for the liquor license for the place and the license was granted this week. Granting the license, Renshaw said, removed the final obstacle in the sale agreement he had made with the former owners.

Impending Strike May Not Affect Western Maryland

A standby agreement included in a contract negotiated with the Western Maryland Railway early in February will allow road crews of that railroad to operate as usual in case federal mediators are unable to reach an agreement with three operating brotherhoods before May 11, Elmer E. Davis, president of the Railroad Industrial Union reported yesterday.

He said the contract effective February 13 included an agreement that any benefits resulting from the activities of the emergency board would be incorporated into the agreement for the Western Maryland road crews.

Details of the RIU legal right to continue work will be explained at a meeting of the RIU to be held in the Knights of Malta Hall here Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. It is very important that all road crews as well as workers seeking RIU representation be present, Davis said.

Liquor Board Issues 324 Beverage Permits

Allegany County Liquor Control Board yesterday completed hearings on liquor, wine and beer licenses and issued a total of 324 permits, including 127 licenses for retail liquor sales and clubs.

A few applicants for beer permits did not appear and their applications have been placed on file at the liquor board office in the Court House, and applicants may still appear if they desire.

Only one license application was deferred. This was the application of Samuel A. House, operator of the Mayflower Tavern, Front Street.

House had been fined $50 in Circuit Court on a charge of illegally selling beer on election day. The Board had decided to suspend his license for 10 days, according to board members, and in order to save the county the expense of a lengthy hearing, House agreed to wait until May 10 to apply for his permit and take the 10-day suspension automatically.

James Louis Gormer, who operates a beer tavern on North Mechanic Street, was also fined on a similar charge in Circuit Court. The secretary to the Board said he did not appear for his license, but the same penalty would probably be invoked if and when he does, in view of his conviction.

Excavation Uncovers Century-Old Stone Furnace On Farm Near Eglon

Workmen excavating for a house foundation on Dr. Harold Miller's farm near Eglon, W. Va., which is the former Jonas Bittinger farm, recently uncovered a small stone furnace thought to be over 100 years old.

The furnace, discovered at a depth of five feet, still contained ashes. The site is directly behind the location of the old plantation house.

At one time the farm was owned by a Hopkins family, who worked it by Negro slave labor. Several of the slaves and members of the Hopkins family are buried on the farm.

About three acres of the property were planted to apples at the time, and one of the farm products was applejack. A large millstone, which is still in existence, was used for crushing the apples.

It is thought the furnace may have been used for the still in making applejack, as well as for other purposes.

Because of their historical interest, a large stone from the furnace and the millstone will be used in construction of the new building.

The farm is Dr. Miller's birth birthplace. The new house will be occupied by his son - in - law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, who are operating the farm.

Boyd E. Payton Becomes TWUA Vice President

Former Celanese Union Prexy Wins Top Post

Boyd E. Payton, a former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, yesterday was elected vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

Payton, who has been serving as regional director of the Upper South with headquarters in Lynchburg, Va., since October 1943, polled 1,200 of a possible 1,533 votes at the closing session of the union's biennial convention in Atlantic City yesterday.

Payton, who made his home in Cresaptown until a few years ago, became a member of the Celanese local in 1936 and was elected president of the 8,500 member local in 1942.

He was elected Maryland State Director of the union in January 1943 and later that year was made regional director for the territory including Maryland, Virginia and eastern West Virginia, an area including some 60,000 textile workers.

He also served as a TWUA national representative for a short time before he became state director.

Payton is well known to virtually all members of the Celanese union and has returned to Cumberland for his vacations virtually each year since he was transferred to Lynchburg.

He is a former president of the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council, central CIO organization in this state.

While here, Payton was active in sports and will be remembered as goal keeper on the Celanese union soccer teams.

Several other members of the Celanese union now hold TWUA posts. James A. Dundon, a former president and state director of the union, is now representing the union in the Dallas, Texas, area and John E. Neal, a former officer of the union here, is a TWUA representative.

UCT Meets Tonight

The Weather

The weatherman is in hiding today, after predicting that Friday would be cold with some showers, when actually it was the best day of the week for Cumberland area residents, as the mercury hit a high of 66 degrees. Topcoats and heavier coats of all kind were in circulation Friday, but they were not needed until the sun went down. At 11 o'clock, the temperature reading was 57 degrees, coming up from a low of 40 during the night, when warm blankets kept the feet from getting cold. While the weatherman is in hiding, his substitute says that it will be fair and warmer today and predicts that Sunday will also be warmer, but with some rain. Monday and Tuesday is scheduled to be fair, but cooler, followed by rain.

World War II State Bonus Move Started

Harris Plans To Petition Court In Office Dispute

Issues Statement Explaining Problem

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, said last night he plans to petition the Court to construe the Acts of the 1941 Maryland General Assembly pertaining to the rental of offices for the use of the state's attorney and his staff. He also issued a statement in an effort to clarify the issue between his office and the County Commissioners.

"So the citizens of Allegany County may understand the problem of relocation of the state's attorney's offices, necessitated by the fire which last week practically destroyed the Union Street office building," Harris last night said, "it is only fair to issue the following statement:

"In addition to myself, there are employed at the state's attorney's office, an assistant state's attorney, a county investigator, and a secretary. In order to operate this office with any degree of efficiency, it is necessary that we have three offices, a reception room and a place for our secretary to work.

"Our equipment consists of a library, photographic and finger printing paraphernalia, identification records and many other files containing accumulated information essential to the efficacious operation of such an office. These require considerable space.

"Ours is a busy office and we receive many people in the course of a day. We must, therefore, have a fairly large reception room.

"Through the courtesy and kindness, which shall always live in my heart, when our office equipment was on the Union Street sidewalk after the fire, some of the members of B'er Chayim Congregation invited me to make temporary headquarters in the Temple and helped move sufficient office furniture into the Temple so we could carry on our duties.

"We have been interfering with the normal activities of the B'er Chayim Congregation since then, and we cannot impose upon this unselfish kindness indefinitely.

"Office space in Cumberland is scarce. In my haste to acquire other quarters, I asked the trustees of the Cumberland Public Library if they would or could give us the use of the first floor of the library annex. The trustees of the library and not the County Commissioners control this building. They decided they could not give us the entire first floor and stated the space they could provide would of, necessity, be of a very temporary nature.

"The building is the second or third oldest public building in Cumberland. With the old newspaper records, periodicals and books stored in the building, and the antiquated condition of the structure, it is most susceptible to fire.

Sought Other Quarters

"Because of the condition, location and inadequacy of space and the stated temporary tenancy in the annex, I deemed it necessary and advisable to seek other quarters.

"We have secured sufficient space on the second floor at 15 South Liberty Street for a rental of $80 per month. The building is centrally located and is convenient to the public.

"Regardless of whether the County Commissioners decide to rebuild the property at 111 Union Street, or establish other permanent quarters for the state's attorney's offices, it occurs to me it will be many months before this can or will come to pass.

"It is my personal opinion that a reasonable interpretation of the law leaves in the discretion of the state's attorney where he should establish his offices under these circumstances. The law with reference to this matter reads as follows:

> Sec. 626 B-Chapter 197 Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, 1941. The County Commissioners for Allegany County are hereby directed authorized and empowered to pay the offices expenses including rent, stationery, printing, telephone, stamps, necessary stenographic services and any other expenses that may be essential for the proper maintenance of the offices of the state's attorney and law assistant, and also any other expense necessary and incident to the maintenance and conduct of said offices as may be, in their opinion, reasonable and proper.

"Until the proper tribunal decides otherwise, the state's attorney's office will be established at 15 South Liberty Street beginning the early part of next week."

Harris appealed to the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday and again yesterday for permission to rent adequate space, saying it is an imposition to stay in his present quarters, because this interferes with classes and other religious activities of B'er Chayim Congregation.

At Tuesday's meeting of the County Board of Commissioners, Charles N. Wilkinson and the other commissioners said space had been obtained in the Cumberland Library annex across the street from the Court House. Harris objected, saying the available quarters there are too small and his offices should be downtown.

At yesterday's meeting, Harris again appeared and a heated argument resulted between him and Wilkinson. Harris said he had found adequate quarters in a building on South Liberty Street, formerly used by the States Roads Commission, and can rent the rooms for $80 per month.

Petitions Call For Referendum In 1950

A movement is under way in Allegany and Garrett counties to arouse interest in a state bonus for all veterans of World War II, it was learned by the News yesterday.

Petitions are being circulated among veterans in local industrial plants, clubs and organizations, and sponsors claim more than 3,000 signatures have already been obtained, with many more expected. Many of the signatures are those of non-veterans.

The petitions propose a state bonus for each veteran, up to $500, or payment of that amount to the eligible survivor if a veteran died in service, or since, from a service connected cause.

It is proposed that $10 per month be paid for each month of domestic service and $15 per month be paid for foreign service. It is also proposed that the bonus apply to veterans who were legal residents six months prior to entering service and only those with honorable discharges or those serving now in an honorable status. The bonus as proposed would apply to veterans of all branches and arms of service who served either voluntarily or by induction between September 16, 1940, and September 2, 1945, inclusive.

Started At Celanese

The first petition was circulated by Lloyd S. McNeil, Shawnee Avenue, a Celanese employe, who served with the Army. McNeil is a member of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, Frostburg, and active in the post drum corps. Members of that post and other veteran groups in the county are now interested in the idea, and each veteran organization in the district is to be asked to voice their endorsement. Other civic and patriotic organizations will also be enlisted, sponsors say.

Local veterans commenting on the idea here yesterday called attention to "campaign promises" of some county and state politicians regarding a state bonus for veterans.

The petition makes note of the fact that the General Assembly at the next session is urged to act upon the measure and then submit it to the voters by referendum at the 1950 general election.

Record Of Other States

Veterans sponsoring the idea here, refer to the following record issued by the American Legion:

Alaska has declared a bonus to World War II veterans payable in dollars equal to the months service multiplied by ten.

Arizona has granted a property tax exemption to veterans of $2,000 each if their property value is under $5,000.

California has granted a tax exemption up to $1,000 on property owned by veteran or his wife. Veterans are exempt from payment of poll tax and are entitled to peddlars licenses when wares are owned by vendor (excluding intoxicants). Money received from the federal government or the state is exempt from execution or attachment.

Connecticut has awarded veterans a state bonus of $10 per month in service up to $300. Tax exemption on $1,000 of property up to $3,000 valuation is also given veterans.

Illinois has granted a bonus of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 for each month of foreign service with a minimum of $50 and a flat sum of $900 to survivors of men who died in service.

Call For Referendum

Indiana has provided for submission of the question to the voters at the 1948 general election for the guidance of the 1949 session, with no rates fixed.

Iowa will submit a bonus proposal to the voters at the 1948 general election, up to $500, with $10 per month for domestic service and $12.50 per month for foreign duty.

Louisiana provides for an exemption of income tax for veterans of $1,500 single, $2,500 married from 1945 to 1950 inclusive.

Massachusetts authorized a bonus of $100 for those with less than six months service and $200 for all other veterans. This was later amended to $200 for less than six months and $300 for those serving more than that.

Michigan voters ratified a bonus proposal of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 per month foreign service up to $500. State assistance was provided up to $250 annually per veteran for educational purposes.

Minnesota 1947 legislature authorized a state-wide vote at the 1948 general election on the bonus question. If approved, the legislature is empowered to fix rates etc. The state paid a bonus bill to World War 1, Spanish American War, Philippine Insurrection and China relief Expedition veterans.

New Hampshire made a flat first payment of $10 per month for active service up to $100.

Provide Tax Exemptions

New Jersey has provided veterans with tax exemptions on real and personal property up to $500, poll tax exemption, exemption from inheritance tax, and made provision, without cost for peddlers licenses for veterans to sell within the county of their residence.

New Mexico provides that every honorably discharged soldier shall be exempt for $2,000 valuation on real and personal property. All veterans are also exempt from payment of road tax.

New York voters ratified a state bonus of $50 for less than 60 days service; $150 for more than 60 days within the United States and $250 for service outside the states. Real and personal property purchased with proceeds for pensions, bonus or insurance owned by veterans is exempt up to $5,000 from all tax except school tax.

North Dakota 1947 legislature submitted to the voters for the 1948 general election a proposal to issue $27,000,000 in bonds to pay a bonus. If approved the legislature will fix rates.

Ohio voters ratified a bonus up to $400 payable at the basis of $10
